Regional Australians disappointed by Vodafone ad claiming ‘nothing’s out here’

By Sarah Buchecker, ABC Radio

VODAFONE’S LATEST ad campaign has created a stir among regional and rural Australians who believe its messaging dismisses and disrespects rural and remote communities.

Last week, Vodafone launched an advertising campaign urging customers to stop paying for what they did not need.

The video begins with American actress and comedian Ali Wong standing in the outback alongside an emu, stating, “I don’t know what the hell this is, but I do know that it can’t use a phone.”

She continues: “Another big telco spends millions to build towers out here and charges customers for it. Well, Vodafone doesn’t, cause clearly nothing’s out here, except massive chickens.”

Vodafone finishes the ad by stating it has “doubled its network to cover where 98 whatever per cent of you actually live”.

Responses to the campaign online have labelled it “arrogant” and “clueless”, taking offence at the claim that there is “nothing” in rural Australia.

Rural Australia not a ‘punchline’

Shannon Crocker, a Queensland farmer near Muckadilla, said she had complained to advertising regulator Ad Standards, calling for the commercial to be taken down.

“It makes me feel as someone who lives in the 2 per cent ... that we are considered a worthless minority,” Ms Crocker said.

“It’s telling everybody that there’s absolutely nothing past urban areas, which we all know is not true, considering that’s where all of the country’s food comes from.”

The Rural, Regional and Remote Communication Coalition (RRRCC) said the campaign missed the mark, describing it as metro-centric and dismissive of regional people, industries and communities.

RRRCC, which consists of 21 organisations advocating for better telecommunications outcomes, said there was growing frustration around telecommunications providers presenting mobile coverage as near universal, when many still struggled with poor coverage.

Country Women’s Association of NSW chief executive and RRRCC secretariat Danica Leys said she understood the company was attempting to be humorous, but the remark was “just offensive”.

She said families, workers, businesses and entire communities in rural and remote Australia relied on connectivity every day.

“To imply these areas do not matter, or are somehow not worth investing in, is disrespectful and deeply out of touch,” she said. For people in the city, poor connectivity can be frustrating.

“For people in the bush, poor connectivity can affect safety, education, health care, business operations and emergency response.”

RRRCC independent chair Wendy Hick labelled the advertisement “exclusionary”.

“This is not about whether companies compete hard on price or market share. It is about whether rural and remote Australians are treated with basic respect,” she said.

“Celebrating service for the 98 per cent while ridiculing the remaining Australians is not clever.”

National Rural Health Alliance chief executive Susi Tegen said rural and remote Australia was not a punchline.

“Many rural and remote Australians still struggle to reliably access emergency services like Triple Zero,” she said.

“What they need from telecommunications companies is not mockery.

“They need investment, reliability and respect.”

Wellington man sentenced for murder

From ABC Western Plains
A WELLINGTON man will spend at least 20 years behind bars for the shot-gun murder of a Sydney man on a property near Mudgee.

Eric James Forrest was sentenced on March 27 to 30 years in prison by the NSW Supreme Court for the murder of 53-year-old David Collisson in Menah near Mudgee in September 2023.

Justice Dina Yehia found Forrest shot Mr Collisson once, reloaded, then pursued and shot him again as he fled through darkness pleading for his life.

The court also found Forrest later burned the body in a hollow tree stump.

The judge acknowledged Forrest’s deeply troubled background including childhood abuse and years in the care system, but found he had shown no remorse.

Taking into account time already served, Forrest will be eligible for parole in May 2044.

the fuel crisis in no way marred their enthusiasm for this annual Easter treat. Like previous years hundreds of youngsters flocked the Easter Egg

Free nasal spray influenza vaccine for kids under five

THE STATE Government is rolling out free nasal spray flu vaccines for two to four-year-olds to increase influenza vaccine uptake in young children following the worst flu season on record.

Under the NSW Nasal Spray Influenza Vaccination Program, the free nasal spray flu vaccine will be available for children aged two, three and four years across NSW through GPs, Aboriginal Medical Services and community pharmacies.

The vaccine is sprayed into the nose with one spray into each nostril. It is gentle, painless, and needle-free.

About a quarter of children (24.4 per cent) under five years were vaccinated in NSW in 2025, which is below the 40pc target set in the NSW Immunisation Strategy 2024–2028.

Last year’s extended flu season resulted in more than 24,500 cases of influenza (flu) in children under five in NSW.

In 2025, there were more than 4600 presentations in children under five for influenza-like-illness to emergency departments in NSW and more than 960 admissions in children under five to hospitals.

Compared to 2024, this is a more than 40pc increase in both presentations and admissions.

Across all age groups in 2025, NSW recorded its highest number of influenza cases on record, with 186,768 notifications.

This is a 15.8pc jump (25,548 more) than in 2024 and a 79pc jump (82,439 more) compared with 2023. The government is urging the wider community to also book in now for their annual flu vaccination, both to keep themselves and their families healthy, and to help ease pressures on busy emergency departments over the winter period.

The flu vaccine is recommended yearly for everyone six months and over and offers the best protection against serious illness.

The community is encouraged to get vaccinated early before cases begin rising again.

The 2026 flu vaccine injection is available for free under the National Immunisation Program for:

- * children aged six months to under five years
- * pregnant women
- * Aboriginal people aged six months and over
- * anyone aged 65 and over
- * people with serious health conditions.

People can book their flu vaccine at their GP, community pharmacy, or Aboriginal Medical Service.

The community is reminded there are a few simple steps they can take to protect themselves and others from respiratory illness, including:

- * staying up to date with their vaccinations
- * staying home if they’re sick and wearing a mask if they need to go out
- * avoiding crowded spaces and getting together in well-ventilated spaces
- * consider doing a rapid antigen test before visiting people at higher risk of severe illness
- * making a plan with their doctor if they’re at higher risk of severe illness
- * practicing good general hygiene, like regular handwashing.

If an illness is not serious or life-threatening, such as a mild case of influenza, people are encouraged to call Healthdirect on 1800 022 222, for advice 24-hours a day.

A nurse will answer your call, ask some questions and connect you with the right care.

My fight to protect our Prime Ag Land is back!

IN PARLIAMENT recently, I presented my Protecting Australia’s Prime Agricultural Land Bill 2026, which I first brought before the House of Representatives last year.

This landmark legislation is aimed at securing the future of our most valuable farming land and, with it, our national food security.

Despite agriculture being central to Australia’s prosperity, we have never enacted laws to properly safeguard the land that sustains it.

The urgency is clear. Agricultural production has grown significantly in recent decades, with exports making up a substantial share of our economy and supporting regional communities.

As global populations rise, the importance of food and water security continues to increase, making the protection of prime agricultural land a national priority.

My Bill establishes a simple principle: prime agricultural land must be preserved for agriculture.

It prohibits non-agricultural use, ensures new owners maintain that purpose, prevents the expansion of existing non-agricultural activities, and requires land to return to farming if other uses cease.

These measures are designed to stop the gradual loss of critical farmland.

Governments at all levels have failed to act. Poor planning decisions and a lack of strong legislation have allowed valuable farmland to be steadily eroded.

This Bill is a necessary step to correct that neglect.

Food security is national security. A country that cannot feed itself is vulnerable. Australia’s farmers are among the best in the world, but the land they depend on is finite.

We cannot continue to build over it. My Bill calls on all sides of Parliament to protect agriculture and secure Australia’s future.

Disappointingly, when the Bill was put to a vote, none of the major parties supported it!

It was terrific to be in Wellington recently with my 1962 XK Falcon!

Grant opportunities

Supporting Farmers facing hardship

The Federal Government has introduced a new Drought Hardship Loan designed to help with short-term operating costs as farmers face longer-term droughts.

The loan will enable farmers who have been affected by drought for at least 24 months and expect to be impacted for another season, to borrow up to $250,000.

The loan duration will be five years, with interest incurred, but repayments fully deferred for the first two years.

To extend relief to existing RIC loan customers, interest rates on existing RIC loans will be held at 5.18% for another six months from 1st February, 2026.

The new Drought Hardship Loan is delivered through the Regional Investment Corporation and you can register your interest at <https://www.ric.gov.au/new-loans>

with Mathew Dickerson, Axxis Comworld

MY WIFE and I were on holidays recently on one of those impossibly beautiful islands in the Maldives - the kind of place where the water looks photoshopped and breakfast comes with a side of existential reflection about your life choices.

It’s also, as it turns out, a fashion runway. For the incredibly wealthy guests there, it seemed like every meal was a fashion show.

Flowing dresses, linen shirts, designer sunglasses large enough to pick up satellite signals. I’ll admit, I didn’t clock all the details, but my wife - who has a far sharper eye than I do - noticed one particular guest.

Each morning at breakfast, without fail, this woman appeared with a different handbag, perfectly matched to her outfit.

Now, I can hardly be bothered changing out of my pyjama shirt to make it to breakfast when I am on holidays, so the idea of coordinating an entire rotation of luxury handbags felt... ambitious.

But it did get me thinking: what if you didn’t need a suitcase full of handbags at all? What if one bag could simply become all of them?

Enter the Infinity smart handbag - a concept that feels like it has stepped straight out of science fiction and wandered casually into a resort buffet.

At first glance, it looks like a classic, high-end leather handbag. But built into its surface is a flexible OLED display seamlessly embedded beneath the leather exterior.

With a tap on a mobile app, the bag can change colour, texture, or pattern in seconds.

One moment it’s understated black leather. The next, it’s a snakeskin pattern.

Or a bold piece of digital art.

Maybe it matches the pattern on your dress or even a photograph you took that morning of the ocean stretching out beyond your overwater villa.

In simple terms, it’s a screen disguised as fashion.

Now, before you roll your eyes and declare this yet another example of putting a screen where no screen needs to be, it’s worth pausing for a moment.

Because while this handbag might seem indulgent - and at prices that can stretch into the thousands, it absolutely is - it also hints at something much bigger.

For decades, fashion has been physical.

If you wanted variety, you bought more. More shirts, more shoes, more bags.

Entire industries have been built on the idea that identity is expressed through accumulation. But what if that begins to change?

This new wave of “digital surfaces” - where physical objects can shift appearance through software - introduces the idea that one item could play many roles.

Instead of owning ten handbags, you own one that adapts. Instead of chasing trends, you download them.

There’s also a sustainability angle lurking beneath the surface.

The creators of this bag argue that if a single high-quality item can evolve over time, it may reduce the need for constant consumption.

Rather than discarding last season’s look, you update it.

When it comes to our clothes and accessories, the question is often form or function. The Infinity handbag might be the answer to that eternal question.

It can perform a practical function and change its form as required.

Back in the Maldives, I couldn’t help but think that the woman at breakfast - with her perfectly matched handbags - might one day travel lighter. Not because she cares less about style, but because style itself has changed.

When your accessories can update as easily as your phone, the question is no longer “what should I wear?”

It’s “what should I display?”

And that’s a very different kind of fashion statement.

Phyllis Dutton celebrates 100 years

PHYLLIS 100

She was born in Dunedoo in 1926,
A time of ice boxes, phonographs and silent flicks,
Her father was Archie, Margaret her mother,
In Mendooran, along came Roy, her brother.

The Great Depression young Phyllis lived through,
Food and jobs were scarce, many ate rabbit stew,
Fast forward to the forties, the world in war,
Soldiers leaving and some returning she saw.

In 1945, she met a man called Keven,
That Kevin with an 'en', he's now in heaven,
They danced in synch well into the night,
The swing waltz, quickstep, holding tight.

In 1948, Phyllis and Keven were wed,
At hot Gilgandra their vows were said,
They moved to 'Bunyarrah' near Coolabah,
The distance to towns and cities so far.

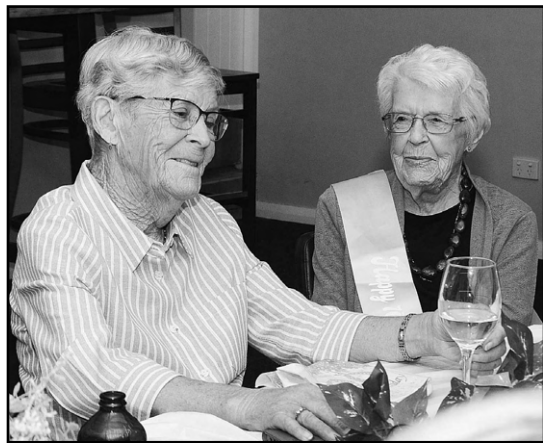

At 'Bunyarrah' Jennifer and Ann were born,
They moved to Wellington, no sheep to be shorn,
Now, to four Phyllis is the loving grandmother
And to nine she is loving great grandmother.

Nimble with the thimble, dexterous with the thread,
She made many garments – white, black and red,
Her eye for perfection made her in great demand
Like a master pianist playing on a grand.

Memories flood back on this day of celebrations,
So, raise your glasses all her friends and relations,
It is time to applaud a life so well led,
Congratulations Phyllis, you have reached one hundred.

Around the electorate with our State Member Dugald Saunders

Dubbo electorate on show
IT WAS great to spend a few days at the Sydney Royal Easter Show last week. From saying g’day to the students from Macquarie Anglican Grammar School and St John’s College Dubbo to catching up with participants of the 2025 Young Women Competition, there was plenty to see and do, and dozens of exhibitors and competitors from the Dubbo electorate to throw my support behind. I always try to catch the ALPA Young Auctioneers Competition, and this year was no different. Dubbo’s Sam Thomas went head-to-head with nine other talented auctioneers in the NSW State Finals on Thursday and through the theatrics and excitement of it all was the standout performer to take out the win. In a massive moment, Western District was declared the overall winner in the District Exhibits Competition for the first time since 1989 and a special shout out also goes to Narromine’s Tilly Cronin, who was sashed Champion in her first time competing in the NSW Beef Cattle Young Judges Competition State Final. Well done to everyone from the Dubbo electorate who has put in the work to show off the talents and quality of Western NSW and good luck to everyone participating in exhibits and competitions in the last few days of the Sydney Royal!

Have your say: Small Business Advisory
Small businesses, peak bodies, business chambers and local councils are invited to share their views on what supports the NSW Government’s new small business advisory service should provide. This new service replaces the highly successful Business Connect program which the Minns Labor Government callously axed on the eve NSW Small Business Month last year. Since 2017, Business Connect advisors helped more than 60,000 small businesses across the state. It was independently proven the program led to fewer businesses failing, and it actually brought more money back into the NSW economy than it cost to operate. The Minns Labor Government pulled the funding for Business Connect without having a program ready to replace it. This new advisory service will offer much of the same services as Business Connect, which begs the question: why is this Labor Government wasting time and money to seek feedback for a service which not only already existed, but was also already proven to work? Consultation closes at 11.59pm, Sunday, April 19. To have your say, visit: <https://www.haveyoursay.nsw.gov.au/New-small-business-advisory-service>

Sun Safety progress
A NSW Government report has revealed more people are protecting their skin from the sun’s harmful UV rays, despite an estimated 700,000 people still experiencing sun burn in the time before they were surveyed. The Cancer Institute NSW’s most recent Sun Protection Behaviours Report showed an increase in the reported use of several sun protection behaviours, however, 10 per cent of adults reported being sunburnt at least once in the four-week period leading up to the survey. While this represents a significant decrease of almost 15pc from the previous report, the message about sun safety remains: protect your skin from the sun when the UV index is at three or above. The most effective defence against over-exposure to UV radiation is to SLIP on protective clothing; SLOP on SPF50+ sunscreen 20 minutes before you go out and reapply every two hours; SLAP on a wide brimmed hat that covers your face, ears and neck; SEEK shade throughout the day; and SLIDE on sunglasses that meet Australian Standards.

ANOTHER GREAT 'MAN FROM IRONBARK FESTIVAL' IN STUART TOWN!

It was a big day in Stuart Town last weekend for the Man from Ironbark Festival!
It's one of the big Easter weekend events for our region featuring a grand parade, market stalls and a mega Easter egg hunt for the kids!
I enjoyed taking the red rocket in the parade just behind the competitors in the decorated ride-on lawn mower comp.
I finished the afternoon with one of Jamie's famous laksas at the pub!
Congratulations and thank you to Marcus Hanney and the team from Stuart Town Advancement Association for bringing joy and a smile to the faces of so many people in such a difficult time.

PM PUSHED AGAIN ON A BUSINESS SUPPORT PACKAGE!

Last week in Question Time I continued the fight for a government support package for our local businesses being smashed up by the closure of the Great Western Highway.

When asked previously, the Prime Minister said that "the truth is that all governments, state and federal should have done something about this".

Last week he said that our businesses were deserving of support.

They sure are!

It can't just be words. We've had decades of that.

We now need state and federal government action and leadership because our businesses can't hang on for much longer.

They can open a new $2 billion expressway in Sydney but apparently struggle to help the businesses that the neglect of successive governments is destroying.

The contrast between what's going on either side of the sandstone curtain could not be more stark.

One gets a new world-class expressway while the other gets a patch-up of a bridge built by convicts in 1832.

You be the judge of how it went down at Parliament House last week via the QR code ▶

GETTING OUR FAIR SHARE ON GAS EXPORTS

I'm fighting for a 25% tax on gas exports. It's fair, it's reasonable and it puts Australians first - not big corporations.

The Australian people are facing skyrocketing fuel and energy prices, yet our country isn't getting a fair return for our own national resources.

The great "Gas Giveaway" has already cost us a potential $68+ BILLION.

Imagine what a fraction of that could do for:

- Fixing the Great Western Highway
- Our local hospitals
- Our schools
- Cost of living relief

I HOPE everyone enjoyed their Easter. I spent the long weekend travelling through the Victorian Western Districts. After a very dry 18 months, they have had welcome rain and the smell of burning stubbles wafted through the car. Farmers I spoke too are looking forward to starting sowing in the next few weeks with subsoil moisture.

Whilst diesel and fertiliser were ever present concerns in the conversation, there was still good optimism for the season ahead especially with a recent rally in lentil and canola prices. Many farmers in Victoria are still holding a portion of last year’s harvest as on farm stocks.

Many growers are receiving mixed messages about sticking to their usual rotation versus adjusting for potentially limited nitrogen availability. This may result in barley and canola replacing some wheat hectares.

However, with improved varieties and good moisture, this may not be necessary. With global uncertainty continuing hopefully wool markets rally after Easter as synthetic textile production becomes more expensive with the rising cost of crude oil.

Wool markets have had successive weeks of losses, but Elders reported on the April 3 sale strong gains were made across all lots and buyers were fighting for market share.

Sheep stocking rates are also on the rise again in the Western Districts as rain and stronger price demand bring confidence back.

20,179 lambs were traded at Central Victoria Livestock Exchange (CVLX) Ballarat, with quality reported as exceptional. Store lambs priced $106-$224, while feed lambs were $221-$294. Medium trade lambs $259-$288 and heavy trade $276-$328. Heavy lambs 26-30kg made $306-$357 and the heaviest over 30kg made an impressive $345-$487. Hoggets ranged from $140-$368.

Mortlake cattle market report on March 30, mentioned 40 per cent sales through the yard are beef cows with the balance being dairy breeds. Grown heifers ranged from 400-470c/kg and grown steers reached a top of 492c/kg.

Clearance sale continues, phone for a bargain.

NSW Farmers secures certainty for AgSkilled

NSW FARMERS has secured a major victory for regional skills and workforce development, with the NSW Government confirming a three-year, $15 million funding commitment for the AgSkilled program.

NSW Farmers Young Farmer Council chair Jess Ryan welcomed the announcement adding it was great to see the NSW Government listening to farmers on this initiative.

“This is a win for NSW Farmers and for every young person and worker looking to build practical skills in agriculture,” Ms Ryan said.

“For three years we’ve been stuck in stop-start annual funding that makes it hard for training providers to innovate, develop new content, or even keep courses running when farmers actually have time to attend, especially through winter.”

AgSkilled is an existing industry-led program that enables access to local training opportunities for agricultural workers to participate in micro-courses that build new skills.

Opportunities to get job-ready skills and credentials locally can be few and far between and longer-term certainty for this program has been essential to helping attract, retain and develop the workforce as the face of agriculture continued to change.

“Farm businesses are adopting new technology and new ways of working. We need a training system that keeps up, so people can pick up micro-skills quickly and keep productivity moving in the right direction,” Ms Ryan said.

“Funding certainty for successful initiatives like AgSkilled are critical if we want to achieve the objectives of the NSW Government’s new Primary Industries Workforce Strategy.”

NSW Farmers said the move also recognised a key weakness the organisation had raised with the previous funding model: Course schedules shutting down and restarting around the winter period, precisely when many producers could take time off-farm to upskill.

The three-year commitment kept funding at the current level, but gave providers the certainty to plan ahead, expand delivery and develop new courses, including stronger opportunities for the livestock sector in addition to the plant industries.

Strong statement made heading into the Easter recess

THE WOOL market rebounded strongly last week, dispelling any lack of confidence associated with the Middle East conflict. From the opening lot, buyer activity was heightened compared to the previous sales series, with Merino fleece rising between 3 and 46 cents in Sydney, 17 to 60 cents in Melbourne and 60 to 88 cents in Fremantle. Even with those gains, in US dollar terms the market still fell 7 cents. On Wednesday exporters broke the shackles, with the growing awareness of available stocks diminishing, resulting in lifts of 31 to 99 cents for fleece types, and currency having no impact on rises. Skirtings followed fleece wools across all types, with cross-breeds and cardings showing positive movements both days. Buyers we spoke with were quietly confident that trading conditions were going to be favourable, but thought little change would occur in this offering. The resulting improvement leads us to think that top makers need to secure wool and are now in the position to trade profitably with spinners, with the Chinese domestic market being quite bullish. Quantities that are predicted from now to the end of this financial year are starting to reflect the forecast of 245 million kilos for the 12 months, with AWTa data showing tested wool this season is 208.5 million kilos, back 9.5% compared with the same period last season. We are told that the five biggest mills in China have the capacity to use all the Australian wool clip this year, clearly highlighting the pressure all early-stage processors are now finding. The elephant in the room is - will growers respond to these improving sheep returns and increase numbers into the future, once they get through the current dry period. History tells us the wool market still has a little bit more upward movement, but will the global uncertainty allow for that to occur? The Easter recess has sales resuming on Tuesday, April 14, with a predicted 40,635 bales with Mac-wool and Carmichael wool selling on the opening day.

Bourke Picnics - Sunday 5th.

THE WINNER of TAB races at Gilgandra, Dubbo and Coonamble since early winter last year, Always Fiorente was taken to Bourke on Easter Sunday by Dubbo trainer Clint Lundholm to contest the feature event at the annual Picnic meeting.

A noted front runner, Always Fiorente had Narromine jockey Ricky Blewitt in the saddle for the 1600 metres Splash Cola-Rice’s Back O’ Bourke Cordials-Harry Hart Memorial Picnic Cup.

Taken straight to the front, Always Fiorente ($4.20) led throughout to win by almost two lengths from The Bentley (Leandro Ribeiro, $2.50 favourite) and Incantata (Paul Zerafa, $6.)

Narromine trainer Kylie Kennedy won the 1000m Class B Handicap with Calmundi (Eloise Drews, $4.40) however the rest of the meeting was dominated by Dubbo trainer Connie Greig with four winners, You Count (Amber Collins, $1.80 fav), Individualist (Amber Collins, $2.80 fav), Notleanormean (Leandro Ribeiro, $4.40) and Te Pani (Leandro Ribeiro, $2.60 eql fav).

In the 800m Bourke Bowling Club Open Trophy Handicap the Wayne Prisk, Cobar trained equal favourite Mr Pointer (Tamsin Gough) was attempting to win at Bourke Picnics for the fourth successive year but after leading to the final 1000m was overhauled and beaten a half-length by Te Pani.

Amber Collins from Dubbo only commenced race riding in February and has already kicked home five winners including the double at Bourke on You Count and Individualist with both leading most of the way.

Bourke Picnics have now become the biggest event in town and there was a tremendous crowd trackside for the 2026 meeting.

Lightning Ridge Saturday 4th.

MENDOORAN TRAINER Jane Clement travelled to Lightning Ridge with a big team of horses and went home with a truckload of prize-money.

Clement won four races overall with the first three placegetters in two of those races, while she also won the Cup with Macleay ridden by apprentice Gabrielle Johnston.

Winner of the $75,000 Coonabarabran Showcase Cup in 2024, Macleay tackled a handy field in the 1200m Opal Miners Hall Of Fame Lightning Ridge Cup in which Toulon Factor and Gerety set the pace.

Well ridden by Gabrielle Johnston, Macleay ($5) burst between runners over the closing stages to claim the Cup ahead of stablemates Extreme Merger (Georgina McDonnell, $3 fav) and Toulon Factor (Billy Cray, $5.50).

Earlier, Jane Clement also landed the trifecta in the 1000m Gingie Gallop-Benchmark 58 Handicap when Adviser (Jacob Stiff, $6) led most of the way to beat Sidenay (Gabrielle Johnston, $3.40) and Brave Enough (Billy Cray, $7).

The very talented apprentice Jacob Stiff, for the first time rode four winners at a meeting, Adviser ($6), Johnny Boz ($2 fav), St Roy ($3 fav) all for Jane Clement and Selinya ($2 fav) for Dubbo trainer Dat Lunn.

After wins at Gilgandra and Warren, St Roy completed the hat-trick when coming from mid-field to beat the leader Hit Song (Angel Brennan, $5) and Acotango (Gabrielle Johnston, $9) in the 1200m Central West Machinery BM 45 Handicap.

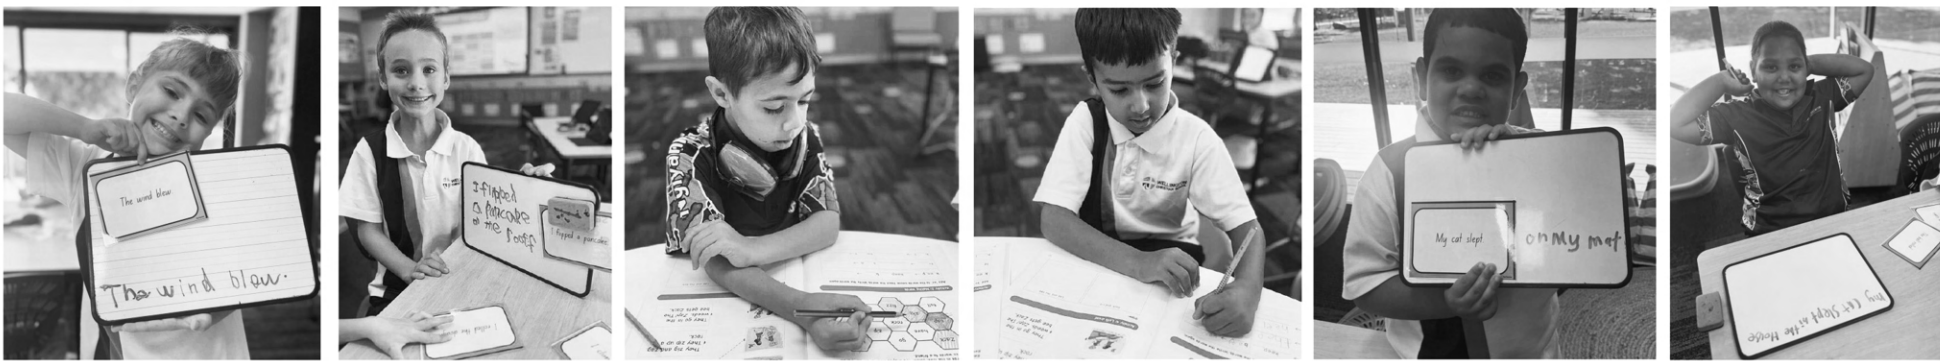

Before a big crowd at Lightning Ridge, Narrabri trainer Nicole Shields and Dubbo apprentice Zoe Hunt combined to win the opening event with Airfield ($1.70 fav) which led from the 300 metres to take out the 900m Melonas/Brown Maiden Plate from Gunna Reign (Billy Cray, $5) and Krasaki (Leanne Boyd, $4).

Kindy Science. In our Science unit this term, we are looking at God's amazing creation of living things. We have learnt that plants need water, light, air and care to survive, grow and change. This week we took our lesson outside for a closer look at the plants in our school playground. There we used magnifying glasses to examine things closely. We even found a ladybug and an unknown bug! Thank you God for the amazing world you created!

Stage 1 Literacy. Students dive into InitialLit 1 rotations, balancing independent digital learning on Reading Eggs with teacher-led sessions. From analyzing texts in "More to Explore" to mastering the art of the "super sentence," these young learners are sharpening their punctuation and storytelling skills.

Healing Hands. Stage 3 students explored "Power Over Sickness" (John 5:1-18) during a recent devotion, reflecting on Jesus' compassion. In a "Healing Hands" activity, the class wrote prayers for the sick on paper cutouts, placing them on a central display as a collective gesture of faith and care for those in need.

Stage 3 Maths. Our students explored converting length units through hands-on activities and place-value thinking. Using four dice to build random numbers, they converted between kilometres and metres - then back again! They discovered how and why the decimal point shifts when multiplying and dividing by 10, 100, and 1000. Great teamwork, deep thinking, and lots of "aha!" moments along the way!

PI DAY

Pi Day at WPS our students were involved in enough Pi activities to fill a bakery oven. Preschool have been exploring circles all week. Activities have included a tricky circle hunt and decorating circle biscuits as well as sorting and printing activities. Preschoolers have also read books about circles, watched videos about circles, danced in circles and drawn circles. K-6 students enjoyed lots of activities including artwork with circles, circle puzzles, scavenger hunts, a mathematical word search, learning about the importance of Pi (3.14159), creating a pie graph about favourite pies and a 6M Escape Room. At Kitchen Garden this week, students even cooked special yummy spaghetti bolognese pies. Thank you to our wonderful BNL Committee for putting on so many great Pi activities!

Mudgee Sunday 5th

Dr Bob Slacksmith and Mrs Jean Slacksmith who have owned and bred horses in the Dubbo area for many years, often name their gallopers after small towns and localities in the region and Cumnock was their winner on Easter Sunday at the Mudgee TAB meeting which attracted a bumper crowd.

Bred by the Slacksmiths, Cumnock is from their race winning mare Coasters, a prolific producer of winners since becoming a brood mare at their studio.

Trained by Brett Thompson from Gulgong and Wellington, Cumnock made it five wins from 28 starts when taking out the 1100m Terry Hall Tree Services Benchmark 66 Handicap.

A narrow leader turning for home, Cumnock (Jake Pracey-Holmes, $20) was joined by Singing Star (Liberty Smyth, $3.60 fav) which had gained a rails run halfway down the straight but fought back to win by a nose with Miss Capricorn (Mikayla Weir, $13) a close third.

Girrawheen which started at big odds and ridden by Braith Nock, came from well back to win the 2024 Silver Goblet at Dubbo from Singing Star, Arambys and Poisen Point, was back to form when winning at Mudgee.

From the Peter Bloomfield stable at Scone, Girrawheen (Anna Roper, $3.20 fav) led most of the way to beat The Contractor (Mathew Cahill, $4.40) and Transactions (Claire Ramsbotham, $3.40) in the 1200m McGrath Real Estate Class 2 Handicap.

Rob Potter, the Canberra based trainer of Transactions, had earlier won the 1400m Oriental Hotel Country Boosted Benchmark 66 Handicap with Midnight Luna.

Steaming home from back in the field, Midnight Luna (Claire Ramsbotham, $3.30 fav) impressed when beating Whiteley (Chad Lever, $4.60) and Flamboyant Lad (Ashley Morgan, $8.50).
