Council's population statistics

selling Wellington short

DEEPLY FLAWED misleading figures representing Wellington's population by 1000 people, discovered in a recent Dubbo Regional Council draft report questions whether the town and district have been short-changed over the past five years.

Australian Bureau of Statistics (ABS) from the 2021 census have been used in the "Dubbo and Wellington Pedestrian Access and Mobility Plan and Bike Plan" (PAMP), and are detailed on page 29.

While the mayor on Wellington's Binjang community radio said the population figures had been rectified, the question of just what damage have they caused this past five years must be asked.

Binjang radio manager Tony Graham said the table on page 29 of the report showed the population at 4101 claimed to be sourced from the ABS 2021 census.

"This is a figure reflecting a tight boundary around Wellington suburbia that the ABS has listed on its website as 4096, leaving out Montefiores (630) and low-density blocks on the Wellington periphery, including Apsley (116) with Nanima Village down to the Wellington Caves, Mt Arthur including the Gould League Estate and the Cadonia Estate (33)," he said.

"That brings the Wellington population to almost 5000 at 4984.

"Council has since revised the figure upwards in the report to less, at 4835. These statistics do not include the gaol population or the large contingent of itinerant workers living in the area."

Mr Graham said that on the other hand, the 2021 ABS statistics for Dubbo included boundaries with a large peripheral area down to the zoo, east to Firgrove Estate and south east to Bencubbin Road state a population of 40,578, somewhat less than what is tabled in the PAMP report at 43,535.

"Unbelievably, this is the second time Council has been caught out using these same flawed statistics in their committee submissions and the potential consequences are quite serious as per-capita metrics come into play," he said.

"Importantly, these statistics are applied to Management decisions and the disbursement of revenue.

"They are central to the level of service provision, deployment of infrastructure and infrastructure maintenance decisions, and directly affecting, to various degrees, the level of expenditure in council budgets and the application of grants from its main funding body, the NSW State Government.

"It raises the question as to the number of affected planning documents and budgets and to what extent they've been skewed by inaccurate figures, plus how long this has been going on for."

relating to the previous 2016 ABS census indicate this has been going on even from that time.

"A third document, the "Dubbo Region Key Economic Indicators - June 2024" located on council's website, propagates the same incorrect population statistics that have been turning up in council's planning documents," Mr Graham said.

"This is a central document that appears when searching about the Dubbo Region.

"It appears the Key Economic Indicators metrics are also misleading in the isolated data section as they fail to differentiate between the urban centralised economy of Dubbo and the decentralised economy of Wellington, statistically different because the Wellington economy is not mainly confined to urban Wellington whereas Dubbo is.

"Wellington should be represented with all of its decentralised economic zone that includes agricultural production, corrective services and the huge investment in the renewable energy zone.

"Back then the ABS defined Wellington as "The Wellington Statistical Area", with a population of 8769, an area equivalent to the old Wellington Local Government Area."

Mr Graham said business investors approaching Council about opportunities in the Regional Area relying on the Key Economic Indicators for the Wellington area would be misinformed by it.

"Wellington would be better represented as 'The Wellington Statistical Area'," he said.

"These failures raise questions about the lack of a local DRC management presence in the Greater Wellington Area and the knowledge vacuum that goes with it.

"It also points to an imperative to reorganise its management structure to reflect the changes brought about by the amalgamation of Dubbo City Council and Wellington Shire Council.

"The 'Dubbo Region Key Economic Indicators' can only be seen as a complete failure for the economy of Greater Wellington.

"The people need answers," Mr Graham said.

Contents in this article and supporting ABS statistical documents have been presented to all councilors of the Dubbo Regional Council prior to the Ordinary Council Meeting of Dubbo Regional Council held on Tuesday, February 22.

Response by Dubbo Regional Council

Dubbo Regional Council uses data available through the Australian Bureau of Statistics (ABS) and REPLAN. In this instance, data was used from the ABS Suburbs and localities data, which only includes the Wellington township and does not include the surrounding areas. This has now been corrected to include localities around Wellington as well in the statistical data referenced.

$15.3 million for Regional Indoor Sports Hub

In a HUGE win for the sporting groups of our regions, and particularly kids rep sports, it was announced on Monday that the NSW Government is putting $15 million funding back into the Dubbo Regional Indoor Sports Hub.

This will help expand opportunities for kids in our region to have access to better indoor sports facilities. Initially this will be three multi-courts with a refurbishment of the existing building, and an extension for a larger gymnasium and weights room. I’m calling this Stage 1. The project will take 18-24 months to complete. During that time, I will partner with the PCYC to source and secure additional funding to complete Stage 2 which will be the construction of four new courts behind the existing building, and a carpark upgrade. Once we get 6-7 courts built, local basketball and netball rep teams will be able to host carnivals, helping to overcome the excessive travel required to participate in rep sports for western area kids. We didn’t get all the money returned to the project, but I’m pretty confident that the Premier, Chris Minns, heard the wider community and ensured that the right thing was done. ***

UPDATE: Complete the closure plan for the Wellington Waste Transfer Station

Following preparation of a draft closure plan, further consultation has been required to be undertaken with State Government Agencies in respect of actions required to ensure remediation activities do not impact an adjacent water course. An exemption is currently being sought from the NSW State Government Department of Environment, Climate Change and Water in respect of proposed remediation works.

It is understood that Council will receive notification of the outcome of this item by April 2026. Following further notification an amended project plan will be prepared. ***

Rugby world will miss ‘Marto’

WELLINGTON RUGBY Redbacks are among many mourning the passing of the club’s Life Member, Graham “Marto” Martin who died on Monday among family at Maranatha House. Condolences have flowed and facebook has recorded many comments. Greg (Snow) Brien wrote on facebook 'Marto , a great man, a family man, a rugby man, a friend to many, saw him coach a Redbacks colts side back in the 90s, to see those young fellas excel under the guidance of Marto brought a smile to a lot of rugby people, to be fair that side had a lot of talent, so Marto was the icing on the cake hard when he had to be and heaps of laughs and fun when things were good. It speaks volumes of the man he was coaching junior players, driving a school bus when he started to slow down after the farm, he had a way about him that drew kids to him, they respected his hard edge when needed, and the next breath he would have a big smile. A great rugby man, saw him on the sidelines after many a match, now Marto is watching the game they play in heaven! Ben O’Brien said he played in that colts side under Marto and the most memorable year in my short rugby caareer.

Library session will strengthen senior citizens awareness against scammers

Seniors within the Wellington region will be able to build their digital confidence and learn how to stay safe from scams with ID Support NSW offering dedicated assistance. ID Support NSW with the NSW Seniors Festival roadshow will be hosting an ID support sessions at Wellington Library next Tuesday, March 3 from 2pm to 3pm with afternoon tea provided. In 2025 alone, people aged 55 years and older collectively reported more than $53 million in losses, with almost 85 per cent of people aged 50 and older believing they have come across or been a victim of a scam. The most common scams targeting this age group include parcel delivery scams, overdue payment scams, phishing scams, impersonation scams and tech support scams; these can often lead to identity theft. Low digital literacy is a major factor leaving older people vulnerable to scams. Australians aged 75 and over reported to have the lowest digital abilities, scoring 32.1 points below the national average, while those aged 65 to 74 are 15.5 points below, according to the Australian Digital Inclusion Index. The session is built around five pillars of connectivity, affordability, digital ability, accessibility, and digital trust and safety, and aims to ensure all people can participate online regardless of age, income, background or location. With action led by ID Support NSW, the strategy supports seniors at risk of digital exclusion by helping them build the skills and confidence needed to navigate an increasingly digital environment. Attendees will learn what support is available from the NSW Government, test the strength of their passwords, and have one-on-one support to uplift their online security and improve the privacy controls on their devices. Gallanggabang AGM this Saturday

Gallanggabang Aboriginal Corporation (GAC) was set up in 2009 by agreement of the Wellington Aboriginal community. GAC represents 14 Wellington Traditional Aboriginal families. GAC promoted these objectives last year by managing country, participating in various archaeological surveys on country to protect Aboriginal Cultural Heritage sites on various energy development projects. Directors of GAC are volunteers seeking to protect and promote Aboriginal cultural heritage in Wellington. Members are welcome to attend the AGM to be held on at 11am on Saturday, February 28, 2026 at Wellington Soldiers Memorial Club.

Public meeting at Geurie concerning Scabbing Flat Bridge

“If you do not want a repeat of what has happened over the last couple of years, be at the meeting and voice your opinion.” - Michelle Tomkins.

SCABBING FLAT Bridge – Geurie Association chair Michelle Tomkins has called a public meeting at Geurie Bowling Club for 4pm next Monday, March 2 and is calling on all people interested and affected by this bridge’s ongoing debacle to attend.

Ms Tomkins said “We need to keep the pressure on government for a replacement bridge.”

After the public meeting and from 6pm the committee is also holding a ‘drop in’ for local Geurie community members to raise various issues within the village.

Ms Tomkins said she wanted to reinforce the importance of this meeting.

” We are nearly back to where we were two years ago, however the bridge still does not meet the transport needs of the area whether you are a heavy vehicle/machinery operator or a car user of the bridge.

“A 42.5 tonne weight restriction; width restrictions even with the Bailey support removed; it does not meet current transport requirements and never will, unlike upgraded bridges such as Terrabella and Benolong Bridges.”

She said the old bridge, in excess of 100 years, will continue to require ongoing, costly and time-consuming maintenance.

“Heritage classification will continue to impede the ability to lobby for a new bridge and the ongoing cost and time to maintain the bridge,” Ms Tomkins said.

“My message to bridge users is that there were two years of bridge closures, restricted use and day to day impact on personal and business planning.

“Alternate routes were not safe and were damaged further due to an increase in traffic.

“It cost us more to use alternate routes to get to our destinations.”

Ms Tomkins outlined some positives.

“We have made progress albeit slow,” she said.

“All timber truss bridges are being reviewed because none are supporting the needs of local communities.

“However, now is not the time to be complacent. We need to keep the pressure on, more so than ever.

“If you do not want a repeat of what has happened over the last couple of years, be at the meeting and voice your opinion.

“We could easily be back in the same situation fairly quickly if past performances are any indication.”

O’Briens say “Thank You Wellington” after some 36 years - now reminisce of wonderful times

Miceal and Helen O’Brien came to Wellington in January 1990.

They had sold the family farm at Quambone north of Warren and West of Coonamble earlier and were looking for an interim place to live.

The main bridge across the Macquarie was impacted by an accident and subsequent collapse and traffic was diverted around the railway line. It worked but so did the organisers.

They can still remember Peter Sheridan and others with their stop/go signs, and the trains sharing the line, before lights took over the role as the new bridge was being installed.

Luckily, Darrell England found a suitable house in Montefiores, where they resided for over a year. The house was on the market at the same time, so many inspections continued to disrupt their sanity, but it kept the house neat and tidy, they laughed.

The youngest two boys were still at boarding school in Sydney and the other boys were making their way in apprenticeships in Dubbo and Canberra.

So, with a possible pending sale of their rental, they searched many “for sale” houses and fell in love with the only one that was perfect for them.

Eventually, and after some time negotiating a sale, they moved in, in May 1991, to the beautiful home called “Carinya” and so for the next 28 years, they enjoyed the privacy, its size, and gardens, swimming pool and tennis court.

The house was built for a large family, and during holidays with seven boys and girlfriends, it was often filled with laughter and activity.

Early memories saw the Bell River rise and some houses inundated with unwelcome flooding in Montefiores and the lower parts of Wellington.

This happened on more than one occasion, whilst living there and of course it is still a regular feature of the Bell River in and around Wellington.

Luckily, they were not impacted. They joined the crowd heading to the Bell River and Cameron Park, where fast-moving water could be seen from the Bridge.

With the Bell flooded, they observed from a distance as the bridge become nearly fully submerged each time.

Miceal bought the Wellington Plant Hire business in Gisborne Street. That kept the family busy and when the opportunity came to take on the Wellington Boot races, which included the erection of 40 plus Marquees etc, at the Racecourse, this helped the business to become an anchor for other pursuits.

It was about this time a young fellow walked into the Plant Hire asking for a job. Helen asked what his name was. It was Peter Forgione. She asked him what his parents’ names were in Coonamble.

He looked at her twice, wondering how she knew he was from Coonamble. Peter became part of the establishment for the next 15 years.

The purchase of a house opposite “Carinya” on the Mitchell Highway made way for an extensive renovation and the extension of their B&B for Wellington.

“Carinya” had been hosting B&B families for some time prior, which helped utilize the home’s wonderful attributes. Wellington’s first B&B, run by the O’Briens, quickly became a success, though it required constant upkeep.

The business was further extended when they bought a lovely cottage at 30 Maxwell Street in 2012, which was just around the corner from Mackay’s Rest.

More renovations ensued. It was extended to four bedrooms, and three bathrooms with a wonderful area for family activity.

The old Wonderlick walls were celebrated and maintained throughout.

“Mackay’s Rest” was named to honour the many years the Mackay family had lived there. It was not unlike the purchase of Carinya. People referred to it as Cameron’s, as many of the Cameron families lived there for more than a century.

Carinya was built in the 1880’s by John Cameron. The same with 120 Arthur Street. It was known as Betty Mackay’s house. Possibly still is, by some older folk! So, if there weren’t enough beds to make, there were now three homes to service with the booming B&B industry.

Back to the purchase of Wellington Plant Hire. Miceal carried on with the hire of small plant, loo hire and septic services.

The onset of the Jail brought a new prosperity to Wellington.

Some questioned the wisdom of building a jail in Wellington at the time, but it has proved an ongoing successful employment opportunity for the area, and has no doubt brought workers to buy and live in the area and helped grow the economy.

The next venture which opened more employment and opportunity for the Plant Hire was the building of Wind Farms and Solar Farms.

This created more demand for sewerage services and hire of portable toilets.

They sold many trailers, and often Mike would do a round trip to Sydney south and return with up to four trailers on board.

Two on the back of the utility, and two being towed behind, one inverted on top of the other.

Miceal was very involved with Rotary in Wellington. He spent two terms as Chairman and received a Paul Harris Fellow Award.

A special time, and a busy time.

Helen was incredibly involved with the Arboretum as treasurer for 10 years.

She also did patchwork at the Knitty Knotty Nook, with Yvonne Lawrie as teacher and Judy and Ron (Cosier) always there to help.

It was always a special day of the week.

She played Bridge at the local club, on a weekly basis and earlier involved in the local Rostrum Club and learnt to improve her public speaking skills. This also led to being an adjudicator at school debates.

Then there was the annual Eisteddfod involvement, initially in the dance section. Helen played the organ at Church on Sundays, not to mention the numerous funerals at St Patricks, but also at the Uniting Church on a less regular basis.

“Stray Notes” became another huge focus. Tuesday nights where dedicated to the choir, and that followed some lovely stints, singing in Eisteddfods, and weddings and even Hermitage Hill openings.

She became the Show Society President at one stage and continued for three years. Whilst in that role she, with the help of Gina Frances, introduced fireworks to the program. The fireworks have since been a feature of the Annual Show.

Her love of radio blossomed when Binjang started the FM station 91.5. Helen held positions on the committee and ran up to three sessions a week as a radio presenter.

Other jobs included voice-overs for advertisements, and organising news broadcasts when others were not available.

Also interviews with special guests was a highlight for her. A big shout out for the formative committee including Michael White, Mark Griggs, Anne Jones and Terry Hoffman to name a few of the volunteers who made it happen.

Tony Graham as well, who also guided many as presenters to make the station the success that it is.

Miceal and Helen sold the plant hire business to John Southwell in 2016.

He continues to run this business from 69 Gisborne St.

The remainder of the yard was sold separately a year or two later.

After the sale of “Carinya” the O’Brien’s moved over the road to Mackay’s Rest and more renovations occurred, improving a better layout, and the upgrade of the garden.

The shed was included in the improvements. In late 2017 the O’Briens went to live in their first ‘new home’ at Fern Bay, south of Williamtown.

They have since moved to Medowie, north and west of Williamtown, where they have spent the last two-plus years, completely overhauling the house on two acres which has been more than a challenge, due to their age, they will happily admit.

The older you are, the slower you are. Some of their boys live in Newcastle so there has been a constant stream of helpers.

The skills that the boys have achieved are now what Miceal calls on often, instead of Miceal sharing his advice to the boys.

It has been quite the journey.

To complete the story, in 2023 they rented 30 Maxwell St, not for the short-term market though. Late in 2025 the tenants moved to their new home and so it was time to tidy up the property and sell.

The round trips from Newcastle were getting more arduous. And now after 36 years of coming into Wellington for a short stay, they have sold the last of their properties in Wellington.

Many friends remain dear to them. Many memoirs and many achievements.

They say ‘thank you Wellington’, and they still like visiting when possible.

Fines system improvements pass parliament, now a cooling period

THE STATE government’s initiative to improve transparency and fairness in the fines system has passed the NSW Parliament.

Among the changes in the Fines Legislation Amendment Bill 2025 is a 21-day ‘cooling off period’ where fine recipients can withdraw their decision to contest an offence in court.

Currently, once a person elects to dispute a fine in court, there is no process for the fine recipient to withdraw from the court election to explore other options to have the fine reviewed or otherwise resolve the fine.

This ‘court election’ means the individual could risk a criminal conviction, a higher fine and extra costs.

This Australian first initiative will give individuals more time to seek legal advice and information and could result in a better outcome for the individual, as well as reduced burden on the court system.

These changes will come into effect by the end of the year.

Reforms will also see the Hardship Review Board expand its membership, as well as providing greater access to families and households struggling with financial pressures.

The Hardship Review Board reviews decisions made by Revenue NSW where individuals are unable to pay fines, fees or taxes. It can direct Revenue NSW to make alternative arrangements including reducing the amount payable or giving people more time to pay.

This is an important avenue of support for individuals experiencing sudden and long-term financial hardship.

The Board’s membership will now consist of five members, up from three, with new members appointed from outside Government, bringing a broader range of views to decisionmaking.

In addition to expanded membership, Revenue NSW will now actively engage with people experiencing hardship, so they are notified of their rights to apply to the newly expanded Board.

These reforms build on the government’s re-introduction of physical notifications for parking fines, which was the first phase of a strategic agenda to improve the fairness and transparency of the NSW fines and debt systems.

The former Liberal-National Government removed immediate notification of parking fines in 2020, despite community advocates warning it was unfair and lacked transparency.

All risk, no reward for outback farmers

The same could happen to any other farmer – not necessarily by opal miners

SHORTCHANGED farmers in the state’s northwest are desperately calling on government to deliver fairer compensation for small-scale title mining claims.

NSW Farmers Acting CEO Mike Guerin said the proposed compensation amounts for opal mining claims fell well short of the real and ongoing losses faced by farm businesses hosting mining activity and called on the NSW Government to urgently rework the proposed compensation framework to ensure farmers were treated fairly and not forced to absorb the full financial and operational impacts of mining activity on their land.

Under the current proposal, landholders would receive as little as $50 per claim in White Cliffs and $200 near Lightning Ridge, amounts NSW Farmers said were nowhere near the actual losses borne by farm businesses. “This is a massive impost on farmers who are doing their best to produce healthy plants and animals in a pretty harsh environment, and this pittance proposed by government as ‘compensation’ is little more than an insult.”

NSW Farmers did not support the outcome of an independent review that recommended tiny compensation amounts, nor did it support the government’s response which failed to reflect the full extent of impacts experienced by affected landholders.

Mr Guerin said an evidence based approach was needed to properly account for the costs associated with a small-scale title claim on their farm, to ensure farmers were not left carrying an unfair burden.

“We’ve calculated a compensation rate of approximately $1500 per claim more accurately reflects the true costs and losses incurred by farm businesses hosting opal mining activity. Even the Independent Reviewer identified that less than 1.5 per cent of the available area is being used for opal mining, indicating there is a huge area of land potentially available for the continuation of activity within existing areas.

Uni students to miss out on local grants

FIRST AND Second year university students looking for some financial support to help with costs will miss a golden opportunity to gain up to $5000 if they don't act now.

Wellington Lions Club in association with Wellington Soldiers Memorial Club is offering seven students a slice of $25,000 in grants to "Stop the Brain Drain" supplied by the Soldiers Club.

Club general manager Stephen Hodge said the program commenced in 2024 and it was so widely recognised won the Clubs NSW education category Community Award.

In the past two years 21 students have benefited.

On offer are five grants of $3000 and two of $5000 which can go towards rental and course expenditure.

Due to state government changes to the original scholarship scheme, applications must be made through Wellington Lions as a third party.

However, this process has made the application form more detailed, so students only need to contact the Soldiers Club and seek assistance with the form.

But time is running out and the closing date has been extended to Friday, March 13.

Contact Wellington Lions Club or Wellington Soldiers Memorial Club for application form details which are on their respective websites.

New online tool supports parents with childhood vaccinations

WITH INCREASING cases of measles circulating, parents are being reminded of the importance of on time vaccination, as NSW Health launches a new personalised childhood vaccination schedule tool.

This allows parents to create a customised vaccination schedule based on their child's date of birth, providing personalised guidance and practical reminders to help parents ensure vaccinations are received on time and give their children the best protection from serious diseases.

Immunisation helps keep the community safe from the spread of serious illness.

In NSW, vaccinations are provided for free for a range of serious and highly contagious diseases including whooping cough, polio, measles, mumps, rubella, and chicken pox.

The immunisation schedule sets out the best age for children to receive these vaccines. The timing is carefully chosen by experts to make sure children achieve the highest level of protection for each disease.

Delaying or missing vaccinations can put children at increased risk of serious disease.

More than 90 per cent of children in this state are fully immunised, however, it is important to further improve this rate to help protect children and the wider community.

The customised schedule was informed by research commissioned by NSW Health, which found many parents and carers felt uncertain, overwhelmed, or unsure where to start when it came to vaccinating their child.

In addition to the personalised schedule, families can use the new 'add to calendar' feature, which automatically adds a child's vaccination dates to their parent's phone calendar.

Parents will receive a reminder one week before the vaccination date, along with a calendar entry on their phone for the day the vaccination is due.

Parents should always speak with their immunisation provider before their child has a vaccine.

Vaccinations are available from GPs, Aboriginal Medical Services, some local councils and some community health centres.

Grants now availabe for volunteers, farmers and tertiary students moving from regions for study

Department of Social Services – Volunteer Grants

VOLUNTEER GRANTS support the work of community organisations that rely on volunteers by removing barriers to volunteering and promoting awareness of volunteering opportunities. Grants of between $1000 and $5000 are available to assist eligible not-for-profit organisations.

Funding can be used to purchase communication or insurance items, and/or items that directly support volunteer cohorts and volunteer-run activities, as outlined in the Grant Opportunity Guidelines.

The 2025–26 Volunteer Grants are now open for expressions of interest.

Organisations are encouraged to read the Grant Opportunity Guidelines and contact my Office for details on how to submit an expression of interest.

Organisations that are nominated will be invited by the Department of Social Services to complete an application form in May 2026.

Draft Grant Opportunity Guidelines are now available to help organisations access the information needed to express their interest.

For further information, grant guidelines and applications scan the QR code or contact my Office on (02) 6361 7138.

Tertiary Access Payment

The Tertiary Access Payment (TAP) is a one-off payment of up to $5000.

It's to help eligible students with the cost of moving to study.

This is for study after you've finished year 12 or equivalent.

To get the payment you must move from a regional or remote area for tertiary study.

You can check if your family home is in a regional or remote area using the Student Regional Area Search.

You can still claim TAP if you get ABSTUDY, Youth Allowance or Relocation Scholarship in your first year of study.

For further information contact www.servicesaustralia.gov.au/tertiary-access-payment ***

Supporting Farmers facing hardship

The Federal Government has introduced a new Drought Hardship Loan designed to help with short-term operating costs as farmers face longer-term droughts.

The loan will enable farmers who have been affected by drought for at least 24 months and expect to be impacted for another season, to borrow up to $250,000.

The loan duration will be five years, with interest incurred, but repayments fully deferred for the first two years.

To extend relief to existing RIC loan customers, interest rates on existing RIC loans will be held at 5.18% for another six months from 1 February 2026.

The new Drought Hardship Loan is delivered through the Regional Investment Corporation and you can find further information and register your interest at <https://www.ric.gov.au/new-loans> ***

Foundation for Rural Regional Renewal

Strengthening Rural Communities – Prepare & Recover funding helps rural communities across Australia prevent and prepare for future climate related impacts or recover from existing disasters.

Grants up to $25,000 are available for a broad range of initiatives to strengthen the capacity and capability of local people, organisations, networks, and systems that help communities to be informed, skilled, connected and resourced for the future.

with Mathew Dickerson, Axxis Comworld

I REMEMBER the day I finally upgraded from a hand-me-down stereo to a “real proper” sound system.

I’m talking about towering speakers, a chunky amplifier, a subwoofer the size of a small ottoman, and rear speakers carefully wired on the walls at just the right height.

I set it all up with the precision of a concert sound engineer, pressed play on my favourite CD and sat back, grinning.

The sound was magnificent. Crisp highs, deep bass, the sort of audio that makes you rediscover songs you’ve heard a hundred times.

Then my wife walked in. She didn’t comment on the clarity. She didn’t marvel at the depth of the bass. She looked around the lounge room and said, “Those speakers are enormous. They don’t match anything.”

I argued for acoustics. She argued for aesthetics.

For years, that’s been the trade-off in a normal home environment.

You could have great sound, or you could have a great-looking room.

Rarely both. But now, technology and décor are finally learning to get along.

The latest product in home audio doesn’t look like a speaker at all. It looks like a stylish picture frame you might hang above a console table.

Inside that frame, however, is a multi-speaker audio system designed to fill a room with surprisingly rich sound.

Personalise the frame with your own picture. Your sound system becomes part of your gallery wall.

Guests admire the picture, unaware it’s also delivering your dinner-party playlist.

Modern audio processing is used to adapt to the room and deliver cinema-quality sound without hulking black boxes dominating the space.

This isn’t an isolated idea. We’ve seen televisions that transform into digital art when not in use, disappearing into the wall like a framed print.

We’ve seen lamps that double as smart speakers, and coffee tables with built-in wireless charging pads.

Even voice assistants, once obvious plastic cylinders on the benchtop, are being woven into light fittings and wall panels.

What’s happening here is bigger than a clever speaker. It’s a shift in philosophy.

For decades, technology in the home was proudly visible. The bigger the TV, the better. The taller the speakers, the more serious you were about sound.

Gadgets were status symbols. They announced themselves.

Today, the aspiration is subtler. Our homes have become multi-purpose spaces. The kitchen is an office. The dining table is a homework station. The lounge room is a cinema, a gaming arcade and a yoga studio depending on the hour.

In that environment, visual clutter feels heavier than ever. We want calm. We want cohesion. We want technology that blends in rather than barges in.

Of course, the audiophile purists will argue that you can’t cheat physics. A slim frame on the wall won’t quite match the chest-thumping authority of a full tower speaker and dedicated subwoofer.

They’re not wrong. But for most households, the goal isn’t recreating a rock concert.

It’s creating atmosphere. Music while cooking. Background jazz during a Sunday afternoon. Clear dialogue when watching a film.

The real story here is that technology is maturing. It’s becoming less about showing off what it can do and more about quietly supporting how we live.

In the future, we’re likely to see even more integration: walls that double as speakers, art that responds to the music playing, furniture embedded with invisible sensors and sound systems.

The smart home won’t look like a gadget showroom. It will look… normal.

These days, the best technology might be the kind you don’t notice at all – until it fills the room with music and someone says, “That sounds amazing. Where are the speakers?”

A crushing outcome for owners and riders of illegal e-bikes

ILLEGAL e-bikes will be seized and crushed to stop the use of high-powered and doctored bikes that perform more like motorbikes than bicycles.

The state government is determined to remove illegal electric motorbikes masquerading as e-bikes from NSW roads and paths, and is giving NSW Police expanded powers to do so.

This reform draws a clear line: “we want young people outdoors, active and enjoying their communities but we will not tolerate illegal, high-powered e-motorbikes putting lives at risk”, minister for transport John Graham said.

Strengthened seizure and crushing powers for NSW Police will target the growing number of throttle-only, high-powered e-motorbikes that are fueling anti-social behaviour, community frustration and serious injuries.

So-called “fat bikes” and other throttle-only devices like those ridden across the Sydney Harbour Bridge in a recent social media stunt are not legal e-bikes under NSW law and will be able to be seized and crushed under this new legislation.

The government is also investing in a number of ‘dyno units’ that measure whether the power output of an e-bike is beyond the legal maximum.

The portable test units can determine whether the e-bike’s power assistance cuts out completely at 25km/h as per the current law in NSW.

If an e-bike is found to be non-compliant at the roadside, Police will be empowered to crush the bike to ensure it does not return to the road.

This will simplify the current seizure laws, which were designed with high-powered cars and motorbikes in mind, and require a lengthy and resource-intensive court process to remove them permanently.

As Transport for NSW and NSW Police develop the new seizure laws, they will be looking at the simple seizure and disposal laws already in place in Western Australia.

Police in WA have confiscated and crushed dozens of bikes since adopting tougher laws.

Not all e-bikes sold in shops are legal on our streets. The NSW Government is asking parents to double-check before buying an e-bike for their child.

Many devices being marketed as e-bikes are in fact illegal electric motorbikes, with throttle operation without pedalling above 6km/h, excessive power output or modified speed limiters.

If a device does not meet NSW’s legal definition of a pedal-assisted e-bike, it can be seized and crushed even if it was bought in error.

These changes are the start of a broader package of reforms to make sure e-bikes are safe, legal and fit for use on public roads and paths, while still supporting responsible riding and active transport.

This can only happen when bikes behave like bikes, not motorbikes.

Further measures will be announced in coming weeks to strengthen safety, improve enforcement and give parents, riders and communities a clear and safe set of rules they can have confidence in.

Mr Graham said the government has heard loud and clear the concern in the community about souped-up e-bikes and the anti-social behaviour that seems to go hand in hand with them.

“Riders and owners of illegal e-bikes should now hear us loud and clear: If you are breaking the rules, and your bike does not meet the very clear specifications of a pedal-assisted e-bike, expect it to be removed from your possession and crushed.

“Illegal bikes will end up as a twisted wreck so they can’t rejoin the road.

“We will ensure e-bikes behave as bicycles not motorbikes.

“This reform goes far past the NSW Liberals’ idea for tiny number plates that validates and entrenches the most dangerous e-bikes.”

NSW leads national solar panel reuse and recycling scheme

COMMONWEALTH, state and territory governments have agreed to progress work towards a national product stewardship scheme for solar panels, ensuring they are managed from start to end of life.

At the meeting of the Energy and Climate Change Ministerial Council in Sydney, a paper was issued advocating a national mandated scheme to prevent solar panels ending up in landfill, instead directing them towards remanufacture or recycling.

NSW is already developing a mandated stewardship program for batteries.

Annual solar panel waste volumes in Australia are predicted to nearly double over the next five years, from 59,340 tonnes in 2025 to 91,165 tonnes in 2030.

The surge in waste is expected to be greatest in metropolitan cities from domestic use, with volumes beginning to grow in regional areas from large-scale solar facilities after 2030.

Energy Ministers recognised increasing calls for improved end-of-life management of solar panels, including those at large-scale facilities.

Many solar panels are disposed of well before the end of their useful life and typically end up in landfill, stockpiled, or exported.

More than 95 per cent of a solar panel is recyclable and contains valuable materials, including aluminium, glass, copper, silver and silicon, which can be beneficially recovered and reused.

The Smart Energy Council estimates that around one-third of solar panels could be re-used instead of being thrown away.

This could contribute up to 24 gigawatts of energy by 2040, enough to power six million homes a year.

Energy Ministers agreed that NSW will lead preliminary work, together with other jurisdictions, in drawing up a Regulatory Impact Statement.

The draft will help the Government evaluate options for a national mandatory product stewardship scheme that could catalyse a national recycling and reuse sector for solar panels and their batteries.

The Commonwealth is also supporting low-cost recycling technologies for solar PV through the Australian Renewable Energy Agency, to help support the feasibility and cost-effectiveness of industry approaches to solar product stewardship.

Sports World funding farce

ON MONDAY, the Minister for Regional NSW blew into Dubbo to announce $15.3 million for the refurbishment of PCYC’s Sports World.

While I am really pleased for PCYC to at least receive some funding, let’s not forget that this is the same Minister who so callously axed the $48.6 million committed by the previous Coalition Government for the original Dubbo Sports Hub and PCYC project.

PCYC is doing the work to keep the dream of a dedicated Dubbo Sports Hub alive, but this week’s announcement – which is made up of $10.4 million from the Government’s Regional Development Trust Fund and a contribution of $4.9 million from PCYC – is underwhelming to say the least.

The reality is that the funding this Government has announced is less than a third of what was locked and loaded for the original Sports Hub project and the planned refurbishment is less than what people expect.

For the Minister to fly in and claim the previous Coalition Government did nothing to get the Sports Hub project off the ground is irresponsible.

8 THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 26, 2026,

WELLINGTON & DISTRICT LEADER

The money was there before this Government came to power: a location was secured, the public works organised, surveying done.

It is the Minns Labor Government who sat on the money for nine months before deciding to move the goalposts.

The fact that local media was not notified of the announcement until the very last minute and none of the sporting clubs that use Sports World were even invited, just shows the contempt this Government has for both this project and our region.

I will keep pushing until we get the Sports Hub facility we deserve.

Massive weekend of Touch

All eyes were on Dubbo last weekend, as the NSW Touch Football Junior State Cup – Northern Conference returned to our region.

The Lady Cutler Sporting Precinct was a hive of activity over the three-day carnival, as more than 10,000 visitors came together for the event.

I stopped by to check out all the action on Friday and got to catch the U16 Girls match-up between Dubbo and Mudgee, and I also had the chance to check in with the players from Wellington Touch Association as they re-grouped between games.

Remarkably, Dubbo’s U10 Boys made history as they became the first Dubbo team to not only make the grand final but also win the competition.

The U10 Boys have had an amazing season, and they now progress to the Junior State Cup Finals Series in Sydney this weekend. Good luck!

Amalia’s mission continues

As her trip to Sydney for the 2026 NSW Women of the Year Awards approaches, 10-year-old Amalia Howard has set a new goal to help people experiencing homelessness get back on their feet.

Amalia smashed her original fund-raising goal and had the opportunity to help 70 people facing homelessness when she donated over $2200 to Wayside Chapel in January.

She now hopes to raise money to help an additional 100 people before she meets the Governor at Government House next week.

First Wellington golf club house

From Wellington Times (1899 – 1954),
Monday, July 11, 1927, Page 3

New Club House opened

Enthusiastic and Large Gathering, Wellington Golf Club's Achievement

THE PLEASANT anticipation of the members of the Wellington Golf Club reached a climax on Saturday afternoon, when the new Club House was officially opened.

Prior to four years ago the Golf Club consisted of about a dozen enthusiastic members, who attended the links regularly and obtained their all enjoyment out of the game, but about that time many young members began to focus their attention on the game of golf, with the result that the Club grew 'by leaps and bounds'.

With this energetic feeling prevailing among the members, a Scheme was set on foot some three years ago, whereby the associates [women] were officially admitted into the Club.

Since that time the club has progressed still further, with the result that at the present time, there is a membership of over 50 with a like number of associates.

With this large number of players to with it was discovered that much congestion was the result and the 9 holes course.

This combined with the fact that the club felt anxious to be in line with other clubs, and have an 18 holes course with a club house, brought without the present state of affairs.

This golf clubhouse was transported from the Nanima course to the Cave Course decades ago but burnt down at some stage later.

Therefore, about a year ago, the club decided to launch a movement to obtain these desired objects, and in order to finance the scheme, debentures amounting to 650 pounds [$1300 then] were disposed of.

It must be mentioned here that although the club members were desirous of having these things, they were absolutely powerless to act without the assistance on Mrs C.H Barton.

She was approached in the matter and the scheme placed before her and it be said, to her generosity and willingness to assist the town in which she lives, she gave the use of the land gratis on which are situated the links.

The land, about 100 acres, carries a peppercorn rent, leave the club in possession of full grazing rights, and the rates are paid by Mrs Barton.

This very generous offer of Mrs Barton's is keenly appreciated by the members and will ever be remembered by them.

Despite the fact that Saturday afternoon, with its cold wind, was anything but ideal for golf, there were about 100 people present to witness the opening ceremony.

A mixed foursomes competition was conducted over the 13 holes course, after which the opening ceremony was gone on with Mr T.R. Pullen (treasurer) in commencing the proceedings, said he felt honoured at being called upon to ask Mrs Barton to unfurl then two club house flags.

They all knew what Mrs Barton and the Barton family had done for the club, which they all appreciated very much. Amidst cheers, Mrs Barton pulled the halyards, unfurling the Golf Club flag.

The flag is of blue, with a red cross, and bears initials representing the words "Wellington Barton Golf Club".

On the verandah with her daughter, Miss Ursula Barton, and son, MR Bertram Barton.

The Australian flag was unfurled by Miss Barton.

The official opening of the club house fell to the lot of Mr Murdoch McLeod (vice president), who; in his usually happy vein, stressed the point that what they had brought to fruition that day was due to the generosity of the Barton family.

Looking back at Walmer

More on Walmer's history compiled by Neil Wykes.

The Wheat Silos

THE SILOS opened in 1935, 10 years after the railway opened.

In addition to the silos there was a weighbridge at the gate entrance to the silos.

In those early years the wheat would be transferred from the Header (wheat harvester) into bags that weighed about 180 pounds (about 80 kilograms) and loaded onto trucks.

The trucks were small by comparison with today.

The bags had to be loaded with the twine used to close the bag on the outside.

When the truck got to the Silos weighbridge and the wheat was assessed the driver then had to cut open each bag and the wheat would be tipped into the hoppers and then taken by auger up to the storage area in the silo.

From there it would eventually be funnelled into the railway wagons.

Hubert Pearson managed the Silos each summer.

He determined the classification of the wheat, and this determined the price received by the farmer.

Les Wykes assisted Hubert Pearson, Les's job was to keep the engines running, move the wheat to the right bin based on its classification and to load the railway wagons.

At the peak of the harvesting, the last two weeks before

Walmer silos built in 1935, 10 years after the railway opened. at right is where the old general store was located.

Christmas, there would be a long line of trucks ready to unload next morning.

Time was critical as rain could greatly reduce the value of the crop and often the farmer had to strip the wheat, bag it up, deliver it to the silos and then go back and strip the next load.

As trucks became more powerful in the 1960's the wheat moved from the header straight into bins on the back of trucks so much less labour was needed.

Today a team of contractors are more likely to do the job and will harvest a whole crop in one day.

Gary Carney, one of the boys I went to school with became very wealthy as he became one of the first contractors.

13.02.26. Wheat $323/t h2 steady. Barley $294/t (feed) down 1%. Sorghum $343 steady. Cotton $519 bale down 6%. Canola $737/t up 1.5%.

Cockroachs.

One of the worst pest this summer has been the invasion of cockroaches into our homes. Australia hosts over 450 native cockroach species, but only six commonly invade homes. Proper species identification is critical for treatment, so you don't waste your money on sprays that don't work.

Step 1 Size assessment: German cockroach: 13-16mm - kitchen, laundry and bathroom. Brown-banded cockroach: 11-14.5mm - kitchen, laundry. Oriental cockroach: 20-25mm – basements, drains and under sinks are their habitat. Australian cockroach: 23-35mm - Found entering the home. American cockroach: up to 53mm - outdoor areas or entering the home. Smokey brown found around lights, are attracted to light.

The German carries the highest disease transmission risk due to rapid reproduction and they do not stray far from their hiding places. Adults only travel 1.2m from their harbourage. The next worse is the American cockroach (the giant) reddish-brown, with a distinctive yellow band around the head. The best baits to kill cockroaches are those containing FIPRONIL - odourless and they take it to the nest wiping out the nest

Racing at Bedgerebong

TRAINED AT Forbes by Peter Kirby the six-year-old gelding East Harlem held off Queensland galloper Silver Agent in an exciting finish to win the 1400 metres Total Wear Solutions Australia-Bedgerabong Picnic Cup.

On a magnificent turf track and racing in front of a huge crowd at the beautiful Bedgerabong track west of Forbes, East Harlem shared the early lead with Lockadente until Silver Agent moved to a challenging position approaching the home turn.

Well ridden by Bessie Dimery, East Harlem ($3.40) responded to the call from the young rider and won by a half-length from the Benno Bowen, Cunnamulla trained Silver Agent (Paul Zerafa, $3.60) with Ready For Lift Off (Ricky Blewitt, $2.60 favourite) making up ground for third.

Bessie Dimery, a former junior champion eventing rider, rode her first race winner at Boorowa last May and East Harlem became her third winner from a limited number of rides. Numerous mounting yard observers commented on the excellent presentation of East Harlem by Peter Kirby and the gelding raced right up to the good looks.

Connie Greig and Leandro Ribeiro, the premier trainer and jockey respectively on the Picnic circuit, combined to win the feature sprint, the 800m Daniel Ball Transport-Clearview Bracelet Handicap with Callie Cool.

Midfield to the turn, Callie Cool ($6) burst through the pack to win clearly from Rubicon River (Zara Lewis, $3.20) and the leader Mr Pointer (Tamsin Gough, $6).

Dubbo based Connie Greig and Leandro Ribeiro had earlier won the 1100 m C & M Civil Earthworks Class 3 Trophy Handicap with Wotastatement. A last start Gilgandra TAB winner at $71, Wotastatement was the $1.70 favourite at Bedgerabong and led all the way for a two-lengths win from stablemate Allande (Amber Collins, $3.40) and Geewiz Johnny (Tamsin Gough, $16).

Amber Collins who works for Connie Greig was having her first race ride and gave Allande every chance. Eugowra based Bill Hayes who trains his horses at Forbes, won the 800m Terry Bros Carpet Court Class B Handicap with Mihrimah, a recent addition to his stable.

Second turning for home, Mihrimah (Ashley Boyd, $4) edged to the front and won by a half-head from Kuroshinzo (Leandro Ribeiro, $3.20) with a short-half-head to the speedy Swedish Glitter ($1.70 fav) ridden by Ricky Blewitt.

First leg of a double for the experienced Ashley Boyd was aboard the Sharon Jeffries, Parkes trained Rebel Flyer in the 1100m Robyn Harrison Memorial Maiden Plate.

Third passing the midway point, Rebel Flyer ($4) reached the lead at the top of the straight and in a three-way photo finish won from the fast finishing Mary Le Bone (Michael Gray, $4.60) and Kneel Down (Leandro Ribeiro, $2.50 fav).

Narromine trainer Kylie Kennedy supplied the quinella in the final event, the 1400m Dunk Insurance Class 1 Trophy Handicap, when Himeros (Eloise Drews, $4.20 to $3.60) led throughout to beat The Drafter (Ricky Blewitt, $3.50) and Different Road (Michael Gray, $8).

Racing at Condobolin Picnics

DUBBO TRAINER Connie Greig has turned around the form of Pickaxe with the six-year-old gelding producing a big finish on Saturday to win the 1400 metres Condobolin Milling-Condobolin Picnic Cup.

Placed in Victoria and Queensland but with a sole win in a Maiden Handicap at the Sunshine Coast, Pickaxe came to Dubbo late last year and was unplaced at the first four starts for the Connie Greig stable.

Wotastatement, a stablemate of Pickaxe and the winner of the last two starts at Dubbo (TAB) and Bedgerabong Picnics, started the $3 favourite at Condobolin while Pickaxe was the outsider of the field.

Ready For Lift Off and Wotastatement vied for the lead from the outset with Bobby's Secret tracking the pair and Pickaxe dropping back to last.

Bobby's Secret (Eloise Drews, $6) hit the front inside the final 200 metres but was beaten a short neck by Pickaxe (Ashley Boyd, $9) which steamed home down the outside while the Benno Bowen, Cunnamulla (Qld) trained Silver Agent (Paul Zerafa, $5) stuck on well for third.

Humping a near record winning weight of 75kg, the Sharon Jeffries, Parkes trained Obsessive Nature defeated a good field in the 1000m KMWL & Co-Ross Berry and Rob Staniforth Memorial Trophy Handicap.

The experienced Ashley Boyd kept the top-weight well balanced and Obsessive Nature ($4 favourite) overhauled the Bedgerabong Bracelet winner Callie Cool (Leandro Ribeiro, $5) to score by a half-length with over three lengths to the third placed Pyromania (Amber Collins, $7).

Mainly racing at TAB meetings, Obsessive Nature has won nine races and been placed 11 times from 47 starts while accumulating over $170,000 prizemoney.

The first leg of a treble for Ashley Boyd was the Bill Hayes, Forbes trained Bitta Bon Magic ($12) which led throughout to win the 1100m Forbes Livestock & Equipment Service Class 1 Trophy Handicap from Box Of Crackers (Leandro Ribeiro, $2.30 fav) and Spotted (Michael Gray, $9).

Slowly away when a fast-finishing second at Bedgerabong, Mary Le Bone (Michael Gray, $2.50) gave trainer Bill Hayes the first leg of a Condobolin double when an all-the-way winner by nearly four lengths from Queensland trained On The Job (Paul Zerafa, $15) and Kneel Down (Leandro Ribeiro, $2 fav) in the 1000m Vella Stock Feeds Maiden Plate.

Backing up from winning at Bedgerabong, Himeros (Eloise Drews, $3.60), owned by former harness racing trainer-driver Warwick Harper and trained at Narromine by Kylie Kennedy, was third early before clearing out to win the 1400m Chamens Super IGA Class 2 Trophy Handicap by six lengths from Notleannormean (Amber Collins, $8) and Broadcast Boogie (Leandro Ribeiro, $2).

The many followers of Leandro Ribeiro were rewarded when the leading rider combined with Connie Greig to win the final event with Just On Fire which a week before had finished third in a big field, over 1600m at the Dubbo TAB meeting.

After racing in a handy position in the 1700m Tullinga Dorper Studs Class 3 Trophy Handicap, Just On Fire ($2 fav) won by over two lengths from the leader Pampuni (Eloise Drews, $7) and The Drafter (Ricky Blewitt, $5).

Condobolin attracted a big crowd and a similar response is expected for the Yass Picnics on Saturday.

NRL Inspire Program at WCS. Wellington Christian School was thrilled to welcome representatives from the NRL for an exciting and inspiring visit that left a lasting impact on our students. The session encouraged students to believe in themselves, work hard, and discover their unique talents—both in sport and beyond.

Collaboration in Action - Building Strong Arguments. Stage 3 students recently tackled the ethics of tourism on Macquarie Island, practicing the art of persuasive thinking and respectful debate. Working in teams, they used evidence to build strong arguments while mastering discussion protocols like active listening and collaborative role-sharing. It was a fantastic display of teamwork and critical thinking in action!

Zone Swimming Carnival. We are very proud of our WCS students who competed at the Zone Swimming Carnival at the Orange Aquatic Centre in Orange. They demonstrated determination, courage, and exceptional sportsmanship both in and out of the pool. A wonderful effort all round! Congratulations to Desiree, Sylvie, Amelia, Halle, Ezra, and Michael!

Biodegradable or Not? Our Students Put It to the Test! Stage 3 students put "Earth's Usable Matter" to the test this week, investigating the environmental impact of common packaging. By comparing how cornstarch peanuts, polystyrene, and honeycomb paper react to water, students observed firsthand which materials truly break down. Through predicting and testing, these young researchers are discovering how scientific inquiry can lead to more sustainable choices for our planet.

Kindergarten: Learning about the letter "M". Our Kindergarten explorers are having a marvelous time mastering the letter M! We're using playdough to roll out "snakes" and sculpt them into mighty peaks and valleys, a hands-on way to build the fine motor strength needed for penmanship.

Racing at Mudgee

BATHURST TRAINER Dean Mirfin who has enjoyed success previously in the race, landed the quinella with Tom Vegas and Turned Down at Mudgee last Saturday week in the $150,000 Evergreen Turf Central Districts Country Championship Qualifier.

Well-remembered is the 2018 Qualifier at Mudgee when jockey Eleanor Webster-Hawkes navigated a path through torrential rain to win on the Dean Mirfin trained $51 outsider Cosmologist.

Since the inception of the race in 2015 the Mirfin stable has qualified five finalists and the latest, Tom Vegas and Turned Down, will now head to Royal Randwick on Saturday, April 4 for the $1,000,000 Evergreen Turf Country Championship Final.

Zarizatycoon edged past the leader Onyspeed turning for home at Mudgee in the 1400 metres Qualifier with several rivals in the 14-horse field ready to challenge.

Crusader Kings ($3.80 to $3.30 favourite) hit the front inside the final 200 metres before Tom Vegas owned by Danny Gregory and brilliantly ridden by Cowra jockey Mathew Cahill ($5.50), coming from midfield with a rails run, arrived in time to win by a neck from stablemate Turned Down (Zac Wadick, $10) with a short-head to the David Smith, locally trained Instead ($19) ridden by Dubbo apprentice Zoe Hunt, while Crusader Kings wound up in fourth place.

“I was boxed in and thought about trying to ease out wider however a gap fortunately appeared on the rails”, explained Mathew Cahill who has ridden with great skill over many years.

The Gayna Williams trained Zarizatycoon, dominant winner of the Qualifier at Orange in 2025, has since undergone a serious operation and first-up after 12 months was a brave fifth and will probably be aimed at the Wild Card at Scone to try and qualify for the Final.

Before his third with Instead, Mudgee trainer David Smith had a winning double with The Contractor and A Boy Named Soo.

Backed from $2.15 to $1.90 favourite, The Contractor (Amy McLucas) had a nice run behind Just Joan and Chasing Quivers then shot away to score by three lengths from Velka (Ben Looker, $3.90) and Just Joan (Zac Wadick ($21).

Bred and owned by Mudgee based bookmaker Terry Marskell, A Boy Named Soo ($17) made it successive wins when with Ben Looker in the saddle, from near last finished strongly along the rails in the 1400m Ross Granata Motors Showcase Benchmark 66 Handicap to account for The Manager (Chelsea Hillier, $31) and Sidenay (Gabrielle Johnston, $16).

Shooting for a winning hat-trick, Nor Nor West (Chelsea Hillier, $3.10 to $2.30 fav) looked the likely winner until the 10-year-old, Kylie Kennedy, Narromine trained Gidgee Guy (Grant Buckley, $31) powering home from the back of the field won the 1100m Radio 2 MG & Real FM by a long-neck with Andale (Zoe Hunt, $5) a handy third.

The Clint Lundholm stable at Dubbo has been producing a stream of winners over late summer and State Of Grace ($4.40) owned by Todd Smith and ridden by Grant Buckley kept up the good work when shaking off joint leader Bosco at the top of the straight and going on to win the 1200m Gooree Wines Country Boosted Showcase Class 1 Handicap by almost two lengths from the fast finishing Argyle Laird (Jacob Stiff, $26) and The Git Up (Jake Pracey-Holmes,$7).

Another trainer going well is Mendooran based Jane Clement who supplied the quinella Toulon Factor (Ryan Bradley, $6) and Bill Peyto (Jacob Stiff, $14) in the 1850m “The Rabbitohs Classic” Benchmark 58 Handicap.

The other winner, the Bjorn Baker, Warwick Farm trained Curie (Olivia Chambers) started at a prohibitive price ($1.15 to $1.06 fav) when beating Foolish Notion (Ben Looker, $20) and Claudio (Mathew Cahill, $16) by nearly three lengths in the 1100m Printstorm Maiden Plate.

Accolades for the Under 10s

From the outside Wellington Touch under 10 Wello girls happily, danced and sung their way through five massive representative touch comps at Dubbo, taking our many wins along the way.

However, what most people didn’t see were the months-worth of training in the heat, the pure exhaustion after 6 to 8 games per comp.

But most of all, what people didn’t see was what our girls experienced each game - on the front line with their two incredible coaches and amazing team manager!

No fancy music over the top, you hear it exactly how they did

I cannot thank Tori, Chloe and Maria enough, for making this season so memorable for our girls.

Roman shines at NSW Country Championships

THE NSW Country Championships in Sydney found outstanding competition, with swimmers from across the state racing for top honours.

Among them was local talent Roman Dowton, who delivered a superb performance across five challenging events. Competing in the 10 Years age division, Roman demonstrated determination and skill in every race.

He placed 6th in the 50m Butterfly, recording a personal best time of 36.31 seconds. In the 100m Breaststroke, Roman finished a commendable 12th in a strong field of competitors. His speed was again on display in the 50m Freestyle, where he powered home in 32.61 seconds to secure 7th place. Roman's 100m Butterfly was a standout swim, touching the wall in 1:25.29, an impressive 6.19-second personal best, earning him another 6th place finish.

Capping off a fantastic meet, Roman claimed 5th place in the 50m Breaststroke with a personal best time of 45.25 seconds.

To compete at the NSW Country Championships is an achievement in itself, but Roman's multiple top 10 finishes and personal best performances are a testament to his hard work and commitment in the pool.

A tremendous effort and a meet to be proud of.

Grand Finals fever hits Pioneer Park as preliminary finals declared

THE OPENING week of finals for the Wellington Touch Association's Squadron Energy Cup and Tremain Ivey Junior Competition last Wednesday delivered everything fans could have hoped for, with tight contests and a few upsets setting the stage for a blockbuster preliminary final last night.

In A Grade, FORME. stamped their authority with a commanding 9-6 victory over Fast Eddie Owens Plumbing to book their place in the Grand Final. Wolf Pack held off Bell River Hay 4-2 in the other semi to keep their season alive and will now face Fast Eddie Owens Plumbing in the preliminary final for the remaining Grand Final berth.

The B Grade semi-finals produced contrasting results. NF Electrical were dominant in their 9-3 win over Lousicks to advance straight to the decider, while Let It Snow edged past Arthurville in a thriller, 4-3.

Let It Snow will now take on Lousicks in the preliminary final with a spot against NF Electrical on the line.

C Grade served up the tightest games of the night. Touch Downs survived a scare from Junior Cowboys, holding on 7-6, while Wello Weapons ground out a gutsy 3-2 win over Swamp Kings to earn a direct path to the Grand Final.

Touch Downs and Swamp Kings will now meet in the C Grade preliminary final, with just one game separating them from the big dance.

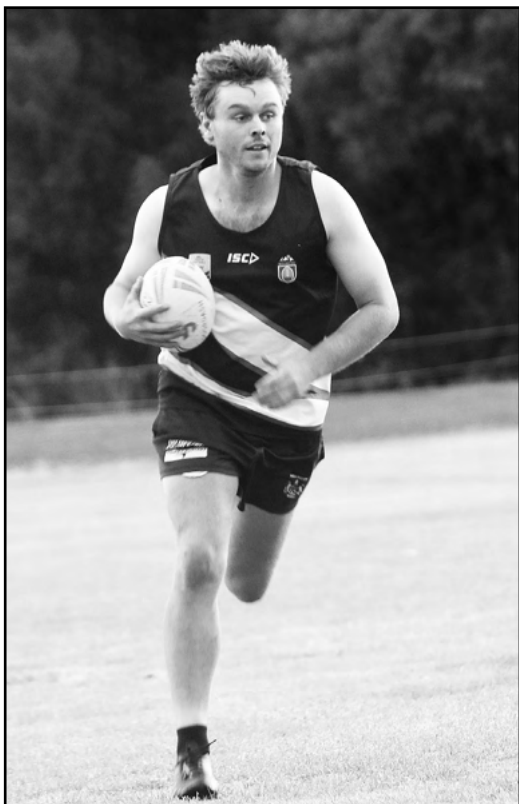

All three preliminary finals were played on Field 4 at Pioneer Park yesterday afternoon, but the 'Leader' went to press before the games' results.

There is plenty on the line beyond pride, with prize money of $500 for A Grade, $300 for B Grade and $200 for C Grade up for grabs across the Grand Finals.

The D Grade competition continued with Round 12, featuring four games across Fields 5 and 6 from 5pm, with the youngest players set to play through to their own Grand Final complete with a pizza party celebration.

The Grand Finals next week promise to be a fantastic night of touch football at Pioneer Park, and all supporters are encouraged to go along and cheer on their teams.

Golfing News

Busy days on the course throughout week

PLENTY OF golfers are enjoying the delights of Wellington golf course each week-end and many more during the week. Last Saturday's Individual Stableford plus Wellington Mowers and Chainsaws Summer Competition semi-finals was a rime example with the greens experiencing plenty of foot traffic.

As there was another big field results were split into two grades.

Winner of A grade was Gary Cusack, back in form with a great 39pts.

Runner-up went on 38pts was Joe Ryan with another sub-par round.

Blake Ferguson who enjoyed his day out to finish with 39pts and a B grade win. Runner-up was Steve Kiss with 37pts on a countback.

Nearest the pin on 3rd John Donnelly, 8th Elton Keffe, 14th Matt Ringland, 16th Stephen Whiteman.

Nearest the pin in two shots on the 13th was Matt Ringland.

Long drives went to Matt Reid in A grade and Steven McCarroll in B grade.

Brent Eather Encouragement award was hotly contested with only a couple of shots separating plenty of so-called golfers, with 20pts that's half as many as last week was Adam Ryan.

Wednesday was an Individual Stableford and a 9-hole competition.

Winner of the 18-hole competition was Jan Payne, and you couldn't keep the smile off her face, her final score 34pts on c/b.

Runner-up was Jannelle Frappell who was the winner last week, she finished with 34pts on c/b. Prize winner was Kathy Martin 34pts.

No 9-hole round 4 or 5 or 6 results.

Thursday's Individual Stableford winner was Paul (watch and learn) Hannelly who finished with 37pts.

Runner-up on 36 was Lewis Stanley.
