THE LARGEST crowd in years was the sweetest reward Wellington Show Society could have ever wished for, especially as this was the 150th Anniversary of the first show in Wellington.

Thousands of people from all over the state and even interstate supported the 2026 Grand Hotel Wellington Show, featuring excellent and abundant entries in every section from scarecrows to hacks, pavilion record entries and livestock exhibits.

Among the highlights was the visit of four finalists in the 2026 Sydney Royal Show Young Woman contest including the winner, Louisa Gilmour of Warialda.

With her was the runner-up, Madison Luke of Hawkesbury and Libby Coles of Forbes, Paige Sedgewick of Cootamundra and Lauren Eccles of Merriwa.

This year three ladies contested the 2026 Wellington Young Woman award with Macy Everingham judged the winner with Kyotee Williams runner-up and Grace Neeves second runner-up.

But it was a grand reunion for the many former Wellington Show Girls and Young Women going back to the first contest winner of 1963 Janet Hyland, now Morely who returned for the official opening with each presented with a brand new pink ribbon to mark the occasion.

As the day stretched out into evening another surge of people flocked for the afternoon and night-time agenda featuring a live band entertainment by the Ballz and All group who kept the feet tapping from 5pm to after 9pm.

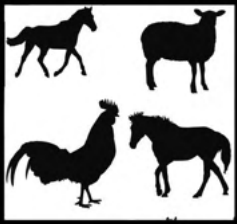

They may have been hard to hear during the Squadron Energy Fireworks, but the crowd loved the exta time, which hasn't been done before, but was a fitting finale for one of the most magnificent shows put on for Wellington in the show society's 150 years.

President Rod Dimmick and secretary Jan Wightley with their hard-working committee and section stewards determined to make this year a great success, must be heartedly congratulated for the show of our lifetime - the 2026 Grand Hotel - 150th Anniversary Wellington Show.

One would hope the excitement and interest garnered this year will continue through to the 2017 event.

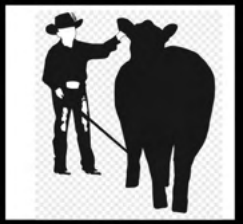

Well done Wellington Show Society.

Letter to the editor

WHO ARE today's "Working Class"?

In my social group, when we had trouble finding two coins to rub together the day after payday in the 1960's, and my weekly wage of £7 ($14 from February 1966) and a few pennies which was handed to me in an envelope as I left work on Fridays, I think I was one of the so called "working class" and I believe I still am 65 years later.

My dad was very much "working class" and often recounted rabbiting and working as a farmhand in his early years before becoming a Wool Classer, Produce Supplier and finally door-to-door Green Grocer, all very much "working class" and he and my mum raised six kids who found success in a number of careers.

In a recent contact with a good friend from those early years, my present "political leaning" was criticised.

This friend is "dyed in the wool Labor" coming from a family where her mum spent long hours every day making kids and women's clothes and her father went door-to-door in Sydney selling them, often on credit with payment terms, and you couldn't get more "working class" than that but they raised her and her sister who both independently became very, very financially successful in Restaurants, Hospitality and Tourism ventures.

These couple of examples show how these "working class" parents were clearly defined in earlier times but this clarity altered remarkably as each generation was added.

In an almost complete upending, we see multi-million-dollar family farms where owners and their wives and school-aged children are doing the work of now unaffordable former "working class" farmhands.

We see highly productive small businesses where owners are working 24/7 to cover what "working class" employees formerly did before higher paid Government Service jobs and generous Unemployment Benefits changed just who are today's real "working class".

In our own community we have witnessed good qualified tradesmen and other former valuable employees taking more financially rewarding and less unpredictable income jobs in Corrective Services.

The so called "Political Party of the Working Class", with the now fractured former two major party structure of Governing, has been provided with the power to increasingly accelerate this transition and the new "working class" are additionally experiencing an assault on the financial rewards accumulated from their hard work, development and investment.

All this along with the complete lack of support of Nation Building Infrastructure and Local Small and Medium Manufacturing is a reflection of a Government that is constituted of members who have prospered on lifelong Taxpayer funding and who are not in sync with either the past or present "working class".

Aspiration and risk are bedmates and hard work the Celebrant and the outcome is a marriage.

Success is the kid's inheritance!
Roger Everett

New voice for Geurie district

GEURIE VILLAGERS and district residents turned out in force last Sunday afternoon to endorse the formation of Geurie Village & District Association Incorporated.

The attendance book attracted 32 locals who opened their purses and wallets to pay membership fees immediately after the meeting.

With the adage of “many hands make light work” adopted as the motto guiding the new Association, incoming president Belinda Edmondson said the newly formed group will squarely focus on long-overdue investment into the provision of services, infrastructure, and amenities in the postcode of 2818.

“Regular informal morning tea gatherings of the older-folk in the village will bring back the lost connection and community that can happen in modern society,” she said.

“Potholes throughout the Geurie district were also mooted as an ongoing maintenance issue.”

During the meeting a dedicated executive and committee were elected to lead the Association’s mission of driving progress while protecting the unique character of the area.

Belinda Edmondson was elected president, Claire Booth secretary, Raelene Graham treasurer and Madeleine Cannon publicity officer.

Committee members: are Katrina Sheridan and Craig Whiteley.

The Association has established a clear, seven-point framework to guide its operations, focusing heavily on strong governance, community engagement, and local advocacy.

The formal objects of the Association are:

1. Advocacy and Representation: To act as the primary representative body for the Geurie village and district in dealings with federal authorities, state authorities, and Dubbo Regional Council, ensuring the adequate provision of services, infrastructure, and amenities.
2. Transparency and Governance: To promote transparency, accountability, and the efficient delivery of projects and services by the Dubbo Regional Council and other relevant authorities for the broad and timely benefit of the area.
3. The Public Register: To maintain a structured framework and public register to identify, document, and monitor the status of infrastructure requirements, maintenance tasks, and service obligations.
4. Public Forum and Information: To provide a non-political, transparent forum for members to discuss issues, voice concerns, and share information relevant to the district.

LEFT: Pumpkin soup was the order for all to enjoy after the formation meeting of Geurie Village & District Association last Sunday evening.

5. Preserve Local Character and Community Spirit: To foster community spirit, cooperation, and social well-being while protecting the unique rural character, heritage, and natural environment of Geurie for current and future generations.

6. First Nations Engagement: To acknowledge the traditional owners of the land and actively seek the participation and perspectives of local First Nations people in the Association’s advocacy and community projects.

7. Independence and Neutrality: To operate as a voluntary, non-partisan, and non-sectarian organisation, ensuring actions remain focused solely on the interests of the Geurie village and district.

Once formalities concluded, a warming community soup dinner was held at the Geurie Bowling Club, with locals breaking bread with elected representatives, Federal Member for Calare Andrew Gee, State Upper House representative Stephen Lawrence and Council mayor Josh Black. The next meeting of the Association will be Sunday, July 5 from 4pm to 5pm at the meeting room in The Mitchell Inn.

Publicity Officer, Madeleine Cannon said all residents who live in the 2818 postcode were welcome to join as members and attend.

“We look forward to what we can achieved with a positive mind set and local people power,” she said.

Men's Health Education Rural Van (mherv) visits Wellington

SAVING LOCAL LIVES is the objective of Rotary's Health Education Rural Van (mherv) which is coming to Wellington.

The mherv Project has been operating for more than six years travelling regional and rural NSW offering free health checkups to people who haven't seen the inside of a doctor's room since they don't remember when.

In that time, blood pressure, blood sugar and cholesterol levels may have reached seriously high levels and there are no symptom until it's too late and a heart attack or stroke strikes.

The program is focused on men and women, nobody is turned away.

The service is offered in a relaxed, confidential and informal setting.

The mherv Registered nurse conducts the tests and discusses any health concerns seated in the privacy of the van.

mherv screenings have saved many lives and improved health outcomes for many men and women throughout NSW and is operated by the Rotary Club of Warners Bay in collaboration with local NSW Rotary clubs and other local community organisations.

You're invited to take the opportunity to have a quick, free health check.

Just 10 minutes invested with mherv can save your life or the life of someone you love.

The van will be located at the Wellington Men's shed on Wednesday, May 27 from 9.30am to 3.30pm and at the car park between Cole's and Woolies on Thursday, May 28 from 9.30am to 4-15pm.

The Rotary team this year is proudly supporting DV Safe Phone.

This is a great chance for mherv to further support the community in a meaningful way.

All that's required is for people to drop their used phones into the box when mherv is in town.

Rotary will collect them at the end of the tour and send them to DV Phone for refurbishment and distribution to Women's Shelters and similar organisations.

Your old phone could save a life.

DV Safe Phone is working toward a future where domestic violence victims are empowered to live safe, connected lives through sustainable technology solutions.

Since 2020, DV Phone box have collected, repaired and distributed free mobile phones to domestic violence (DV) victims through their nationwide network of more than 500 agencies partners (DV agencies, police stations, hospitals and safe houses).

With your support, they are transforming lives, promoting sustainability, and uniting communities for real change.

Celebrating Wellington Hospital Auxiliary's 96th birthday are Michael Merritt, Steven Dyer, Lisa Hodges, Shirley Campbell, Robyn Hinton, Chrissy Wilkin and Denise Bliss.

Auxiliary hosts Orana Far West Region health forum in 96th year

WELLINGTON HOSPITAL Auxiliary recently hosted the United Hospital Auxiliaries of NSW Inc. Regional Forum Day for the Orana Far West Region at the Wellington Community Health Centre.

State President Sally Cronberger, State Treasurer Dee Hunter and Orana Far West Regional Representative Robyn Jones attended with delegates and Auxiliary members from nine branches (Collarenebri, Dunedoo, Mudgee, Coonabarabran, Narromine, Gulgong, Dubbo, Trangie, Wellington) making the Forum Day a great success.

Following registration and morning tea, the welcome to country and official welcome was delivered by Health Service Manager Steven Dyer, who spoke about the services provided by the Wellington Hospital, the Auxiliary and their connection with the community.

The official opening was performed by state member for Dubbo, Dugald Saunders, who praised the work of the Auxiliaries, their fundraising and their importance to their communities and the hospitals.

Regional representative, Robyn Jones then introduced the state president Sally Cronberger who gave her address and then together with state treasurer Dee Hunter delivered up-dates to our Policy and Procedures Manual and a powerpoint display.

It was a wonderful opportunity for Auxiliary members to have their many questions answered.

Wellington branch President, Robyn Hinton, then introduced the guest speaker, Dr Ian Spencer OAM, who was most engaging and highlighted many of the challenges faced in regional health.

During question time, Ian proved to be very informative especially in relation to some of the External Resolutions which we hope will be presented at the State Conference.

Following a most delicious lunch, the Forum was a wonderful occasion for the Wellington Auxiliary to celebrate its 96th Birthday with the singing of Happy Birthday and the cutting of a cake.

Mrs Hinton said the Wellington Hospital Auxiliary planned to continue its work for many years to come.

Branch and the Regional Representative's reports followed. The three Resolutions were then discussed and voted on and passed to be reviewed by the Central Executive.

Branch discussions, fund raising and UHA related issues then took place.

Following the drawing of the raffle and lucky door prizes, Robyn Hinton extended a vote of thanks to all who attended the Forum Day and wished everyone a safe journey home.

"I would also like to extend a 'Special Thank You' to the HSM, Steven Dyer, Hospital Staff (especially Deb for the delicious lunch) and my Auxiliary Members for helping me make the Forum Day such a success," Mrs Hinton said.

"We can achieve so much by working together."

Doctor Ian Spencer OAM, addresses the United Hospital Auxiliaries of NSW Inc. Regional Forum Day for the Orana Far West Region Forum.

State Member for Dubbo Dugald Saunders officially opens the United Hospital Auxiliaries of NSW Inc. Regional Forum Day for the Orana Far West Region Forum.

Renters better protected one year on from no-grounds evictions ban

Environmental destruction moves west

A YEAR since the state government banned no-grounds evictions for the first time, renters are experiencing greater security and stronger protections in the rental market.

As part of the Government’s landmark reforms to make renting fairer, landlords have been required to provide a valid reason to end a tenancy since May 2025 – placing a ban on no-grounds evictions.

Prior to these changes, many renters were feeling unable to assert their rights for fear of being evicted, with an estimated 45 per cent of leases ending without a reason given.

That is no longer the case.

A landlord can only end a lease if they have a genuine reason that is listed in rental laws.

These new requirements are providing greater transparency for renters and helping to build confidence in the rental market.

Since the government passed legislation to ban no-grounds evictions a year ago, only around 30 termination matters investigated by the NSW Rental Taskforce were found to be in breach of the new laws.

Where non-compliance has occurred, fines totalling $65,450 have been issued.

Compulsory reporting to NSW Fair Trading shows 84pc of tenancies are also ending through renters’ choice rather than landlord action.

These changes are having direct and tangible benefits for renters, ensuring they are better informed of their rights and more likely to escalate matters that require intervention by the regulator.

Renters are increasingly seeking information about their rights and reporting potential breaches, with visits to the NSW Government’s rental website increasing tenfold.

The Rental Taskforce complements this support by prioritising compliance and enforcement action against no-grounds evictions, and actively intervening to ensure compliance with the new laws.

Since the Rental Taskforce commenced one year ago, NSW Fair Trading has shifted to a more proactive model, identifying 7712 rental compliance matters and issuing almost 600 fines so far to the value of nearly $421,650.

This represents around 15 times the level of rental compliance activity recorded the year before.

Backed by an $8.4 million investment, the Taskforce is helping renters get advice earlier, resolve issues faster, stay in their homes where possible, and have greater confidence that rental protections are being actively enforced.

The Government has: Banned no-grounds evictions; Limited rent increases to once a year; Ensured renters have fee-free ways to pay rent; Banned fees for background checks; Made it easier to have pets in rentals.

I WAS back at the Durrigere State Conservation Area, just north of Mudgee and Ulan, and the scene is devastating.

The NSW Government, EnergyCo, and ACEREZ, have mowed down what looks like 100,000-plus trees in a state protected sanctuary that was meant to be preserved for future generations.

From the air, the scar on the landscape is clear - a massive corridor of destruction where thick forest once stood.

Now, it’s just piles of woodchips stretching as far as the eye can see.

The destruction is now moving further west, back towards Merotherie Road, creating a wasteland in its wake and no one is being held to account.

I don’t think people in the city truly grasp the sheer scale of what the NSW Government is allowing here.

It’s unbelievable to see our local environment stripped so bare.

WHEN MY kids were young, I tried to give them a few gifts that might last a lifetime.

Not the usual toys that end up in the garage sale pile, but things I thought would still matter decades later.

At birth, I registered each of their names as a domain name. I also signed them up for membership of the Sydney Cricket Ground, knowing the waiting list was famously longer than some home loans.

Then, when they started school, I added another item to the list. Touch typing.

I bought an Australian program called TypeQuick and made sure each child learned to type properly. I wanted them to type at 100 words per minute with 98 per cent accuracy. At the time, it seemed obvious this would become one of the defining skills of adult life. The world was moving onto screens. Fast typing looked as important as handwriting once was.

Today they still appreciate the domain names and regularly head off to the SCG. But the typing? It may not have been the lifelong superpower I imagined.

The keyboard is starting to disappear.

Across homes and offices, people are increasingly talking to computers instead of typing at them.

Not just asking simple questions like “What’s the weather?” but dictating emails, writing reports, generating computer code and even brainstorming ideas aloud.

The rise of artificial intelligence has made voice recognition astonishingly accurate, to the point where rambling thoughts can now be turned into polished writing in seconds.

The strange part is not the technology itself. It is the sound of it.

Modern offices are starting to resemble call centres, with workers muttering into headsets while AI quietly tidies up their thoughts into coherent prose.

Some developers now write software almost entirely by speaking.

Others pace around the room talking through ideas while their computers obediently convert speech into documents.

For decades, computers demanded precision. Every command had to be typed correctly. Every file saved carefully. We adapted ourselves to suit the machine.

But artificial intelligence flips that relationship around. Now the machine adapts to us.

That shift could be much bigger than it first appears.

Typing has always been slightly unnatural. Humans evolved to talk, gesture and tell stories around campfires - not hammer tiny plastic keys under fluorescent lights.

Voice interaction feels more instinctive because it taps into our oldest communication system.

Children learn to speak years before they learn to write. Elderly people who struggle with keyboards can often still hold rich conversations.

Voice technology suddenly makes computers accessible in a far more human way. Of course, there is a downside. If you think open-plan offices are noisy now, wait until everyone is talking to AI assistants all day long.

The future workplace may sound like a room full of people rehearsing monologues for an audition. There is already growing etiquette around “AI whispering”, with people buying microphones, noise-cancelling headphones and even foot pedals to activate dictation software discreetly.

And yet, awkward as it feels today, history suggests we adapt quickly to strange behaviours. The first people talking loudly on mobile phones in public looked ridiculous too. The bigger question is what happens when speaking becomes our primary interface with technology.

If computers can understand conversation naturally, screens themselves may become less important. Instead of learning software menus or memorising commands, we may simply talk our way through life.

Your car, your home, your bank and your workplace systems could all become conversational companions rather than tools you operate manually.

Ironically, the future of computing may look less like typing and more like chatting with another person.

Happenings at St Mary’s Catholic School

Local author inspires young writers

STUDENTS AT St Mary’s Catholic School recently enjoyed a memorable visit from local author Peta Wilson, who spent time with Stage 2 students sharing her much-loved books ‘A New Crown’ and ‘My First Dawn Service’.

During the visit, Peta spoke with students about the inspiration behind her stories, her family history, and the creative process involved in becoming an author.

Students were highly engaged throughout the session and were captivated by the meaningful themes explored in her books.

The visit not only encouraged a love of reading, but also inspired many students to begin thinking creatively and explore storytelling for themselves.

St Mary’s would like to extend a very sincere thank you to Peta, not only for generously donating copies of her books to the school, but also for so willingly giving her time to visit, share her experiences, and connect with students.

Her warmth, generosity, and passion for storytelling made the experience truly special for everyone involved.

“These opportunities are incredibly valuable for our students,” St Mary’s Teacher Librarian Hayley Jones said.

“Having the chance to meet an author in person helps bring stories to life and inspires students to see themselves as readers, writers and creators.”

The donated books will now become part of the school’s collection, allowing students to continue enjoying and learning from Peta’s stories for years to come.

From School Captain to Doctor: Dr Georgia Pace returns to inspire students

STUDENTS AT St Mary’s Catholic School recently had the unique opportunity to learn some practical medical skills thanks to former school captain, Dr Georgia Pace.

Dr Pace generously volunteered her time and expertise to run a hands-on session demonstrating how to remove stitches, with bananas creatively used as the “patients” for the activity.

The engaging and interactive experience gave students an insight into the medical profession while allowing them to develop practical skills in a fun and memorable way. The session was met with great enthusiasm from students, who thoroughly enjoyed the opportunity to learn from a former student now working in the medical field.

It also highlighted the strong connections that past students continue to maintain with the school community.

St Mary’s extends its sincere thanks to Dr Pace for giving back to the school and inspiring students through her knowledge, encouragement, and willingness to share her experiences.

Ukulele Orchestra comes to Wellington

FROM Bach to Michael Jackson, the unique sound of seven ukuleles is heading to Wellington – and it’s a performance not to be missed.

The Australian Ukulele Orchestra (AUO) is bringing something truly special with them.

Founded and led by Musical Director Ian Porter, the AUO is a unique voice in the Australian music scene; a tight-knit Sydney-based ensemble of just seven musicians who together create a sound far bigger than their numbers suggest.

From Bach to Michael Jackson, the AUO performs and sings complex, inventive arrangements that have never been heard quite like this before.

Their music is reimagined, fresh, and utterly captivating.

You can already catch their magic with two albums now streaming on all major platforms.

On Saturday, May 23, they bring their show to Wellington's Soldiers Memorial Club for a family-friendly afternoon concert running from 2pm to 4pm.

You might even spot a familiar face: near-local Graeme Hancock is one of the seven, giving Wellington its own connection to this remarkable group.

The show wraps up with a rousing sing-along for everyone, and if you have a ukulele at home, dust it off and bring it along for the second hour strum-along.

Tickets at the door: Adults $30, Children $15. Groups of 4-plus $25 each.

ABC reports

STATE DAM manager Water New South Wales says it’s considering a water transfer from Windamere Dam to Burrendong as early as November.

Storage at Burrendong Dam currently sits at 27 per cent, and if there’s no significant inflows, it could trigger a transfer under water sharing rules.

The department modelling shows at least

70 gigalites would be retained in Windamere, which is enough to support the Cudgegong Valley for up to seven years.

But Mid Western Regional Council general manager Brad Cam says it’s not enough and the council doesn’t want bulk water transfers topping up Burrendong at the expense of the Mid-Western community.

St Mary’s students shine at Diocesan cross country

SOME OUTSTANDING results at the recent Diocesan Cross Country events held in Orange and Coolah.

Students from St Mary’s have achieved outstanding results with several earning the opportunity to compete at the next level.

A huge congratulations goes to Jasper T, who claimed first place in the Under 12 Boys event, and Sophie F, who finished an impressive sixth in her division.

Both students have now qualified to compete at the Polding Cross Country Trials in Sydney.

Congratulations also to Pat D, who took out first place in the Under 13 Boys event at the Secondary Diocesan Cross Country in Orange.

Pat’s outstanding performance has earned him selection to compete at the CCC Cross Country Championships in Sydney.

These achievements are particularly remarkable for a small school, highlighting the dedication, perseverance, and talent of St Mary’s students.

Competing against students from much larger schools across the Diocese, the students represented their school community with pride, determination, and excellent sportsmanship.

St Mary’s is incredibly proud of all students who participated in the events and congratulates Jasper, Sophie, and Pat on their exceptional success.

The school community wishes them the very best as they prepare to compete at the next level in Sydney.

Scientific observation on the Age of the Earth

WELLINGTON BAPTIST Church is hosting Doctor Mark Harwood as a speaker on Saturday evening May 23 at 6pm.

Mark will be speaking on the evidence from the Bible and the evidence from Scientific observation on the Age of the Earth and the evidence of a designer in the creation of the world and the universe around us.

“We appreciate, that these topics are controversial and can be the cause of much debate and disagreement,” a church spokesperson said.

“However, the Scientific method, at the heart of scientific advancement, challenges our thinking and is designed to present hypotheses that challenge current frontiers.

“Evolution and Billions of years are the common modern narrative on how all that we see has come into being.

“Dr Harwood, will challenge those ideas from scientific evidence and the Bible.

“We realise that these topics have the potential to be viewed with great scepticism from many of the readers.

“However, please feel free to come along and be challenged.”

There will be opportunities to talk with Dr Harwood, over a light supper after the talk.

150th Wellington Show
IT WAS a beautiful day for a very special event on Saturday - the 150th Wellington Show!
A BIG congratulations to the entire committee of the Wellington Show Society for such a well-run program of events.
From tractors to poultry, flowers, produce, cattle, horses and even bonsai trees, there was truly something to cater to everyone’s interest.
Congratulations also goes to Wellington’s Young Woman for 2026, Macy Everingham, who I’m sure will do an amazing job as Wellington’s representative.
This weekend it’s Dubbo’s turn, and there’ll be plenty to see and do to keep the whole family entertained.
Agriculture on show all three days, stunning pavilion displays, baby animals, rides, performances and show food galore!

Labor rort program
Last week, a damning inquiry report found the Minns Labor Government used taxpayer money for political purposes ahead of the last election.

In its final report on Labor’s $37.2 million Local Small Commitments Allocation program, the Public Accountability and Works Committee found the Government has repeatedly undermined community trust, and from the evidence given during the inquiry by Labor candidates – including the candidate for the Dubbo electorate – it’s clear that this program lacked a rigorous public benefit assessment and robust conflict of interest processes both before and after the election, which allowed projects with obvious conflicts of interest to be funded under the program.
What’s more shocking is that when caught out, the Minns Government tried to cover up the wrongdoing rather than come clean.
Senior Minister, John Graham, was found to have misled the Parliament not once, not twice, but three times when questioned on various aspects of the program, while two of the senior Labor staff who did front the inquiry were found to be uncooperative and should be referred to the appropriate bodies to consider prosecutions for lying under oath.

The report also found the Minns Labor Government used disappearing messaging applications to avoid compliance with parliamentary orders for documents and withheld documents they were ordered to produce.
This is just another example of a dodgy and dishonest Government.
The people of NSW deserve better.

Volunteer Week
It’s National Volunteer Week!
This year’s theme is ‘Your Year to Volunteer,’ which honours the contributions of volunteers and invites people across Australia to make 2026 a year of meaningful involvement, in ways that work for them.
Thank you to everyone in the Dubbo electorate who shares their time and energy with our community.
From our emergency response teams to running the monthly trivia night, there are so many ways you create connection and a lasting impact in our communities.
As part of National Volunteer Week, the very first Australian Volunteer of the Year Award will also be presented by the Governor General and the Dubbo electorate’s Molly Croft is one of the eight finalists in the running.

Molly was named NSW Young Volunteer of the Year and NSW Volunteer of the Year in December, and at just 19-years-old, is the youngest of the finalists in the running for Australian Volunteer of the Year.
Congratulations Molly!

Apprentice Scholarships
Do you know an outstanding first-year apprentice who could use a hand up?
Created by the Coalition Government in 2014, the Bert Evans Apprentice Scholarship provides financial assistance to passionate apprentices who are experiencing hardship.

CONGRATULATIONS WELLINGTON
SHOW ON YOUR 150TH ANNIVERSARY!

We had an awesome 150th Wellington Show on last Saturday!

The show was made extra special with the reunion of past winners of the Wellington Showgirl and Young Woman competition - from the 1960s all the way through to the present!

The exhibits were outstanding, and I enjoyed catching up with Sylvie Laurie who talked me through the work she put into her awarding winning scarecrow!

Thank you Wellington Show Society for a wonderful show and 150 years of magic!

You just can't beat a country show!

SHOUT OUT TO THE GEURIE VILLAGE &
DISTRICT ASSOCIATION

On Sunday night I was delighted to be in Geurie for the incorporation of the new Geurie Village & District Association.

The group aims to complement Geurie's wonderful community organisations in advocating for services and infrastructure for the area.

One of the issues discussed was EnergyCo's plans to install powerlines in the area for the Renewable Energy Zone and the fate of local wildlife such as raptors. Everyone knows what happened at Merotherie Road.

The issue has arisen because it appears that when you take down local native trees, environmental offsets don't need to be implemented for 5 years and even then can involve planting or leasing trees as far south as Albury.

A letter has been sent to EnergyCo but there's been no reply.

After the meeting we all enjoyed some delicious homemade soup!

Nice one Geurie!

I'm looking forward to working with the Association on key issues facing the area.

GREAT WESTERN
HIGHWAY CLOSURE
BUSINESSES TO THE BRINK

In Parliament last week I continued the fight for a support package to assist our businesses that are going broke because of the Great Western Highway closure. Here is my speech:

"Our local businesses are going broke because of the indefinite closure of the Great Western Highway at Victoria Pass. There was not one dollar of support for them in the budget last week.

This is as appalling and heartless as it is disgraceful. Successive governments always knew that this 200-year-old bridge built by convicts was going to fail, but they did nothing about it except watch it crumble and continually kick the can down the road to save money. It seems that, for some people in power, this is just a political game that's out of sight and out of mind.

But the livelihoods of our business owners and their families is not a game. What's it going to take? How many businesses need to bleed out and die before governments take action? How many lives need to be destroyed? How many people need to be out of work? How many families need to be unable to put food on the table? Tell us how many it will take.

What is so wrong with political parties and governments today that they can't even help the very people whose lives and livelihoods they're wrecking through their negligence.

If this debacle were unfolding in one of their precious city seats, the state and federal governments would have support in place in a heartbeat. Their cruel indifference and inaction damns them, and we have had enough".

AS I pen this column today (Monday) at noon I measured 4mm of rain. (Tuesday morning 35mm).

Fertiliser shortage and rising cost may take three to four years to get back to normal, especially urea. Our state government must take steps to improve supply, without urgent action, the next crisis facing NSW and Australia could well be food and fibre.

A stable and affordable supply of fertiliser and fuel is critical not only for local producers but also for broader food security across the state and the nation. Governments must plan ahead.

Feral cats
Wild cats are a pest animal because they hunt and prey on native species such as bilby, mala and numbat. The reasons why feral cats are such a dangerous invasive species are: they can colonise and survive in a wide range of habitats; Eat a wide range of prey and can survive with limited access to drinking water; Reproduce throughout their adult lives and can breed in any season; Kill and eat mammals, birds, reptiles, amphibians and insects; spread infectious diseases to humans, live-stock and native species.

You can distinguish between feral (wild) cats and domestic cats by the colour of the fleshy side of their skin. Wild cats are green whilst domestic cats are clear.

Easing market still at almost five-year highs

A SOFTER tone was seen in last week’s wool market where the EMI fell 10 cents in both the local and US indicators. Merino fleece again was under the most pressure, giving back between 7 and 41 cents nationally, with the medium to broader types experiencing the heavier losses. The weekness was in Tuesday’s opening with all three centres falling. Day two held reasonably firm in Sydney and Melbourne, with mainly single digit falls and a couple of increases in Merino indicators. Skirtings continue to be favourable to the growers in price with buyers pushing best style pieces up to 10 cents better, such is the continued demand in the knitwear sector. Cardings and crossbreds also benefited in growers’ favour, compounding the week-on-week improvement that both types have shown. Cardings in particular have had an unbroken run of rises since Christmas recess. Buyers indicate the last few weeks reflected the mindset of processors knowing that supply is going to be an issue in future, but that trading conditions are now starting to tighten a little bit more since demand has pulled out stock held since the beginning of this year. Demand is still bullish, however purchasing is becoming more selective, with price spreads now evident between the same micron in Merino fleece. Style, vegetable matter type and quantity, variation in both micron and length, predicted combing length in the top, as well as predicted washing length are all figures that buyers use when determining the price on each lot. The difference that can be seen between 0.5 and 1.5 percent VM can be as much as 100 cents clean, with delivery types determining the pricing a lot of the time. All these variations are in play when exporters and top makers are purchasing and delivering wool, with both hoping that they make money on the trade. It’s interesting to reflect on how much upward change in price we have seen year on year, with the EMI in Australian dollars up 57.8% compared to this time last year, and a massive 76.2% stronger in US dollar terms. When looking at the percentile rankings over the past five years, five of the six Micon Price Guides are 98% or better, with the 17 MPG at 86%. Historically the last two rallies over the previous 20 years had the EMI in US terms reach 1500 cents, currently at 1358, so we might still have a surge left to come. Just over 31,000 bales this week and Macwool and Carmichael offered almost 800 bales on Tuesday.

With light rain falling and forecast for more, numbers reduced by 3400. Fair quality yarding with odd pens of well finished trade and heavy lambs, with large numbers of lightweight lambs lacking condition. Most regular buyers operating with additional restocker support from the south. Light lambs to processors $15 dearer, 12kg to 18kg 2-scores $170 to $220. Trade lambs $14 dearer, 20kg to 24kg $210 to $295, ave 1090c to 1180c/kg cwt. Heavy lambs firm to $8 dearer, over 24kg $280 to $342, ave 1120c to 1180c/kg cwt. Few trade Merino $5 dearer, $198 to $246. Lambs to restockers and feeders $15 dearer, feeders paying $184 to $26, restockers paid $95 to $251. Merino hoggets to $295.

MUTTON.. 4655 mixed mutton, most grades $15 to $20 dearer. Merino ewes $84 to $286, crossbred ewes $140 to $317. Merino wethers $168 to $288, very heavy crossbred wethers to $320. Most of better mutton ave 820c and 920c/kg cwt. WOOL.. Last week’s offering reduced to 33,000 bales. Tuesday’s opening delivered a mixed bag with some categories recording small gains and others going backwards a few cents. NRI managed to rise 7 cents for the day. Wednesday’s sale was similar pattern but losses outweighed the gains, and the indicator lost 13 cents. Merino carding and crossbred types outperformed the rest of the of the market. Losses in the Southern region were double what the North experienced pulling the headline EMI back by 11 cents for the week. The Aussie dollar strengthened against the US closing the selling week at its highest level in four years. When looked at in US dollars the EMI climbed 15 cents. 31,329 bales sold with a passed-in rate of 7.3%. Merino fleece types made up the largest portion of passed in wool as heavier discounts were applied to “off” type lots with higher VM, lower strength and unsourable colour. Major buyers included PJ Morris, Techwool and Sequioa. This week will be interesting with just over 31,000 bales on offer. The Southern region fell harder than the North and technically they should attempt to realign.

Racing at Parkes

WAGGA WAGGA based Darrell Burnet, a relatively newcomer to the trainers’ ranks who landed his first winner in 2021, has already become well established and achieved one of his best results on Sunday, May 17 when his six-year-old gelding Astunner won the $40,000 Parkes Services Club-Parkes Cup.

Given a great run behind the leader by Mikayla Weir, Astunner ($9) overhauled the Clint Lundholm, Dubbo trained Stockholm (Zoe Hunt, $16) to win the 1600m Cup by almost two lengths with Jasper’s Way (Jake Pracey-Holmes, $6) running on well for third.

Jasper’s Way is trained at Dubbo by Michael Mulholland who had earlier unveiled the very impressive debut maker Heaps Of Notice to win the opening event.

A six-year-old mare, Heaps Of Notice had revealed outstanding potential when beating the very good gallopers Lockdown Gamble and Quasimodo in a barrier trial at Dubbo and started the $2.20 favourite for the 1000m McPhersons Parts & Service/ Parkes Taxis Maiden Handicap.

Settling well back, Heaps Of Notice under the expert guidance of talented apprentice Jacob Stiff, steamed home to win by a half-length from the Sharon Jeffries, Parkes trained Kingdom Heart (Grant Buckley, $8) with Nucleaire (Jake Pracey-Holmes, $11) in third place.

The 1400m Parkes Services Club Super Maiden Plate had a $22,000 first prize however the owners of the winner were entitled to receive a $100,000 Inglis Extra Bonus if their horse was qualified for the bonus.

Parkes had been selected as one of the hosts for the Inglis series and for the second year in succession at Parkes the $100,000 bonus was won by a qualifier, this time by the Matthew Dale, Goulburn trained grey filly Graynita.

Taking the lead from Yeszem in the straight, Graynita (Louise Day, $31) held off by a half-length the fast-finishing Spiritual Star (Brodie Loy, $41) and the Sydney trained Che Ole (Chad Lever, $3.10 equal fav).

Owned by the McMahon family from Tullamore, the seven-year-old mare Miss Jennifer staged a good performance to win the feature sprint, the 1200m Coachman Hotel Punters Club Satellite Handicap.

Coming from the tail of the field with a strong run on the inside, the Danny Williams, Goulburn trained Miss Jennifer (Mathew Cahill, $6 to $4.40) arrived in time to beat Panic (Louise Day, $3.70 fav) and Mountain Top (Jacob Stiff, $5.50).

Rain during the day softened the track however trainers and jockeys agreed the racing surface was outstanding for the eight-race meeting.

Parkes will next race on Saturday, June 6 with the long weekend meeting traditionally attracting a huge crowd.

Meanwhile, the Cobar Cup is on Saturday and Wellington TAB the following Tuesday.
