Stuart Town remembers former resident

A PLAQUE mounted on a feature seat in Moxon Park was unveiled last Saturday by the Mayor and relatives in memory of the late Keith Pryde, a real 'man from Ironbark'.

Keith lived in Stuart Town for almost six decades, and was deeply connected to the community through both his own contributions and those of his family.

His mother was the publican of the Ironbark Inn for over a decade, during which time Keith worked alongside her and became well known to locals and visitors alike.

Keith's family played a significant role in shaping the town's community spirit.

His mother, Hazel, established the annual ANZAC Day march and service in Stuart Town, a tradition that proudly continues today.

She also founded the town's Mardi Gras Parade and the Ironbark Fishing Club, of which Keith was a proud and active member.

Keith not only had an affiliation with Stuart Town, he had a strong involvement with the surrounding towns. He spent his early years with his mother who ran the Molong Hotel which she had before moving onto Stuart Town, with his mother taking over the Ironbark Inn Hotel in Stuart Town (1966 to 1989).

Keith attended Wellington High School for a short time before going to Scots College Bathurst. This was the beginnings and makings of the man we call Keithy!

He worked for 25 years at Burrendong Dam and Mookerawa Water Parks, contributing to important local infrastructure and tourism.

Beyond his formal work, he was always willing to help with community events and to support the town during times of need or disaster. Many residents will fondly remember Keith providing his beloved Mini Moke to transport Santa for the annual Stuart Town Christmas Tree celebrations, bringing joy to generations of local children and families.

Keith's story is not only a story of a modern man from Ironbark, but is also a love story. He met his wife Marilyn in 1972, at all places - The Ironbark Inn.

Marilyn had come to Stuart Town from Wellington by train with her mother and called into the Hotel. It all started from that moment and Marilyn moved with her mother soon after to Stuart Town.

The relationship not only blossomed but also moved very quickly, when they married in June 1973 at Stuart Town Church of England. You guessed it, the reception was of course at the Ironbark Inn.

That was the beginning of a lifelong relationship. In 1974, their first child Sharon was born, followed in 1976 by their second child, Nicole, and then in 1986 their final child

Mayoral Column

Mayor responds to last week's 'The Leader's Opinion'

I NOTE The Leader's Opinion piece from last week regarding Australia Day and will provide further detail that didn't make it into that column, either because it wasn't offered by the person/s providing the information, but nor was there a clarifying phone call to myself to check the facts of the matter prior to publication.

Actually, despite me calling the editor's mobile at 3.24pm on Friday 6 November, as at 8.54amTuesday 10 November 2026 when this column was submitted, I still have not had the pleasure of a return call.

Staff brought a report to the 22 September 2026 Ordinary Meeting of Council that proposed an Australia Day ceremony in Dubbo on 26 January, with awards representing the entire Local Government Area (Dubbo, Wellington and the villages).

A fund of $35,000 would be provided to the Wellington Australia Day Committee to host a Wellington Australia Day ceremony and event exactly the way that the community wanted. And the awards would have been as official as the ceremony in Dubbo and everywhere else around Australia that is supplied with official awards from the National Australia Day Council – just like in Stuart Town last January.

I recall that this newspaper wasn't in favour of that idea, and Councillor Richard Ivey wasn't either. Councillor Matthew Dickerson brought an alternative motion to the 22 September Meeting, which Councillor Ivey seconded, and was adopted.

I voted against. That motion bound Council to separate Dubbo and Wellington events organised by Council, and separate Awards Committees to determine award recipients.

Point 8 being: Continue to utilise two separate Australia Day Awards Committees; the existing Dubbo Australia Day Awards Committee and the existing Wellington Australia Day Awards Committee; with each committee separately deliberating upon and determining the Australia Day Award recipients for its respective community.

And then Point 9 reads: Make the necessary operational and budgetary arrangements, through the General Manager, to implement this model.

Less than 24 hours after the Council resolution, Cr Ivey emails the General Manager and Councillors with his thoughts on how council staff should operationally implement what had just been resolved.

Cr Ivey had the opportunity to include all his extra wish list for expanding the role of the Awards Committee in the resolution the night before.

The other option available under the Local Government Act 1993 is to admit a mistake was made in the resolution and rescind the resolution at later meeting.

Or wait three months and then bring another motion to override what had just been adopted.

But for whatever reason Cr Ivey didn't pursue those avenues and instead sought to move a Notice of Motion at the October Ordinary Council Meeting to 'correct' the September resolution.

Council Staff sought costly legal advice and Cr Ivey's motion was ruled unlawful.

I'd be very surprised if Council Staff then didn't provide Cr Ivey with help in writing a lawful motion.

Interestingly, the motion Cr Ivey supplied to Councillors on 19 October 2026 contains 6 points, where the one printed in the WDL last week had 9 points.

In the 27 October Ordinary Council Meeting, Cr Matthew Dickerson attempted to move an Urgency Motion to expand the role of the Wellington Australia Day Committee.

I correctly ruled that this didn't meet the requirements of an Urgent motion.

Subsequent expensive external legal advice determined this motion unlawful too.

So Cr Dickerson, presumably with approval of Cr Ivey as Seconder of the motion, has amended what will be presented to Councillors on Tuesday 10 November.

I note this fact wasn't reported in the WDL story last week.

Given that legal advice had to be sought and the motion amended to make it legal, there's no wonder that it took extra time and the full 14 days for the meeting to be held.

The moral of the story is: if a councillor has regrets after resolving something and wants to change or add to a resolution, then be big enough to admit a mistake was made, follow the Local Government Act 1993 and rescind the resolution or wait the three months to override with another motion.

And when giving operational control to the Staff to organise a civic ceremony, make sure you specify how it is to be run.

I'd hate to think how much ratepayer money has been expended on external legal advice and the many hours of staff time sorting this out.

Letter to Editor

IN A discussion recently a way to overcome declining productivity in our country arose and I was reminded of a solution used by a previous employer in a past life.

I was employed in export development and the Canadian based company had manufacturing plants in Trois Rivières and Warwick in Eastern Canada from which they wanted to increase exports.

They also had manufacturing Plants in Starkville in Mississippi and Quincy in Florida in the United States catering for the US market.

The plant in Quincy was not producing and it was decided to replace the Management and a Canadian from their high output Warwick facility was controversially chosen.

Elston, the almost seven-foot tall, wide shouldered, extremely fit, no-nonsense guy with his big fancy Fat Wheeled high lift 7-litre Truck with mounted guns covering the rear window, snow mobiles and Quad bikes, was the reluctant appointee to improve the output.

I got to like Elston and went hunting and snow-boarding with him on a few occasions, in Canada.

He was religious and very popular at work and in his community in beautiful French Speaking Eastern Canada where Maple Syrup abounds and outdoor life is enviable.

There was a "baptism of fire" on his arrival in Quincy, firstly because he was French Canadian and secondly, he was not going to be allowed to change the comfortable workplace that the employees had established for themselves.

He apparently quickly summed up the situation and, in his words, "invited a few out to the car park for a chat" and it wasn't long before he encountered snakes thrown on his lawn, porch and in his letter box, and his letterbox being continually run down by vehicles.

In many ways Elston was like a big kid that loved his toys and big challenges and when he told me of the instance when he had a very deep hole dug and concreted a 6-inch steel pole into the ground and mounted his new letterbox on it resulting in four guys being caught when they damaged their truck beyond driveable trying to knock down the letterbox I "shook my head".

The company were sponsors of the Florida State University Football Team and I was invited by Elston a few years later to a game and to see the result of his work, which was absolutely incredible, and the Quincy Plant had attained the highest level of output of all four plants for the second year in a row and many of his senior staff joined us at the game.

Solutions such as this are a way of the past and the last time I saw Elston, many years ago, among many things he said "change ain't easy and can get a bit rough but in the end Management have to run the show, not workers and politicians, but Management should always listen to those doing the work and reward them appropriately."

Such was life! Roger Everett

Birth registrations up 2.6pc in 2025

THERE WERE 299,903 registered births in 2025, up 7585 from the year before, according to data released by the Australian Bureau of Statistics (ABS).

Beidar Cho, ABS head of population statistics, said the total fertility rate increased slightly in 2025, but remained at historically low levels despite the rise in birth registrations.

"The total fertility rate is now 1.497, up from 1.481 babies per woman in 2024," Ms Cho said.

"Tasmania recorded the highest total fertility rate in 2025 at 1.568 babies per woman, while the Australian Capital Territory recorded the lowest at 1.283 babies per woman.

"This is the third consecutive year the total fertility rate for Australia has been below 1.5 and is well below the 1.8 babies per woman seen a decade earlier in 2015.

"Total fertility rates have declined across all states and territories over the past 10 years. The largest declines were in the Northern Territory and Australian Capital Territory, while Victoria and New South Wales recorded the smallest declines.

"In 2025, the total fertility rate for mothers who were Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander was 2.234 babies per woman. There were 26,733 Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Australian births, which made up 8.9per cent of all births."

The number of women of childbearing age increased from 5.7 million in 2015 to 6.6 million in 2025.

The total fertility rate required for replacement is considered to be around 2.1 babies per woman to replace herself and her partner in the absence of overseas migration.

Changes in New South Wales and Western Australian birth registration processing times were partly responsible for the higher than usual birth registrations in 2025.

Bird Nerds – People's Choice

AND THE people have spoken - in a landslide!

Wellington Arts is delighted to announce that Crimson Rosella, a stunning and vibrant artwork created by an inmate from Macquarie Correctional Centre, has won the People's Choice Award at recent 2026 Bird Nerds Exhibition.

Wellington Arts has enjoyed a strong and valued relationship with Macquarie Correctional Centre, through the development and success of the ConArtists exhibitions.

This overwhelming vote of support is a wonderful reminder that creativity knows no boundaries, and that art has the power to connect us all.

The Bird Nerds art exhibition was conducted by Wellington Arts in association with Mid Macquarie Landcare at the Wellington Soldiers Memorial Club's auditorium for a week from October 17 (see results in WDL October 22 edition).

Many hundreds of art lovers and those just inquisitive attended the exhibition over the period.

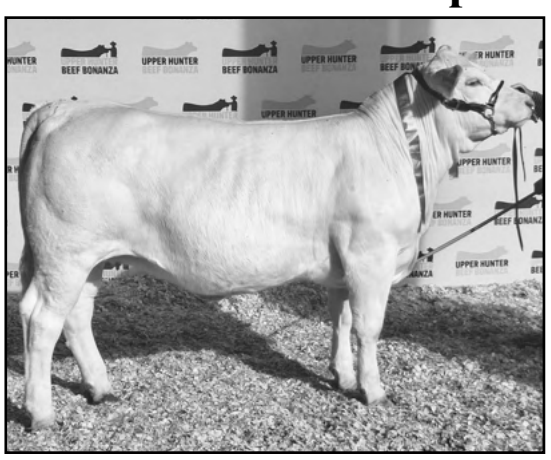

High School heifer - carcase champion

WELLINGTON HIGH School's agriculture section is back in the news taking out the champion carcase of the 2026 Upper Hunter Beef Bonanza competition at Scone.

The school prepared the Myona Charolais heifer to be awarded second in her live-section class.

However, the grandest of accolades were bestowed when the heifer's carcase became champion of the show.

The high school has been very fortunate that students have prepared many Myona stud and commercial cattle from Coonamble with success for several years.

Garden winners to be celebrated

SEVENTEEN GARDENS, each with its own unique charm and character, were entered in the Rotary/Wellington & District Leader Garden Competition, and the winners will be announced next Tuesday.

The Grand Hotel will be the venue for the award presentation evening on Tuesday, November 17.

This year's competition attracted 17 entries from Geurie through Wellington and Yeoval to beyond Stuart Town, each showcasing a wonderful variety of gardens and the dedication of local gardeners.

The competition offered a diverse mix of categories, celebrating everything from beautifully kept lawns and creative features to children's garden patches.

Judge Lorraine Holland from Dubbo certainly had a big day, with recent judging taking a full 12 hours, from 8 am to 8 pm.

Travelling across the district to visit all 17 entries, Lorraine was faced with the difficult task of selecting winners from an impressive range of gardens, each with its own unique charm and character.

The presentation evening will also feature a special talk from representatives of Macquarie Correctional Centre, who will share insights into the gardening activities undertaken by inmates and the work involved in developing and maintaining their gardens.

Rotarian Beth Hattenfels, competition organiser, said she was delighted with the response.

"It's wonderful to see the pride people take in their gardens, whether they're large country gardens or smaller town gardens," she said.

"The time, effort and love that goes into them is something worth celebrating, and we're very grateful to everyone who entered and helped make this year's competition such a success."

The Rotary Club of Wellington extends its sincere thanks to Sharon Wilson and Mark Griggs of the Wellington & District Leader for their valued co-sponsorship and ongoing support of the competition.

Rotary also thanks judge Lorraine Holland for her time, expertise and dedication, along with all the gardeners who generously opened their gardens for judging.

The presentation evening promises to be a wonderful celebration of gardening, community spirit and local pride.

Wellington Arts and Crafts celebrate 60 years

A GATHERING of arts and crafts enthusiasts who regularly meet at the Anglican Church's small hall off Warne Street celebrated 60 years of the Wellington Arts and Crafts Association on Thursday, October 29.

The group was formed at a meeting convened by the Wellington Arts Council on December 12, 1966, but association members decided to bring the anniversary forward so it would not clash with the pre-Christmas rush.

See story on Page 5 of the Wellington & District Leader, October 22 edition.

Nigel, with all being born at Wellington Hospital.

All their children have spent the majority of their lives in Stuart Town. They attended Stuart Town Primary School and Wellington High School and proudly will always consider themselves all to be passionate Stuart Town locals and also proudly loved their father.

Keith was a proud grandfather to his nine grandchildren.

His life was one of service, connection and quiet contribution.

The memorial seat would provide a lasting tribute to his lifelong association with Stuart Town and offer a place for residents and visitors to pause, reflect and remember someone who gave so much to the town.

It should be noted that whilst Keith did leave Stuart Town in 2020 he did so under great sufferance, he never wanted to leave his beloved town.

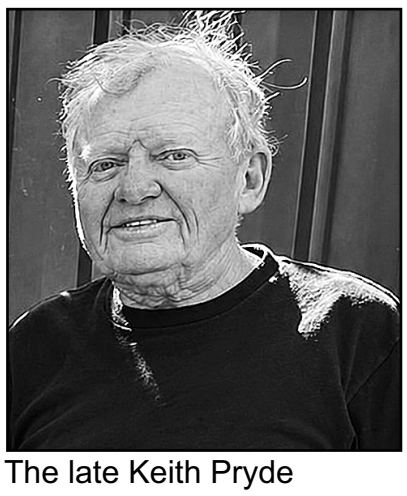

Keith's health was on the decline and reluctantly he agreed to move closer to Orange in order to get the medical attention he so badly needed.

Keith sadly passed in November 2025, with his family by his bedside.

Stuart Town always had a place in Keith's heart and memories and last Saturday was an opportunity to reflect and honour him.

We also think it ironic that Keith also runs parallel to the famous poem by Banjo Paterson, as we see Keith as "The Man from Ironbark'.

He was an absolute character, practical joke player and had a big heart. The poem relates the experiences of a man from the bush who visits Sydney and becomes the subject of a practical joke by a mischievous barber.

The late Keith Pryde

"There were some gilded youths that sat along the barber's wall, their eyes were dull, their heads were flat, they had no brains at all" — the barber pretends to cut the bushman's throat by slashing his newly-shaven neck using the back of his razor that had been heated in boiling water.

While making his displeasure known, a peeler man [i.e. policeman] who heard the din came in to see the show. He tried to run the bushman in, but he refused to go.

The barber confesses that he was playing a joke, and the bushman, unconvinced, returns to Ironbark, where, due to his accounts of his Sydney experiences, "flowing beards are all the go".

Australians buying more fruit and fewer vegetables

AUSTRALIANS BOUGHT more fruit and fewer vegetables in 2024-25 compared to the previous financial year, according to new data released by the Australian Bureau of Statistics (ABS).

Julie Watkinson, ABS head of health and disability statistics, said: fruit consumption increased by 1.4 per cent, driven mainly by oranges, kiwifruit and grapes, while vegetable consumption fell by 1.7 per cent.

The increase was equivalent to around 2-grams more fruit per person per day, partly reversing declines seen in recent years.

"Australians purchased around 181 grams of vegetables per person per day in 2024-25, down from 184 grams the previous year and the lowest level recorded in the seven-year series," Ms Watkinson said.

The largest falls were for avocado (down 12 pc), pumpkin (down 8pc) and peas and beans (down 7pc).

Across all food and non-alcoholic beverages sold through the retail sector, Australians purchased an estimated 15.6 million tonnes in 2024-25, up 2.2pc from the previous year.

More than three-quarters of this increase came from non-alcoholic beverages and milk products.

Bottled water consumption increased by 5pc to 148mL per person per day, while energy drinks rose by 18pc to 16mL per person per day.

Since 2018-19, consumption of energy drinks has increased by more than 80pc.

Consumption of regular breads and bread rolls fell 4.2pc over the year, while sausages and processed meats declined by 6.7pc.

Major grain states unite on phosphine deferral

GrainGrowers has welcomed the decision by all mainland grain-growing states to defer revised phosphine workplace exposure limits, giving growers and the grain supply chain time to develop practical compliance solutions.

Queensland, Victoria and Western Australia have committed to three-year deferrals until December 2029, while New South Wales and South Australia have committed to 18-month deferrals until July 2028.

The outcome follows coordinated advocacy by GrainGrowers and state farming organisations, including AgForce, NSW Farmers, Victorian Farmers Federation (VFF) and Grain Producers SA (GPSA), in collaboration with bulk handlers, other grains representative groups and Grain Trade Australia (GTA).

GrainGrowers Chair Rhys Turton said the decisions recognised that more work was needed before the revised limits could be practically implemented.

"Worker safety is the industry's absolute priority, but the revised workplace exposure limit would have seen many farmers unable to use this critical fumigant effectively and without any alternatives, it could jeopardise grain quality and market access."

Looking back 30 years of McDonalds

Proprietor Peter Lewsam holds the celebratory cake for deputy mayor and chairman of the Wellington Business Enterprise Centre Mark Griggs to officially cut after the mayor, Campbell Gregory opened the restaurant.

Shani and Peter Lewsam are congratulated and wished a successful business venture by Wellington Mayor Campbell Gregory after he officially opened the new family restaurant in town.

A Wellington legend in his own time, the late Jim Harris was invited to be the first customer of the McDonalds family restaurant.

Fluoride for three Cabonne towns

CABONNE COUNCIL residents in Molong, Cumnock and Yeoval will have fluoride added to their potable water supplies.

Fluoridation will commence on Monday, November 30, marking the completion of a significant project to improve drinking water quality and public health outcomes across the three communities.

The fluoridation system has been designed and constructed in accordance with the NSW Code of Practice for Fluoridation of Public Water Supplies and incorporates multiple safety measures to ensure fluoride levels remain within strict regulatory limits.

Fluoride levels are continuously monitored throughout the treatment process, with automatic safeguards in place to prevent over-fluoridated water from entering the drinking water supply.

Testing undertaken in 2025 showed naturally occurring fluoride levels in the water supply of approximately 0.05 mg/L, well below the level recommended to support dental health.

The new system will target a fluoride concentration of 1.0 mg/L, a level recognised by health authorities as safe and effective in reducing tooth decay and improving oral health outcomes across the community.

Residents who currently take fluoride tablets or supplements are encouraged to seek advice from their dentist, oral health professional or medical practitioner before fluoridation commences.

Fluoride supplements are generally prescribed in areas where drinking water is not fluoridated, and individual advice may be required once the fluoridation program begins.

Council can also confirm that the Cumnock and Yeoval water supplies have now been officially declared potable, meaning the water meets Australian Drinking Water Guidelines and is safe for drinking, cooking and everyday household use.

The declaration follows several years of water quality improvements and monitoring, including the disinfection of reservoirs and water mains, routine microbiological testing, additional chlorination capability at local reservoirs and the installation of Dual Check Valves throughout both communities to protect the integrity of the water network.

Extensive physical, chemical and microbiological testing undertaken since 2021 has consistently demonstrated compliance with the Australian Drinking Water Guidelines, providing confidence in the safety and quality of the water supply.

These milestones represent the culmination of significant investment in critical water infrastructure and ongoing collaboration with NSW Health and Department of Climate Change, Energy, the Environment and Water (DCCEEW).

Council thanks residents for their patience and support throughout the project and looks forward to delivering the long-term benefits of safe, reliable and high-quality drinking water to Molong, Cumnock and Yeoval.

Rotary's extra funds for Maranatha

IN ADDITION to Wellington Rotary Club's recent $12,000 donation to Maranatha House raised from the September Father's Day Sheep Dash races, an additional donation of $5000 was given to the Wellington High School's Wellbeing Hub, and $1000 to Wellington PCYC recognising the valuable support both organisations provide to local young people.

Rotary's Immediate Past President, Beth Hattenfels, also presented a further $1000 to Maranatha House's Lifestyle Department, fulfilling a commitment made through her President's Pledges during her term as Club President.

This separate contribution will help enhance residents' quality of life through social activities, outings and other enriching experiences.

Dementia causes more than 1 in 10 deaths

DEMENTIA, INCLUDING Alzheimer's disease, accounted for just over 10 per cent (19,019) of all deaths in 2025, according to data released by the Australian Bureau of Statistics (ABS).

Lauren Moran, ABS head of mortality statistics, said deaths due to dementia increased after becoming the leading cause of death in Australia in recent years.

"This is the first time that dementia has accounted for more than 10 per cent of all deaths in Australia and is almost double its share in 2006, when dementia was the fourth leading cause of death at 5 per cent of all deaths."

The other leading causes of death in 2025 were: ischaemic heart diseases, cerebrovascular diseases, lung cancer and chronic respiratory diseases.

For females, there were almost twice as many deaths from dementia (11,628) as from ischaemic heart diseases, the second leading cause of death for women (5965 deaths).

Dementia deaths have been the leading cause of death for females for a decade, since 2016. In 2025, 61.1pc of all deaths from dementia were in females.

Mortality rates return to long-term trends

Mortality rates declined overall in 2025, with Australia's mortality patterns now back around their long-term pre-pandemic trajectory.

The age-standardised death rate for males fell to a record low of 581.3 deaths per 100,000 people in 2025.

The death rate for females was the second lowest on record, with 418.4 deaths per 100,000 people.

"With an ageing population, we expect the number of deaths to increase over time, even as death rates decline relative to population size," Ms Moran said.

"The COVID-19 pandemic temporarily disrupted that pattern, but these rates indicate that Australia's mortality patterns are returning to the long-term trend of declining death rates."

Drug-induced deaths continue to increase

Drug-induced deaths remained a public health issue in 2025, rising to 2063 deaths from 2007 deaths in 2024.

"The mortality rate for drug-induced deaths was 7.4 deaths per 100,000 people in 2025, and the median age at death was 48.2 years," Ms Moran said.

"When this mortality rate previously peaked in 1999, the median age at death was 33.8 years.

"While opioids and benzodiazepines continue to be the most common drug classes involved in these deaths, there has been substantial growth in deaths involving stimulants, including methamphetamine."

There were 779 drug-induced deaths involving stimulants in 2025, compared with 504 deaths in 2021.

Suicide remains leading cause of premature death

Suicide remained the leading cause of premature death for both males and females in 2025.

There were 3283 deaths due to suicide, equivalent to 11.9 deaths per 100,000 people.

Men accounted for almost three-quarters of these deaths.

People who died by suicide had a median age of 45.0 years.

GAS Export Tax Fail

THE MAJOR parties' refusal to support a 25 per cent tax on gas exports is costing Australia a staggering $17 billion a year - that's $2 million an hour, and $577 a second!

While overseas countries make more out of our gas than we do, it is an outrage that Australians aren't getting a fair return on the resources we all own.

Why hasn't this tax been imposed yet?

Follow the money.

The major political parties' major donors are big gas companies just buying influence, and that's the cold, hard truth of it.

This is an issue of national interest versus vested interests.

Imagine how many Great Western Highways we could build with $79 to $80 billion?

How many: Tunnels, bridges and expressways; local hospitals; local schools; Business support packages for those smashed by Great Western Highway closure.

What about just some cost-of-living relief?

It's time for the major parties to come to their senses, drop their obstruction, and support a 25pc gas export tax.

Let's get our fair share!

Flawed Gun Buyback begins

The NSW state and federal gun buyback scheme is now underway, and it is an absolute insult to law-abiding gun owners across our region and the state.

Taxpayers are being slugged a billion dollars for this scheme, while law-abiding gun owners are only being paid cents on the dollar.

Meanwhile, every other state and territory knows how bad and flawed this scheme is and don't want to touch it with a barge pole - leaving the ACT as the only other place signing up for it.

Every other day we hear about another drive by in Sydney. The streets are awash with illegal guns. Go after them!

Law abiding citizens are being made scapegoats to divert from the glaring government failures around the horrific Bondi attacks.

The scheme runs for 12 months.

My advice?

Don't hand in your guns just yet.

There's a state election coming up in March, and a pretty strong political message could be sent!

AS SUMMER approaches in Australia, we start dreaming of long afternoons outdoors, backyard cricket, weekend sport and, of course, the legendary Aussie barbecue.

Unfortunately, there is always one uninvited guest who seems determined to ruin the party. The mosquito.

But mosquitoes are more than an irritating summer nuisance. They are humanity's deadliest animal.

According to the World Health Organization, malaria alone causes more than 600,000 deaths annually. Add other mosquito-borne diseases such as dengue and yellow fever, and these tiny insects have a body count that makes sharks, snakes and crocodiles look positively friendly.

We have tried everything to keep mosquitoes away. Sprays, coils, candles, electronic zappers and even inviting that one friend who attracts mosquitoes like a celebrity attracts paparazzi.

But a new invention from China promises something different. Mosquito control with a little entertainment thrown in.

Perhaps someone watched too many Star Wars movies or spent too long admiring a laser light show, but Chinese researchers have developed a system that uses artificial intelligence and lasers to shoot mosquitoes out of the sky.

The company behind the invention, Photon Matrix, has created a device about the size of a brick that identifies mosquitoes in flight, tracks their movements and fires a powerful laser to disable them.

The secret is technology borrowed from self-driving cars. Known as lidar, it sends out 100,000 tiny laser pulses every second to detect moving objects.

Think of it as an incredibly sophisticated radar gun, except instead of catching speeding motorists, it is hunting insects smaller than a pea. When a mosquito crosses its detection zone, artificial intelligence determines whether it is safe to fire. If everything checks out, a laser burst lasting just one-hundredth of a second burns away the insect's wings. No wings. No buzzing. No more mosquito landing on your ankle.

There is, however, a serious catch.

The device uses a Class 4 laser, powerful enough to cause permanent eye damage in less than a second.

Suddenly, that backyard barbecue sounds more like a scene from a science fiction action movie. To reduce the danger, the system uses cameras to recognise people and pets, sensors to detect movement and software to identify reflective surfaces that could redirect the beam.

Buyers must even pass a 15-question safety examination before activating the device using their fingerprint.

Despite these precautions, the technology still faces regulatory hurdles, and its safety outside controlled demonstrations remains an important question.

At approximately $1000, this is hardly an impulse purchase alongside the snags and bread rolls. Nevertheless, the company reports thousands of prepaid orders and plans for mass production. But the bigger story is not really about mosquitoes.

We are watching artificial intelligence move beyond answering questions and generating some funny pictures into machines that actively observe and interact with the physical world.

Imagine similar technology protecting crops from destructive insects without widespread chemical spraying. Or monitoring disease-carrying mosquitoes around hospitals and communities.

The environmental benefits could be enormous, provided these systems can reliably distinguish harmful pests from beneficial insects. There is also a military dimension. A machine capable of identifying, tracking and targeting tiny moving objects could eventually inspire systems designed to intercept small drones.

Of course, giving autonomous machines the ability to select and destroy targets raises some uncomfortable questions about safety, accountability and human control.

For now, I suspect most Australians would simply appreciate enjoying a summer barbecue without becoming the main course.

And if the future involves a miniature Death Star defending my backyard against mosquitoes, I only have one request.

Make sure it knows the difference between a mosquito and my neighbour's drone.

DUBBO REGIONAL COUNCIL

EXPRESSIONS OF INTEREST FOR WELLINGTON AUSTRALIA DAY 2027 AWARD DELIBERATION COMMITTEE

Dubbo Regional Council is seeking expressions of interest from community members to join the Wellington Australia Day 2027 Award Deliberation Committee. Committee members will help assess nominations across the eight award categories and determine the 2027 Wellington Australia Day Award recipients.

The Australia Day Awards provide an opportunity to recognise individuals who generously volunteer their time and make a positive contribution to the Wellington community.

Committee members will be required to attend a meeting in January 2027 to assist with the deliberation of Australia Day Award nominations.

The EOI period will close on Monday 23 November 2026.

For more information and to complete the EOI form head to www.dubbo.nsw.gov.au/ausday

Successful applicants will be advised shortly after the EOI period closes and will need to be available for the deliberation meetings to be held on:

Wednesday 13 January 2027, 4.30pm
Wellington Administration Building

The Australia Day 2027 Civic Ceremony will be held in the Wellington Civic Centre on the morning of Tuesday 26 January 2027.

Tourism Wins

AN INCREDIBLE seven tourism operators in the Dubbo electorate were named as finalists for Monday night's 2026 NSW Tourism Awards, and four of those finalists have come away with honours from the night.
Congratulations to:
* Old Dubbo Gaol – Dubbo Regional Council: Gold in Cultural Tourism & Silver in Tourist Attractions
* Mudgee Ale Trail: Bronze in Tour & Transport Operators
* Sierra Escape: Gold in Unique Accommodation
* Mudgee Visitor Information Centre: Gold in Visitor Information Services

But that's not all - having taken out the Gold in the same category for three years in a row, Sierra Escape has officially been inducted into the NSW Tourism Awards Hall of Fame, a milestone that reflects consistent excellence, innovation, and growth. Reaching this standard across three award cycles is an exceptional achievement and places these winners as leaders in the industry.

Dubbo's Steve Hinks has also been recognised with the Outstanding Contribution by an Individual Award, recognising the outstanding contribution by an individual who goes over and above their own commercial focus to contribute to the broader NSW tourism industry

From BridgeClimb Sydney to leading landmark developments at Taronga Western Plains Zoo, including the Taronga Wildlife Hospital, Platypus Rescue HQ and the upcoming Serengeti Resort, Steve has spent more than 25 years championing regional NSW as a world-class destination and he is highly deserving of this recognition.

Congratulations once again to all of the finalists from the Dubbo electorate, and a massive GOOD LUCK to our Gold winners who now go on to represent our region at the Australian Tourism Awards in February.

Kayleb can't wait to be King

I've said it once, and I'll say it again, Dubbo's Kayleb Alese is a superstar in the making!

After 19 months touring as both Little Marlon and then Little Michael in MJ: The Musical, Kayleb has landed another dream role, this time as Young Simba in the world-renowned musical, Disney's The Lion King.

The musical is currently playing at Sydney's Capitol Theatre and will move to Brisbane later this month.

How good is that? Congratulations Kayleb!

Firearm Review

A bill has been introduced in the NSW Legislative Council to repeal Labor's bad firearms laws and it has been sent to a Parliamentary committee for inquiry.

If you're impacted by the changes to firearms legislation, have your say through a written submission or consider attending a public hearing.

A public hearing is scheduled to take place in Dubbo on Tuesday, 1 December, with location to be announced at a later date.

Submissions close Monday, 1 February 2027. To lodge a submission, or check details of upcoming public hearings, visit: parliament.nsw.gov.au/parliamentary-business/committees/inquiry-details?committeeInquiryId=3216&fbclid=IwY2xjawVNB2xleHR

Old team-mates back in the industry they love - butchering

THREE MONTHS back into butchering and there's a bit of déjà vu at Wok's Central Butchery in Lee Street.

Tony Cook (Cookie) has taken up the butcher's knife again and has joined Wok at the same shop where they both started their apprenticeships – with Colin Bryant when it was Bryant's Butchery.

That was 30-years ago and now they have joined forces and working towards preparing specials everyone will like.

Yes, it's all systems go looking towards Christmas, and Wok advises to get those Christmas ham and seafood orders in early.

'We'll have ham and seafood specials right up to Christmas," Wok said.

You can also check the Wok's Central Butchery specials on facebook.

"We have a variety of different flavoured sausages, also chicken and bacon wraps, and my favourite, Chicken Kiev.

"We have something different each week to mix up the taste buds."

Wok said he always wanted to get back into the butchery industry, and now he owns the very shop he started at in 1987 to finish his apprenticeship.

"I always missed this industry and always enjoyed the chat," he said.

"Now, the customers I used to serve back then are a bit older, but still have a yarn, and what's even nicer, their children and grand-children are shopping here.

"It's just fantastic."

Over the decades between, Wok has worked for both Wellington and the merged regional council, plus other jobs in between, and for the past 15 years has conducted Wok's Spit Roasts.

But now it's all systems go leading up to Christmas. He can supply everything one needs for a weekend barbecue, or that special roast for a family get-together.

Call in and discuss your requirements, and the boys will be only too happy to help out.

The Central Butchery will be open right up to Christmas Eve, but will be closed Christmas Day, Boxing Day and the Christmas Day holiday.

"So, we'll be closed on those four days, then open again on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, (December 29 to 31) and closed Friday (New Years Day), Saturday and Sunday, and open again from Monday, January 4."

Three years at Geurie Gallery and attracting more and more visitors

CELEBRATING THREE years in her gallery on the Mitchell Highway at Geurie, artist of distinction with a natural flare for colour and design, Jacinta Haycock is as busy as ever.

This year her festive mood has been towards Christmas Wreaths – 'Deck the halls' but add a bright Christmas Wreath. There's many hanging in her front window.

However, if you are looking for gifts, there's plenty of unique items inside.

Workshops on weekends.

Jacinta has introduced artistic weekend workshops where people can learn her art style.

"People can come and paint vases, lampshades, and I've just introduced a 'Paint with Me" floral vase so they can sit down and step-by-step do a little A4 painting," she said.

But you need to contact her direct to make a date.

"I just take two to four people in each two-day session, which are run on Saturday and Sunday when I'm open and we work in a room adjacent to the gallery.

"And they create beautiful things."

One lady from Wellington has returned four times and she brings a group along every time.

"She had done three vases and a lampshade and uses them for gifting," Jacinta said.

"People come and have a nice weekend, stay overnight at a nearby B&B, motel or hotel, or somewhere, and each morning they get a coffee and snack at The Lemon Tree next door, then maybe a counter lunch at the pub also next door.

"It's all good for Geurie."

She said she loves the moments.

"People are hesitant at first, but over time their artistic flare emerges and they go home with something of personal value which they can keep, or share by gifting.

"It's quite an experience."

Jacinta said it's lovely having the coffee shop open next door again,

"It's nice that we do the same hours."

She said social media was not her great thing.

"I'm old school – I like to have a chat and I feel that opens people up a bit and before we know it we have mutual friends, or enjoy different towns – it's marvelous where conversations can go. Pure connection – face to face, and I just love to chat."

The Yennora wool selling centre is closing at the end of 2026, marking the end of Sydney's era as the central hub of the northern wool market. Due to skyrocketing commercial land values and rent in Western Sydney - partly accelerated by the development of the new western Sydney Airport - the industry is decentralising and relocating its operation starting in January 2027. The core of the northern wool sales will officially relocate to Goulburn. Major brokers like Nutrien, Australian Wool Network and Yennora wool brokers have committed to keeping the northern market intact by transitioning their sales to Goulburn. However, Elders plan to pull NSW wool down to Melbourne and discontinue selling WA clip from July 2027 and sell it in Melbourne. Elders will have a network of 14 district wool managers and six wool receival depots across the state. I personally don't think Goulburn is the right city. I would give my number one vote to Penrith, linked by rail to Port Botany then Newcastle or Wollongong both port cities.

Is this the turning point?

With only 25,000 bales on offer this week the wool market still struggled to hold its ground and gave up 25 cents to dip just below an EMI of 1700 cents. Likewise in US currency the market slipped just below the 1200 cent level offering bargains for processors with the supply shortage looming by the day. The most recent AWTA test data is showing a continued declining production base with year on year figures for October down a massive 22.6% or year to date July to October down 9.1% or roughly 45,500 bales! Last week was the fourth consecutive week that the market has eased from its level of 1820 one month ago, to sit at 1698 today. The actual offering YTD is down 67,000 bales (in just four months) but has earned an extra $93 million for wool growers. The message from the Australian industry over the past few months has been well chorused around holding the price long enough to let confidence grow, as even though wool production has fallen significantly over the last year or two it may not be halted with one good year of prices. Unfortunately, the Topmakers alone cannot maintain price increases without the downstream pipeline stepping up to the plate, which has been difficult with global trading conditions as they are. The promising news from this week was that there may be a sniff of a levelling in the wind.

On Monday this week in Dubbo we were paid a visit from a prominent Chinese Topmaker and Spinner who confirmed that stocks of greasy wool are short and they saw firsthand that our wool stores were also well below seasonal capacity. They were indicating that winter orders and Chinese uniform orders were just around the corner which should precipitate activity which we felt was apparent in yesterday's sale room with a stronger tone to end the week.

Whilst we didn't back a winner on Tuesday at either Flemington or the Reserve Bank, we feel next week's wool sale might be worth a bob each way!

WOOL Sales on Wednesday, Thursday due to Melbourne Cup. Losses were again recorded over both selling days but far less substantial than the previous week and for the most part the market appeared to be trying to find some sort of stability. NRI fell 11 cents on Wednesday and a further 13 cents on Thursday and closed the week below 1800 cents for the first time since March this year. The largest movements for the week were once again in the broader crossbred types with the 28-micron indicator dropping 7.5% to record a fortnightly loss of 16.8% or 125 cents. In a relatively small national offering just 21,618 bales were sold. The passed-in rate was half of the previous week to 13.6%. Major buyers included PJ Morris, Sequoia and Tianyu. October AWTA testing data has monthly weight of wool showing a large 22.4% decline compared to last season. This equates to an 8.9% decline in production for the first third of the season with South Australia the only state registering an increase.

Racing at Dubbo Tues, Nov 3

DUAL LICENCE holder Wendy Peel as both the jockey and trainer of Street Skater won the opening event, the 1000 metres Rondo Class 1 Handicap, on Melbourne Cup Tuesday at Dubbo.

Nyngan based Wendy Peel is steadily expanding her team and it was a good performance by Street Skater to carry the top weight and overcome a wide barrier.

Working around the field, Street Skater ($7) maintained a strong run in the straight to win by almost three lengths from Just Joan (Claire Ramsbotham, ($10) and Kiltiki (Jess Del Frari, ($10)..

Raced by media personalities Mick Wallace and Ben Walker in partnership with Bronco Lunn, the Garry Lunn trained Firestorm Boy won the 1600m Knauf Benchmark 50 Handicap.

Straight to the front under the in-form Zoe Hunt, Firestorm Boy ($7.50) lasted to win by a nose from Lagoon (Jess Del Frari, $15) which came from near last with a rails-run, while Pick-axe (Ashleigh McCabe, ($5) battled on well for third.

Following his 2200m win with Godwits on Saturday, up and coming Dubbo trainer Todd Smith won the 1200m CSF Bradford Maiden Plate with Zous Apollo.

Jumping from the outside barrier, Zous Apollo ($2.30 favourite) well ridden by Kody Nestor raced behind the leading pack and kept coming in the straight to beat Spectacular Star (Jess Del Frari, $6) and Miss Strategic (Paige Ferguson-Smith, $8) by over a length.

The winning treble at Dubbo for Kody Nestor included a double on the Kylie Kennedy, Narromine trained Calmundi and Shipshape.

A last start Forbes winner, Calmundi (Kody Nestor, $5) took the lead from Adviser and held on to win the 1200m Innova By Etex Benchmark 50 Handicap by a neck from the second place dead heaters Ms Reeves (Zoe Hunt, $2.80 favourite) and Notleanormean (Ashleigh McCabe, $8).

Trained by Kylie Kennedy for Richard Jackson, Shipshape (Kody Nestor, $3 fav) overhauled the leader Fantasy Crowned (Jess Del Frari, $3.80) to win by two lengths with Big Shot Legend (Zoe Hunt, $9) third in the 1400m Dubbo Plasterboard & Building Supplies Class 2 Handicap.

Dubbo will next race on Saturday, December 19.

Maths Success Adds Up for St Mary's

Sixteen students from St Mary's Catholic School, Wellington, recently put their problem-solving skills to the test at a mathematics competition in Mudgee, with both the Stage 4 and Stage 5 teams securing third place.

Representing Stage 3, Stage 4 and Stage 5, the students competed against other schools in a range of mathematical challenges requiring logical thinking, teamwork, creativity and perseverance.

The competition provided an opportunity to apply their classroom learning, explore new strategies and build confidence while working together to tackle challenging problems.

The third-place results were a particular highlight, reflecting the students' hard work, determination and enthusiasm for mathematics. All 16 participants embraced the experience, extending their mathematical thinking and enjoying the opportunity to represent their school.

St Mary's congratulates all participating students on their efforts and achievements.

Wellington Lions Club's Generosity Opens a New Chapter for St Mary's Readers

The Wellington Lions Club is helping to nurture a love of reading at St Mary's Catholic School, Wellington, through a generous donation of books and special book rewards for young readers.

Year 2 and Year 8 students recently visited the Wellington Lions Bookstore as part of their celebrations for winning the school's Golden Book Trophy. Alongside a casual clothes day and a special treat, students were delighted to receive an invitation from the Lions Club volunteers to each choose a book to take home in recognition of their reading achievements.

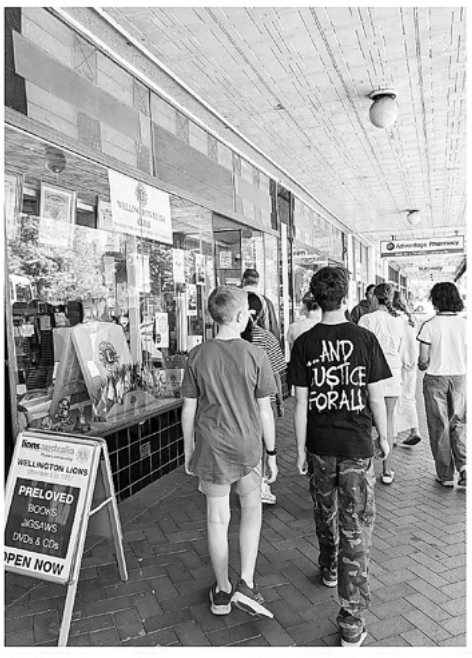

The visit gave students the opportunity to browse the shelves, discover new stories and select a book of their own to enjoy.

The Wellington Lions Club also donated more than 120 books to the school, providing even more opportunities for students to explore different authors, interests and adventures through reading.

St Mary's extends a huge heartfelt thank you to the Wellington Lions Club and its dedicated bookstore volunteers for their generosity and encouragement. Their support is helping the school celebrate reading achievements and inspire students to keep turning pages.

Young cricketers shine as Wello/Gil 14As claim victory

IT WAS another action-packed weekend of junior cricket for Wellington, with plenty of runs, wickets, determination and a few standout performances across the grades.

While the Under 12 sides found the going tough against some quality opposition, the Wellington/Gilgandra Under 14As flew the flag with a convincing victory over Rugby.

Under 14A – Jackson's half-century steals the show

The Wellington/Gilgandra Under 14A combination produced the performance of the weekend, chasing down Rugby's 115 to finish at 1/118 at Lady Cutler 3.

And it was a case of Jackson by name, Jackson by nature, with a trio of Jacksons making their presence felt!

Jackson Angell was in devastating form with the bat, belting an unbeaten 52 from just 34 deliveries, including 11 boundaries. With the ball disappearing to all corners of Lady Cutler, the Rugby fielders certainly earned their afternoon tea!

Earlier, Jackson Reid did the damage with the ball, claiming an impressive 3/17, while Jackson Towns and Braxten Towns chipped in with two wickets apiece. Acadia Burn and Jackson Angell also joined the wicket-taking party.

The combined side showed just how dangerous they can be when everything clicks, producing a terrific all-round performance.

Jax Gersbach earned the Player of the Week honours, while Jackson Angell collected the Domino's voucher for his brilliant half-century. Square Leg reckons the opposition might be checking the team sheet for Jacksons before their next encounter.

Under 12B – Redfern rips through Rugby

At Pioneer 2, Wellington's Under 12Bs put up a determined fight against Rugby Cricket Club, finishing with 81 runs in reply to Rugby's 107.

While the scoreboard didn't fall Wellington's way, there was plenty to like about the youngsters' efforts.

Frederick Redfern was the star with the ball, producing a sensational spell of 2 wickets for just 4 runs. That's the sort of bowling that has batters checking whether they've brought the right bat!

Vincent Reid led the way with the willow, top-scoring with 10 runs in a spirited batting performance.

The team continued to show plenty of improvement, with some encouraging bowling and great teamwork in the field.

Jackson Angell returns after his 52 runs from 34 balls.

Thomas Sears was rewarded with the Player of the Week award, while Noraiz Dalvi took home the Domino's voucher. The wins will come for this enthusiastic bunch if they keep putting in the effort and enjoying their cricket.

Under 12A – Young Oli steps up to the challenge

Wellington's Under 12As faced RSL Colts Red at Jubilee 2 in what proved to be a challenging outing with the bat.

The Wellington youngsters finished with 32 runs, but the scoreboard certainly didn't tell the full story of their determination and willingness to have a crack.

One of the highlights was the debut of Oliver "Oli" Tomkins, who stepped up from the Under 12Bs for his first appearance in the higher grade.

And young Oli certainly wasn't mucking around!

Facing just three deliveries, he finished unbeaten on 4 runs, making an encouraging start to life in the 12As.

His efforts earned him the Player of the Week award, and Square Leg suspects we'll be hearing plenty more about this young cricketer in the seasons ahead.

Meanwhile, Emmelyn Grant showed terrific leadership, taking on the captaincy duties and stepping up to open the batting.

Her willingness to lead from the front earned her the Domino's voucher for the week.

Despite the tough day, the 12As kept their heads up and continued to show the spirit that makes junior cricket so rewarding.

From the Boundary rope

There were plenty of positives to take away from another weekend of Wellington junior cricket.

From Jackson Angell's boundary-filled half-century to Frederick Redfern's miserly bowling figures, and young Oliver Tomkins making the jump into the 12As, the future of Wellington cricket continues to look bright.

A special thank you goes to our sponsors for their ongoing support of junior cricket and the weekly player awards.

And to all the coaches, parents, scorers and volunteers who make it happen each weekend, your efforts certainly don't go unnoticed.

As Square Leg always says, the scoreboard might tell you who won the game, but it never tells the whole story!

Until next week, keep your eye on the ball, your bat straight and your catches off the grass!

Yeoval Golf News

THE MEMBERS of the Yeoval Golf Club would like to extend their sincere sympathies to the extended Wykes family for the recent loss of Bruce.

Bruce Wykes was a long-time stalwart of the golf club and greatly respected in the community.

The first round of the Belmore Summer Competition was played last weekend with the winner being Dan Cusack with 37 stableford points, second was Dave Drake with 36 points.

Saturday, November 14 is the first round of the popular Yeoval Two-Person Ambrose, the first of four rounds played in November, December, January and February.

Players do not have to compete in all four rounds to win any of the generous end of season prizes.

On Saturday there are great prizes on offer for nearest the pin 2nd shot on the second hole, tee shot on the third hole and nearest in three shots on the 9th hole plus longest drive contests on the 4th hole.

Green fees are just $15 for adults for some great prizes on the day.

Social players and juniors are welcome to attend as there is a separate competition for those without a Golf Australia handicap. Tee opens 12 noon.

Records continue breaking in pool

WELLINGTON AMATEUR Swimming Club is celebrating another fantastic achievement with young swimmer Lakyn Dowton (pictured at right) setting a new club record in the 13 years 33m Backstroke.

It was only last week when Imogen Jones broke the 12-years 33m Butterfly by nearly three seconds.

Lakyn broke the previous record of 22.90 second set by Nicholas Cosier back in 2004 and has stood for an incredible 22 years, by 2.1 seconds, making Lakyn's achievement even more special.

Lakyn's swim was timed at 20.80 seconds.

It was an outstanding swim and a proud moment for Lakyn, his family and the entire Wellington Amateur Swimming Club community.

The club congratulates Lakyn, on his fantastic achievement and for writing his name into the WASC record books.
