Lest we forget

WELLINGTON AND surrounding villages stepped out in force at last Saturday’s Anzac Day remembrance ceremonies showing their respect and gratitude for those who served and those who sacrificed their lives in wars for our nation’s freedom.

The 111th anniversary of the Anzacs landing at Gallipoli and the many international conflicts Australia has been involved in since has obviously increased our gratitude certainly increased people’s interest in showing their support of this most important day in the Australian calendar.

It was reported by many that upwards of 600 people attended Wellington’s dawn service – people explained they had to park their cars blocks away, the biggest reported turnout in many decades.

And many returned to join the 500-plus crowd who marched, then sat in the autumn sun or found solace under shady trees at the 11am Anzac Day service at Wellington Cenotaph.

For the second year, and first time at dawn service, members of B Company 1/19 Battalion Royal NSW Regiment formed a catafalque guard on the four points of the Cenotaph giving extra momentum to the ceremonies.

The evening before, the same troop performed with Wellington Redbacks Rugby Union Club an Anzac tribute prior to the night games at Rygate Park.

Large crowds were also reported attending ceremonies at Geurie, Yeoval, Mumbil, Stuart Town and Gollan.

ANZAC DAY across the region

THERE WERE a number of ANZAC Day ceremonies held on Saturday in communities right across the Dubbo Regional Council area.

These were complimented by all the other ceremonies held in schools, retirement villages and nursing homes in the lead-up to the day.

The number of attendees continues to grow each year as the community turns out to remember the 'Fallen' from all wars, and to thank our Ex-Servicemen and women.

Council staff worked hard to ensure that the various memorials looked a million dollars on the day.

How The Draft Council Budget Works – Have YourSay

All Councils in NSW are required to operate under the provisions of the Local Government Act, 1993 and the Integrated Planning and Reporting (IP&R) Framework to guide short, medium and long-term planning for the community.

The IP&R Framework is based on comprehensive community engagement and aims to create a clear vision for the future.

The Framework also provides a roadmap for delivering community priorities in a sustainable manner.

The IP&R Framework consists of the following documents:

• Community Strategic Plan (CSP)

The highest level of strategic planning undertaken by Council. All other plans must support achievement of the objectives included in the CSP.

• Resourcing Strategy

Identifies, in general terms, how Council will allocate resources to deliver the CSP objectives that it is responsible for.

• Delivery Program

A four-year plan that details the principal activities Council will undertake in its term to implement the strategies established by the CSP.

• Operational Plan

Prepared as a sub-plan of the Delivery Program and details the activities and projects Council will undertake during the financial year to address the principal activities outlined in the Delivery Program.

Council publishes its four-year Delivery Program and annual Operational Plan as a combined document.

Financial sustainability is a key challenge facing Council due to several factors including increased demand for services beyond those traditionally provided (particularly in the area of community services), cost shifting from other levels of government, ageing infrastructure, constraints on increasing revenue and risk of reliance on external funding sources.

To respond effectively to these challenges, Council has taken a holistic approach to maximise integration between strategic planning and the creation of community expectations that are deliverable.

The opportunity to have your say on the draft 2026/2027 Budget, Delivery Program and Operational Plan will start from Monday, May 4. Submissions close 9am, Monday, June 1 2026.

Visit <https://yoursay.dubbo.nsw.gov.au> and join for notifications and any updates during the consultation period.

Fire training centre open day at Falls Road Anzac Day at Mumbil

WELLINGTON Fire Training Centre at 47 Falls Road will be the venue for Wellington Fire Station's open day from 10am till 2pm on Saturday, May 9.

The Wellington Furies will be throwing its doors open to the public with important safety advice for adults and fun opportunities for the kids.

The local Furies will be showcasing their wonderful fire trucks, modern equipment and highly trained firefighters.

As well, there will be a range of free activities and fun for all, including firefighting demonstrations and safety presentations.

The public is encouraged to engage team members with questions about home fire safety, smoke alarms and the risks relating to lithium-ion batteries.

FRNSW Wellington Captain Mark Moroney said Open Day would be a terrific opportunity for our firefighters to interact with the community we serve.

"Come along for an exciting day out, get a close up look at our fire trucks, learn how we operate and ask us about safety advice or even how to join," Mr Maroney said.

"We are happy to provide advice about how to make your home safe from fire and how to prevent a lithium-ion battery from overheating.

"Lithium-ion batteries aren't just found in e-bikes, they're used to power almost everything portable from an electric toothbrush to a stick vacuum cleaner.

"We can discuss the best safeguards to avoid a kitchen fire or help you create a home fire escape plan.

"We can even book in a free safety visit to your home and provide advice in person.

"Come along on May 9, we would love to see you."

Man and teen charged after armed robbery

A MAN and a teenager have been charged following an alleged armed robbery in Wellington last Thursday. Officers attached to Orana Mid-Western Police District were called to a shopping complex on Percy Street following reports of an armed robbery.

On arrival, police were told shortly after 7.15pm, a 47-year-old man was walking on Percy Street when he was allegedly threatened with a knife by an unknown man and teenage boy before they robbed him of his bag that contained personal items.

The man and the boy ran from the scene before police arrived.

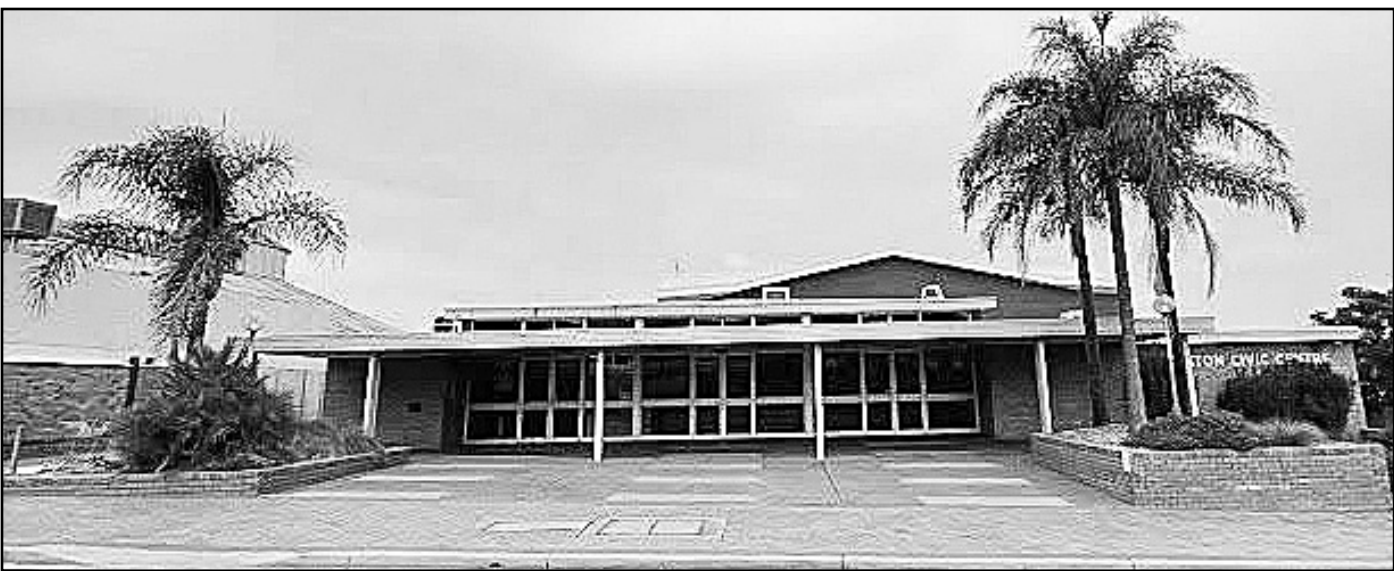

The 47-year-old man was uninjured.

Following inquiries, detectives arrested a 37-year-old man and a 14-year-old boy on Reid Street.

Both were charged with robbery armed with offensive weapon.

The boy was refused bail to appear a Children's Bail Division Court on Saturday, where he was given conditional bail to appear at a Children's Court on Monday, May 18.

However, the man was refused bail and appeared at Bail Division Court 4 on Saturday, where he was again refused bail to appear at Dubbo Local Court on Monday, May 7.

Priced out of Civic Centre hire

“Council demands $1811 a day just to turn the lights on”

A NOTICE of Motion will be lodged at the May Ordinary meeting of Council by Cllr Adam Ryan for the lowering of hiring fees for Wellington Civic Centre.

The motion follows debate via facebook brought on by local resident Scott Wilkinson who stated it was time to turn the lights back on at Wellington Civic Centre, referring to the building as ‘Wellington’s $1800-a-day White Elephant’.

Our Civic Centre is locked up and gathering dust because Council expects our local groups to pay $1811 a day just to turn the lights on,” Mr Wilkinson said.

“We are being priced out of our own hall.”

He said he would attend the May 26 council meeting to speak in support of Cllr Adam Ryan’s notice of motion to ‘slash these ridiculous fees’.

“If your community group, charity, or event has been priced out of this venue, I need a formal Letter of Support from you,” he asked.

“I want to walk in and hand the General Manager a stack of letters proving exactly how much damage this is doing to postcode 2820.”

Already in response community groups have or are preparing letters of support.

A co-organiser of a recent Mental Health and Suicide Prevention Forum in Wellington, Marsha Gay replied saying “we tried to access the Civic Centre to host the event but was unable to as they had no staff to open the venue.

“We were willing to even pay to full cost to utilise the facility and was told to use a different date.

“We found an alternative for our event but when we asked again for another date we were once again advised by council we were unable to use the facility.

“However, what upsets me is seeing that the venue was used for a Council event after we had asked to hire the venue. We all know in our community the problems we are having in a daily basis around Mental Health and we as community members need to come together but when council puts up barriers for things like this to utilise the best venue that is easily accessed for everyone makes it hard and difficult to work together.”

In her letter to councillors, Pip Smith said for the decades she had volunteered – “I have seen first-hand both the incredible value of the Civic Centre to our community and the increasing challenges associated with hiring the facility.”

Mrs Smith said she had been a volunteer of 16 years for the Wellington Eisteddfod which had been running entirely by volunteers for 48 years.

“It is the largest annual event held in our town, attracting more than 2500 people each year, including competitors, families, visitors and supporters.

“As a not-for-profit organisation, every dollar we raise through entry fees goes directly back into running the event, with a significant portion of those funds returning to Council through venue hire and associated costs.”

“There are many community events - including local school events - that were once held at the Civic Centre but have since moved to alternative venues due to the cost of hire.

“The Civic Centre is increasingly becoming the last option considered, rather than the first, unless the event is funded by government or external bodies.”

Editor’s note:

Council’s annual budgeting season has commenced and you can bet London to a Brick the motion will pass, but placed on the budget agenda where it will possibly get lost in the lengthy procedure.

These are not the only people complaining.

We’ve heard complaints from Wellington Amateur Theatrical Society (WATS) for many years.

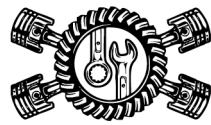

The town hears plenty of complaints as each annual or special event is organised with the Civic Centre in mind.

Council’s business-like determination tends to forget why a council was established however, like the previous Wellington Shire Council, it could look to at least recover expenses and donate a portion of the hire fee back to the non-for-profit hirer.

Mother’s Day in Wellington

SUNDAY, MAY 10, the second Sunday of May is traditionally Mother’s Day in Australia, and no different in the Wellington region.

It’s the one day of the year when sons, daughters, and husbands or partners thank their mothers for the love and protection given over the years as well as their influence within society.

While white chrysanthemums are the traditional Mother’s Day flower in Australia, families also celebrate with gifts or special treats.

Keirle’s Pharmacy has gathered a large range of special gifts available within just for Mother’s Day. Check the range when next in the store this week – the girls will even gift-wrap your purchase on the spot.

Every woman loves a visit to the hairdresser, and Simone McManus has some great hair ideas as well as a Mother’s Day gift box filled with goodies that will please.

Surprise mum with an appointment at Styled by Sim in Swift Street this or next week.

Friday, May 8 is also a special day for mother.

It’s the annual Mother’s Day raffle at the Wellington Soldiers Memorial Club, which has a wide array of indulgent prizes for mum and plenty of opportunities to win..

Tickets are on sale from 6pm and the raffles begin at 7pm.

The club is also providing a special Mother’s Day luncheon at the club from midday to 2pm with a menu especially designed to please the appetite of every mum.

When remembering mum this Mother’s Day, don’t forget to also remember to shop locally.

A letter to mothers of the fallen at Gallipoli

ON THE 111th anniversary of Anzac landing at Gallipoli last Saturday, and the thousands of lives lost on both sides, Mustafa Kemal Atatürk the Turkish commander wrote after the campaign published as a salute to our fallen.

“Those heroes that shed their blood and lost their lives, You are now lying in the soil of a friendly country. Therefore rest in peace. There is no difference between the Johnnies and the Mehmets to us where they lie side by side in this country of ours. You, the mothers, who sent their sons from far away countries, wipe away your tears. Your sons are now lying in our bosom and are in peace. After having lost their lives on this land they have become our sons as well.”

Long-serving Directors retire this week

TWO LONG-SERVING directors of Wellington Soldiers Memorial Club retired from the club’s board after a combined 52 years of service. Immediate past president, Vic Howe (far right) retires after 18 years and was bestowed a club Life Membership during the club’s Annual General Meeting on Tuesday night. Terry (Tippy) Dray (second left) retires after a combined 34 years service on the club’s board and has been the Diggers Swimming Club facilitator for several decades. They are pictured with club treasurer David King and club president Robyn Edwards.

Anzac Day in the Central West

OVER THE past week I spent time on the eastern side of the electorate with communities supporting them in commemorating ANZAC Day 2026. Just before ANZAC Day I visited the Oberon RSL Sub-Branch to catch up with President Bill Wilcox and Secretary Neville Stapleton and present them with a new Aussie flag. The Sub-Branch has put in a massive effort over the last few years, and the memorial and grounds are looking absolutely fantastic. I also attended the Trunkey Creek ANZAC Day commemoration. Cheryl Gilbert and her team did an outstanding job of organising this years’ service along with Bathurst RSL Sub-Branch. It was also a privilege to join the residents and staff at Macquarie Care Centre in Bathurst for a deeply moving community ANZAC ceremony. On ANZAC day itself, I attended the Bathurst’s Dawn Service, where a huge crowd gathered for a moving service. Then it was off to Wallerawang to join the community in their ANZAC day march walking together in remembrance. In Lithgow I marched with Foti and the team from Lithgow High. Lithgow’s ANZAC Day commemoration featured a march down Main Street and a moving service at the War Memorial in Queen Elizabeth Park. On Sunday I attended the re-dedication of the expanded war memorial at Black Springs, near Oberon. Made possible with a $5000 federal grant, the Black Springs Community Association, with the support of local businesses and volunteers, has created a stunning garden and memorial precinct honouring the local men and women who’ve served and sacrificed so much for our country. Thank you to everyone who supported ANZAC Day this year. Lest We Forget ***

Boree Solar Farm update

I was in Geurie last week where I attended the proposed Boree Solar Project community drop-in session hosted by Venn Energy. It was plain to see that it’s all about the money as yet another overseas company tries to roll in over the top of locals and onto prime agricultural land. It’s all care and no responsibility as this outfit clearly intends to flip this project, make some easy money, and leave residents to pick up the pieces. The endless words, talking points and assurances about what will happen in the future mean nothing when the developer is literally going to take the money and run. I’m not against renewable energy but I know when profit and greed are being put ahead of people. ***

Merotherie Road update

Last year our communities were outraged when the NSW Government mowed down the century’s-old wildlife corridor on Merotherie Road, north of Gulgong. This led to the death and orphaning of hundreds of baby birds and the killing of other native wildlife. Our local wildlife carers were devastated. Amidst the community outrage, the federal environment Minister Murray Watt, wrote to me and told me that his department would be investigating. Infuriatingly, Minister Watt failed to inform me of the investigation findings, however, did tell the media that the investigation revealed no wrongdoing on the part of EnergyCo. This is truly outrageous. If any member of the public had mowed down hundreds of native trees in nesting season, they would have been up before the courts in a flash. But because it was the NSW Government perpetrating this atrocity, apparently no further action is to be taken. In the interest of public transparency, Mr Watt now needs to release the findings of the investigation which apparently cleared and exonerated anyone of any wrongdoing. The double standards and hypocrisy when governments investigate governments have left a lot of people, including me, very angry.

The price of a copy of the ‘Leader’ is just half the price of an espresso coffee with Mathew Dickerson, Axxis Comworld

THERE’S AN old saying: if you want people to think you’re clever, just agree with everything they say. It sounds a bit cheeky, but you see it play out all the time. Disagree with someone and suddenly you’re “a complete fool”. Agree with them and you’re insightful. Personally, I’ve always preferred a lively dinner table - friends and family tossing around different opinions, a bit of friendly debate, maybe even the occasional raised eyebrow. That’s where ideas sharpen. But in other parts of life, particularly at work, harmony often wins over debate. A business owner hires a manager to make decisions the way they would. That manager hires staff who can act without constantly asking, but still land on the “right” call - the one their boss would have made. If every decision has to climb the ladder, the ladder itself starts to look a bit pointless. What if technology could step in and replicate not just what we do, but how we think? That’s where the idea of a “digital twin” starts to get interesting. At its simplest, a digital twin is a virtual version of something real. For years, engineers have used them to model machines, buildings, even entire cities - testing how things behave without touching the real-world version. But now, thanks to artificial intelligence, that concept is shifting from machines to people. Imagine a digital version of you. Not just a chatbot with your name slapped on it, but something trained on your emails, your presentations, your decisions, even your quirks. A system that doesn’t just know what you know, but responds the way you would. That’s not science fiction anymore. People are already creating digital twins of themselves in the workplace. And once you have one, why stop there? Entire teams can have digital counterparts. Someone goes on leave - their digital twin keeps things moving. A senior staff member retires - their experience doesn’t walk out the door.

It sounds incredibly efficient. No more waiting for meetings. No more endless email threads. Just ask the digital version and get on with your day. But it also raises some very human questions. Who owns your digital twin? Is it you, because it’s based on your knowledge and personality? Or is it your employer, because it’s built from work you’ve done on their time? And if your digital twin can effectively double your output, should you be paid more? Then there’s the matter of trust. If your digital twin makes a bad decision, who’s responsible? You? The company? Or the algorithm itself? There’s also a cultural shift lurking beneath the surface. For decades, we’ve measured work in hours - turning up, putting in time, going home. But digital twins don’t sleep. They don’t take lunch breaks. They don’t mind being “consulted” at midnight. Suddenly, productivity isn’t about time at all - it’s about output. Some are calling this the rise of the “superworker” where people amplified by AI can achieve far more than they could alone. Fewer meetings, fewer interruptions, more results. It sounds appealing, especially in a world that already feels too busy. But there’s a flip side. If a digital version of you can handle much of your workload, what becomes of your role? Do you become the strategist, guiding your twin? Or do you risk being quietly replaced by a version of yourself that never gets tired? As with many technologies, the promise is enormous - but so is the uncertainty. Perhaps the real question isn’t whether we can build a digital version of ourselves. It’s whether we’re ready to work alongside it.  I am feeling generous this year! Around the electorate with our State Member Dugald Saunders

Reflecting on Anzac Day 2026

ANZAC DAY services took place across the Dubbo electorate on Saturday, April 25.

I was honoured to commemorate the day in Mudgee this year, taking a moment to reflect on the courage, sacrifice, and enduring spirit of all who have served, and those who continue to serve.

I was also pleased to again share stories of our local servicemen and women with every household in the Dubbo electorate through this year's The Spirit of ANZAC publication.

ANZAC Day is a day that holds deep significance for us all, and this was reflected in the feedback I've received from constituents right across the electorate.

From families taking the time to sit down and read it together, to the descendants of those who were featured, there were many messages of thanks for keeping the names and stories of those who have served alive. We will remember them. Lest we forget.

Grants Galore

In addition to the Community War Memorials Fund, there's plenty of grant opportunities open to organisations in the Dubbo electorate.

Venue Upgrade Grants 25/26 - Advice and Planning Round 2: Up to $20,000 for venues that demonstrate a commitment to increasing live music programming. Applications close 11am, Monday, May 4.

Community Building Partnerships 2026: Grants between $10,000 and $100,000 are available to deliver capital works to upgrade existing and/or construct new community infrastructure, or the purchase of freestanding equipment and registered vehicles to support the delivery of community services. Expressions of interest close 5pm, May 8.

Regional NSW Community Bands Program: Up to $2500 to support the work of community bands in regional NSW. Applications close 2pm, Tuesday, May 19.

Active Regional Communities – Local Priorities: Grants between $10,000 to $100,000 to expand the activities of community organisations that contribute to the wellbeing, social or economic participation of residents. Applications close 4pm, Friday, May 22.

Create NSW – Arts and Cultural Funding Program: Multiple funding streams supporting a range of artforms to foster innovation, vibrancy, creativity and sustainability within the arts sector. Applications for all streams close 2pm, Monday, May 25.

Community War Memorial Grants

ANZAC Day may be behind us for another year, but towns, cities and villages right across the country continue to commemorate the Spirit of ANZAC everyday through local war memorials.

Organisations responsible for managing and caring for these memorials in the Dubbo electorate are now invited to apply for the 2026/27 round of the Community War Memorials Fund.

Eligible organisations may apply for up to $15,000 to fund specialist conservation reports or physical works to existing war memorials in the community.

Applications close 11pm, Thursday, June

Anzac Day 2026 in Stuart Town

Photos by Helen Wykes and Jo Ivey

ANOTHER SPECIAL day of commemorative services at Stuart Town.

One hundred people gathered at the Memorial Gates at Dawn Service with guest speaker Lieutenant Colonel Ian North, a current serving member of the ADF, who reflected on the sacrifices and challenges faced by those who returned from war.

The City of Orange Brass Band attended for the hymns and music.

The 11am March and Service was well attended and heard from retired Lieutenant Colonel Annie North, attending with her husband Ian.

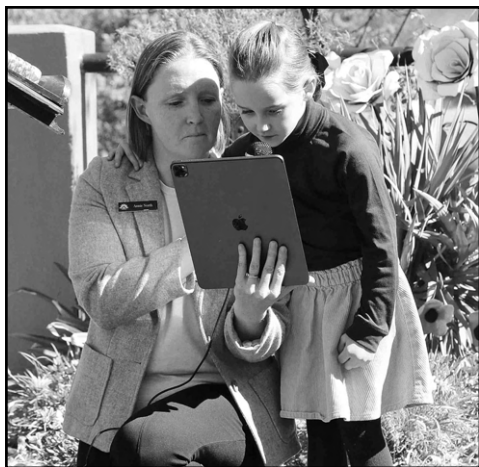

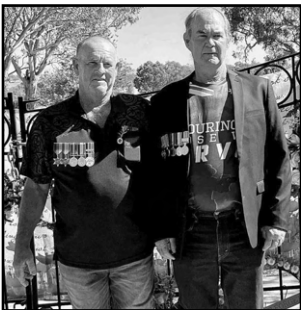

Annie is the daughter of Mick and Judi Francis (formerly of Stuart Town) and the grand-daughter of Millie Cudden.

The couple proudly marched with father, Mick and their children, Mary and Matthew.

The lone bagpiper, Duncan Clement from Millthorpe led the march.

Refreshments, Two-Up and raffles were later held at the Ironbark Inn before the sunset service at 5.45pm.

AS WE end another dry week without the storms predicted, we are heading into another dry week with tops of 27 degrees till Sunday when temperatures will drop to 23 degrees with a chance of 13mm.

I spent Anzac Day morning watching my grandson Harry and granddaughter Georgeena on the TV marching with their schools in the city - Harry on the bagpipes, Georgeena on the trumpet whilst their father is a drummer with his band.

As this dry continues croppers are planning to cut back on their plantings due mainly due to a winter rainfall forecast coupled with the high cost of inputs to grow their crop with no certainty of getting a crop.

My estimate is we will see a reduction of around 40 per cent. Plus, we need to factor grasshoppers who have reached Geurie and the almost certainty of a mice plague who are hungry and cold, also an increase in feral pigs and roos.

Stock numbers held on properties are down.

Beef cattle at June 30 2025 were 29,902 million head, mostly held in Queensland, Dairy cattle 21,000 with most in Victoria. Sheep numbers have dropped from 138.5 million in 2000/2001 to 67.3 million now.

Winter crops recover with 20pc rise in value for 2024-25

PRODUCERS SOLD 61.1 million tonnes of winter broadacre crops in 2024-25, according to the latest insights from the Australian Bureau of Statistics (ABS).

Trent Lind, ABS head of agriculture statistics, said winter crop production rose 22 per cent in 2024-25.

“This increase led to a 20pc rise in the value of winter crops sold, coming in at $22.5 billion dollars for local producers,” he said.

Mr Lind also noted that roughly 2pc of the reported increase in value reflected the addition of faba bean and field pea statistics, which are being published for the first time using the ABS’ modernised approach.

“Even with the significant growth in 2024-25, the tonnage and value of produce sold remains lower than the record highs seen in the 2022-23 financial year,” he said.

The bumper crops that year had 68.6 million tonnes sold at a local value of $26.3 billion.

While wheat, barley and canola continue to account for most winter crops sold (91pc combined), chickpeas had the largest rise with 2.0 million tonnes sold in 2024-25.

This is up from 0.5 million tonnes sold the year before.

“Local producers sold $1.7 billion worth of chickpeas in in 2024-25, up from $0.4 billion in 2023-24,” Mr Lind said.

“The huge growth for chickpea production was driven by ideal growing conditions and higher international demand following India’s temporary suspension of tariffs on the crop.”

Moree surrounds was the highest producing area for both chickpeas and wheat, also leading total grains production.

“Area specific insights for crop production, including two new crops in faba beans and fieldpeas, are now available as we continue to modernise our agricultural statistics program,” Mr Lind said.

“For example, we know Australian producers sold 733 thousand tonnes of faba beans, roughly enough to make 4.9 billion serves of curry.”

Chinese demand continues to drive the market

A MUCH smaller offering of 33,666 bales last week attracted strong widespread competition, with prices lifting from the opening lot. Melbourne was the only opening day sale, Fremantle with Sydney only had enough lots for a one-day sale on Wednesday. All parts of the market gained, with Merino fleece and skirtings leading the charge, of up to 121 cents. Northern finer crossbreds rose 77 cents setting the tone for the broader crossbred types, and cardings continued their upward run since Christmas. Improvement in the market price levels has resulted in the clearance rate for the past three weeks of less than 2.8%, further adding to outlook of smaller offerings heading towards the end of the selling season. All markets cannot rise or fall constantly, with supply and demand having the greatest influence on where price settles out. Economic sentiment and movements also have impact on those markets. What we are seeing at present is the positive out of those two, with lower supply, increased consumer demand in a strong economic situation. With that momentum unlikely to change in China anytime soon. When prices started to lift after the midyear recess last year, the demand signals were not overly strong, unlike what is being seen now. Those consumers are feeling confident in the direction the country is heading, with the conflict in Iran unlikely to weaken that robust sentiment.

Comparisons are often made between man-made fibres and wool in their pricing, with the lift in oil prices polyester has lifted over 30%, most likely giving wool some breathing space as this market improves. They do mostly go into separate products, with Merino wool being used in much more luxurious garments at the higher end of the fashion market compared to polyestes products finding their way into the more day to day use. With the ratio between wool and synthetic fibres at 7-8 to one, wool is certainly performing at the higher end of the scale. In possibly the last of the 40,000 + bale offering before the mid-year break, this week’s sale will be held over three days, with the North selling Wednesday/Thursday due to the Long weekend. Macwool and Carmichael wool offered 700 bales on second day.

Racing at Orange

TAKING AN outstanding record in to the race, the four-year-old gelding Sarrismo was a stylish winner of the $75,000 Tamburlaine Wines “Big Dance Eligibility” Orange Gold Cup (1600 metres) in front of a big crowd at Towac Park last Friday week.

From the high-profile Tom Charlton stable at Randwick, Sarrismo, prior to Orange, had won successive races at Warwick Farm and Doomben and had an overall record of four wins and four placings from eight starts.

Given a charmed run behind the leaders by Sydney jockey Andrew Adkins, Sarrismo ($2.50 favourite) broke clear in the straight and won by over two lengths from Green Run (Jacob Stiff, $12) and Tenderize (Mikayla Weir, $12).

Trained at Dubbo by Dar Lunn, Green Run has been unlucky to finish second over the past week to horses from two of the biggest city stables in NSW, the Bjorn Baker trained Perfumist in the Wellington Cup and the Tom Charlton trained Sarrismo at Orange.

Green Run and the Alison Smith, locally trained How’s It Kev were the only Central West gallopers in the Orange Cup with the veteran How’s It Kev finishing an admirable fourth in the strong field.

In the following race, the last of the Orange season, there was even louder cheering when the Alison Smith trained seven-year-old mare Brief Statement won the 1000m Complete REO Benchmark 58 Showcase Handicap.

Very well ridden by Dubbo apprentice Jacob Stiff, Brief Statement ($6) overhauled Brogans Creek (Nick Heywood, $3.90) to win by a half-length with the Peter Cornish, Orange trained Divine Conclusion (Winona Costin,$26) a close third.

Since the first start when second to War Heart at Narromine in August 2021, Brief Statement has been a popular and highly consistent galloper with the consistency evident from the early part of the career when from the first 12 starts Brief Statement had three wins and seven placings.

At the second start, Brief Statement finished third at Dubbo with the winner Democracy Manifest going on to win the G2 Ajax Stakes at Randwick and the G3 Cameron Handicap at Newcastle and over $1 million prizemoney.

Appropriately, the first win, at the third start for Brief Statement, came in September 2021 in a Maiden Handicap on the home track at Orange when ridden by Ashley Morgan and beating I’ll Tell You Miss and Toongi Bound.

Jockeys to win on Brief Statement have been Ashley Morgan, Tony Cavallo, Will Stanley (2), Jordan Quince and Jacob Stiff.

Overall, the record for Brief Statement is six wins and 18 placings from 48 starts and over $200,000 prizemoney which is a credit to trainer Alison Smith for keeping the mare racing so consistently over a lengthy career.

Other Central West winners on Cup day at Orange were the Janelle Galea, Dubbo trained Frankie’s Shout (Leeshelle Small, $2.90), the Toby Pracey, Mudgee trained Just Joan (Clayton Gallagher, $4.80) and A Boy Named Soo (Clayton Gallagher, $5) trained at Mudgee by David Smith.

Thanks to a small and hard-working committee, Orange has now completed a very successful season with racing after the traditional winter break scheduled to resume on Thursday, October 8.

Campers tell Minns to take a hike

ONE YEAR on from the state government’s outrageous attempts to hike camping fees in National Parks by up to 600 per cent, shadow minister for tourism, Kevin Anderson said the government still had not responded to the 23,000 NSW residents who told the Minns Government to take a hike as part of the consultation process.

“The Minns Labor Government is failing New South Wales families by refusing to rule out a deeply unpopular camping fee hike,” Mr Anderson said.

“Labor released a puff piece two weeks ago claiming responsibility for high visitation in National Parks, while still actively considering a proposal that would shut the gate on campers state-wide.

“The government’s camping fee hike proposal would be devastating to NSW families who spend their week-ends in the great outdoors for a holiday that doesn’t break the bank.

“Some 23,000 people said no to the government’s camping fee hike as part of the consultation process.

“That should have been a signal to draw a line through this outrageous proposal, but one year on, Labor’s done nothing.” Mr Anderson said.

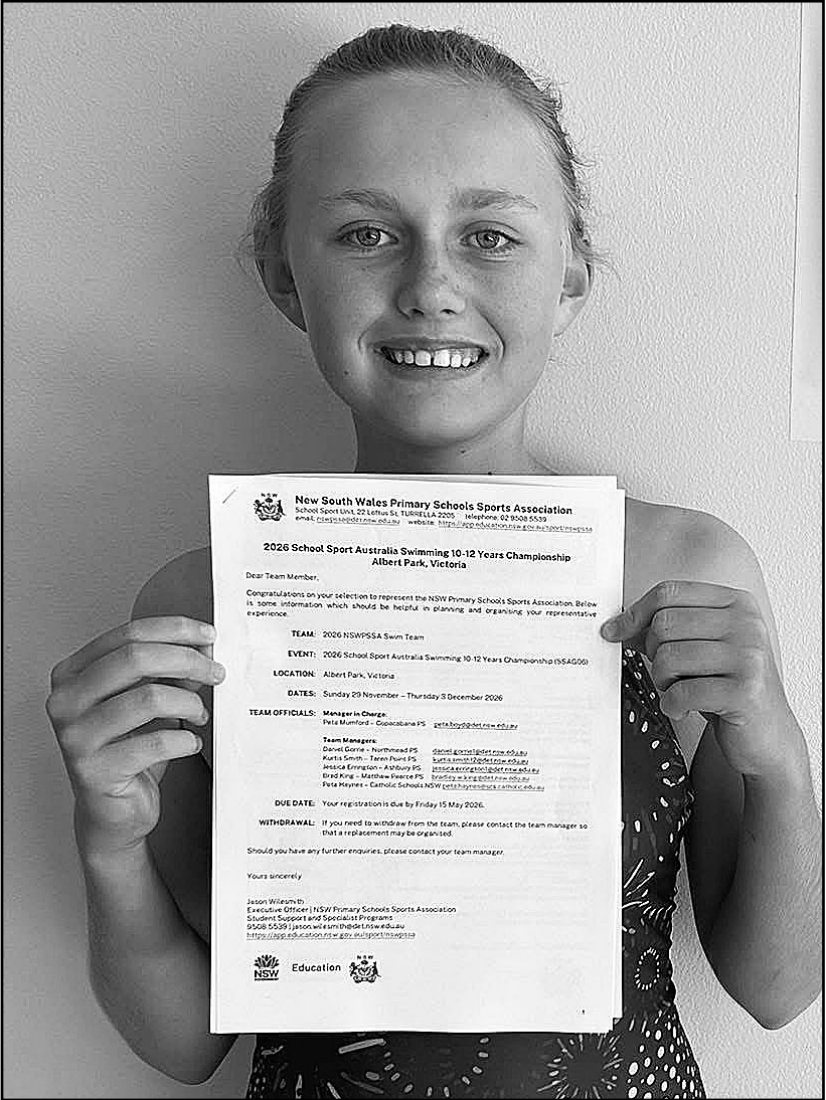

In addition to raising camping fees, the government has begun the process of privatising campsites across the state, including in the Boudi National Park and the Gardens of Stone Conservation Area.

“According to information provided by the government, so far private operators have been given no cap on the amount they can charge for these sites,” he said.

Shadow minister for the environment Jacqui Munro said being immersed in our unique environment is something that Australians value and there was overwhelming evidence that time spent in nature was good for our minds, bodies and spirits.”

“NSW National Parks offer educational opportunities and are a source of pride for Australians, yet Labor is making it harder for people to enjoy time in these beautiful places.”

Gracie’s off to Nationals

Stuart Town Public School’s Gracie Pulbrook will be competing in the 2026 School Sport Australia Swimming 10-12 years championship at Albert Park, Victoria in November-December this year after her success in the state PSSA Champions ships this week.

Cobar Postie bike riders Simone Martin and Jodie Jones are among 85 Fe Mail riders who have traversed 800km throughout the Central West raising $400,016 for Wings4Kidz.

Fe - Mail Postie bike riders spend night in town raising funds for Wings4Kidz

WELLINGTON PLAYED host for more than 80 women on the last leg of their 800km ride on “Postie Bikes”, in four days to raise funds for Wings4Kidz.

The riders dined courtesy of Wellington Soldiers Memorial Club last Thursday night, then returned on Friday morning for breakfast before heading to Dubbo Zoo to complete their tour.

The group left Orange on Tuesday, April 21, travelling via Blayney, Bathurst, Sofala, Mudgee, Ballimore, Wellington and many villages and dirt roads between finishing at Dubbo Zoo on Friday, April 24.

This was the event’s fourth year and this year funds raised should reach $1.3 million.

In the past three rides the group has raised more than $950,000 for Wings4Kidz and this ride raised another $400,016.

Of the 85 women, this year there are two riders that were once Wings4Kidz “Kidz” but have grown up to now enjoy the ride.

Also, there are seven mothers and two grand-mothers of kids who have also utilised the free flight service.

The cavalcade will travel through the towns of other families that utilise the service, with the families invited to join the participants for dinners to share their stories.

Supported by mechanics to keep the bikes going, and two doctors to keep the riders ship-shape, it is a rolling group of over 100 people.

During the past three years of the Never Late Fe-Mail Postie bike ride, through the hard work of the women on the event both in fundraising and by spreading the Wings4Kidz story, the charity has grown from just over 70 rural families being supported to now over 140 families.

Australia leads the world in providing specialist care and treatment for children with serious and life-threatening illnesses, something appreciated when it is needed.

Having a child diagnosed with a serious medical condition that may require treatment for months, or several years is traumatising for the entire family, but imagine if it also meant several hours, or days of travel just to access treatment.

This could mean days, weeks or months away from home and the support of family and friends, and having to deal with long difficult treatments in isolation away from the support of partners and family.

In addition, being faced with travel and accommodation costs of thousands per week keeping the family together on top of the very significant treatment costs that families face with a seriously ill child.

For families living in regional areas, this is their reality as they face the significant and difficult challenges to access treatment for a child that is only available in the major hospitals.

Wings4Kidz is a registered charity and aims to lessen the significant burden and effect of long distance travel for these children and families by providing a specialist free air and ground transport service, and keeping these families together during their difficult journey.

Wings4Kidz aircraft are registered for commercial operation, and pilots are carefully selected for their skills and experience to ensure the highest level of safety is provided for the precious cargo.

For a child requiring specialist treatment for heart conditions, blood disorders, cancer, congenital disorders, burns treatment or the many other conditions which can only be treated at major hospitals, Wings4Kidz is there to support them throughout their treatment journey.

Long journeys by car for several hours or days, sometimes on a weekly basis, and can take several years before the treatment is complete.

This is not only stressful for the parents, but it’s also detrimental for the children both physically and emotionally as well as detrimental to their health, and has a significant impact on the family unit.

Replacing this with a comfortable one-hour flight reduces the financial stress, is safer, less fatiguing, and something the kids really look forward to.

Wings4Kidz is very proud to be 100 per cent volunteer based, meaning every cent raised from this exciting event goes to keeping our plane on call and in the air.
